RECRUITING TAKES SLUMP

Thirty-One Men of Company E Are Awaiting to Be Examined.

BATTERY B IS IN NEED OF BUGLERS

Captain Ryan Leaves for Trip to Sub-Stations of District.

Thirty-one men who have enlisted and signed up in Company E, First regiment of Indiana infantry, are awaiting an army physician to examine them. The ranks of this Fort Wayne company are fast being completed as the time for the mobilization order is rapidly approaching.

According to a new ruling each company of infantry is to have a machine gun squad so that the number of men required for war strength is now larger than it has been.

Recruiting, however, taken as a whole has slumped greatly. It is rumored that a large number of young men are preparing to enlist Friday, the day before the conscription numbers are to be drawn in Washington.

Need Buglers. Three buglers are needed in Battery B, the second unit of artillery of this city. The officers prefer men who have had experience in blowing any kind of a wind instrument as it is said these men make the best buglers. In artillery service the position of bugler carries with it a great responsibility as many of the orders are transmitted by these men.

Inspection of Stations. Capt. Thomas F. Ryan, recruiting officer in charge of the Fort Wayne district, is making a trip around the district, stopping at the sub-stations. Enlistments are not numerous at the present time although no letup has been made in the business of recruiting. The usual number of men are being sent to Fort Thomas every day, and it is understood that the slump is not confined to this district but is being felt throughout the country.

Summary of the Day's War News

Gen. Korniloff's armies in eastern Galicia have been held up for some time by the hurrying of their front contingents of German reserves to the front, stiffening up the Austrian defense along the river Lomnica.

The holding of this river line is vital to the safety of the Teutonic position not only in this part of the front, but northward to the Italian border, and that stubborn resistance would be offered there had been anticipated. Meanwhile there is notable activity along the Franco-Belgian front. The French at Verdun have just completed an important operation in the re-arrangement of their front northwest of Verdun, which was disturbed by German attacks in the vicinity of hill 304 late last month. The French, in fact, carried their successful counter attack even beyond the original line and drove nearly two thirds of a mile into the German front from the northwest to west of hill 304. The new ground is being firmly held, several counter attacks undertaken by the crown prince's troops last night being completely repulsed.

On the British front there is pronounced aerial activity and there has been a notable amount of heavy work done by the artillery particularly along the lines in Belgium. Today's official announcement from Petrograd shows the Russians to be still hotly engaged in the Lomnica region and holding their own against the reinforced enemy. South of Kalusz the Austrians had never been forced across the Lomnica and they are continuing their violent reactions in this region. Yesterday they drove the Russians from a height to the south of Novica, but in a brilliant counter attack, Gen. Korniloff's forces defeated them and recaptured the position. Signs that the infantry battle may shortly be renewed north of the Dniester are seen in the announcement of renewed artillery fighting south of Brzezany and near Halicz.

Georgiana M. Schible, 5-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schible, died Tuesday evening at the home, on Lillian avenue. Death was caused by valvular heart trouble. The remains will be removed to the home of August Nierman, 2106 Wells street, where funeral services will be held.

FUNERAL SERVICES.

Traxler—Funeral services for Gerold Traxler will be held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at 1325 Erie street, Rev. Samuel Wagenhals officiating. Interment in Lindenwood.

LETTERS HEAP HIGH IN CLERK'S OFFICE

From East and West Come Queries About Draft Numbers.

Seventy-eight letters were heaped upon the desk of the city clerk Wednesday morning. Every missive carried a query about one or more conscription numbers. Some of the letters asked about five and six numbers. There were communications from New York city, Albany, N. Y., and Denver, Colo. There was a brief note from Birmingham, Ala. Many letters, written with nervous hands, were from Toledo, O. The letters, which asked about the new conscription numbers, did not include return postage. From the postage account of the city clerk will come the expense of answering the draft questions. It is expected that several hundred letters will be received before the week end.

Deputy Clerk Swartz is carrying on the work of finding out the numbers for those who write to the office. He was a very busy man Wednesday. There were few personal calls at the office from young men in the city on Wednesday.

WILL MAKE INSPECTION.

Council Members to Tramp Disputed Ground.

Council members will visit the disputed ground, which has been marked off for an industrial track between Montgomery and Holman streets, Sunday morning. The councilmen will meet at the city hall and proceed in a body to the east part of the city. The inspection was ordered after council members, meeting as a committee of the whole Tuesday evening, failed to reach an agreement on the subject of installing the spur track from the Pennsylvania railroad. Several citizens attended the big committee meeting and voiced opinions both for and against the proposed track.

One well-to-do property owner, who has built a home in the region to be affected, says that his peace will be ruined if the industrial track is laid behind his house. This is one of the matters to be determined by council members on Sunday.

Building Walk.

City workmen under Street Superintendent Strodel are building a sidewalk at the southwest part of the Van Buren street bridge.

On Vacation.

Mrs. Stella Breeden-Baker, clerk in the park board office, is on her vacation. She is visiting relatives in Albion.

Birth Record.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Potts, 620 Hanover street, a girl. To Mr. and Mrs. Newton Timbrook, 750 West Superior street, a boy.

DON'T BE SMART ALEC, ORDERS CHIEF LENZ

Boys Must Not Swear and Smoke in Public Parks.

Bands of small boys who have tried to appear grown-up by making much noise and smoking cheap cigarettes have ruined the peace of city parks. Police Chief Lenz has been told. In response to the complaint he has sent out the order that boys who swear and smoke in the city's open places must be brought to the police station. They will be made an example before their playfellows.

There are also complaints about boys and girls playing in the parks and on school lots until a late hour each evening. This must stop, says the chief. "Boys and girls should be home at 8:30," says Chief Lenz. "They should be tucked in bed by 9 o'clock most every night. Early to bed is good for children's health. I want the boys and girls to have liberty and fun as long as they do not try to disturb people about them."

ARGENTINE VISITORS STOP IN FORT WAYNE

South Americans Are Making Four Months' Tour of United States.

Fort Wayne was favored the early part of this week with a visit by a party of tourists from the Argentine Republic. The visitors came in Monday morning and left Tuesday evening, being registered at the Hotel Anthony during their stay here. The party of South Americans is making a tour of four months all through the United States, studying not only the scenic beauties of the country, but modes of life, customs and government as well. There were eight men in the party, which departed Tuesday night for Indianapolis.

RATE DECISION MADE.

Washington, July 18.—The interstate commerce commission today upheld existing one-way first and second-class passenger fares from points on and east of the Missouri river and elsewhere to Arizona, points.

NEW YORKER TELLS OF HIS ACQUAINTANCE WITH THE BRILLIANT KERENSKY IN JAILS OF RUSSIA

Striking Word Picture of the New Napoleon of the North from a Fellow Socialist Who Spent a Term With Him in Samara Prison.

By FREDERICK M. KERBY.

New York, July 18.—"I know Kerensky. I was his jailmate at Samara!"

These words, uttered quietly by a man sitting at a desk in the public library—a man who looked nothing at all like a revolutionist—showed me that this man had a story to tell.

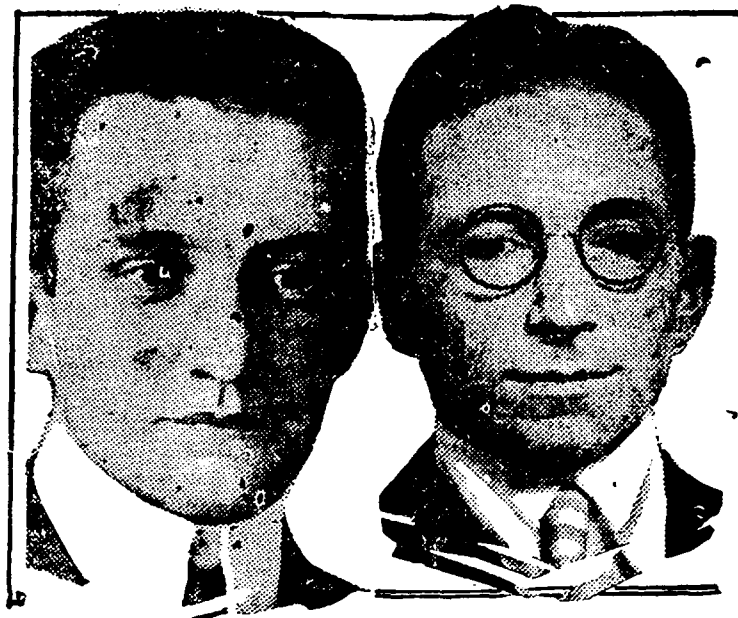

He knew Kerensky! He, Morris Kolchin, could relate from personal contact how he looked, thought, acted—Kerensky, the most dramatic figure of 1917—the new Napoleon lately risen from obscurity.

"It was in 1906 that I met Kerensky in the Samara prison," declared Kolchin in careful English. "Samara is on the Volga. It was one of the six or seven prisons I was in on my way to Siberia."

"What was the charge against you?" I asked. "There was no charge," said Kolchin in surprise. "No one was charged in those days. I was a member of the social-democratic party, anti-government. That was charge enough."

"Kerensky was a member of the social-revolutionist party. The aims are the same. Kerensky's party relied largely upon the peasants. The other party upon the industrial workers."

"I was on my way to the prison village of Narym. In the Province of Tomsk, Siberia, when I met Kerensky at Samara. His prison cell looked out on the courtyard, where we were permitted to exercise during the day. He

"He was then a young man of the student type; his youth impressed me at the time. He is blonde, of medium height—I should say about five feet seven or eight inches. He has a keen mind, and is a most able debater. He defends the cause in which he is interested with vigor and ability. I knew of his work for the 'cause' and of his arrest, but of course no charges were brought against him; he was simply imprisoned."

Kolchin told me of his escape from prison at Marym, after two unsuccessful attempts—once under a load of fish—and of how he went on with his work for the social revolution and afterwards again met Kerensky, also out of prison.

"Kerensky's name first became well known in Russia when, in 1912, he dared as a young lawyer, defend the Lena river gold mine strikers. Thus openly on the side of the workmen, it was inevitable that Kerensky should devote his life thereafter frankly to revolutionary socialism."

"When the revolution broke Kerensky was made vice president of the Council of Workmen and Soldiers' Deputies."

"In the Milukoff cabinet he was the only socialist but immediately became the most important member."

"The talk of Kerensky becoming a dictator is absurd. He believes too deeply in democracy for that."

Britain's Stroke Against Ships Running to Hamburg Well Planned.

London, July 18.—The allegation of Dutch newspapers that part of Monday's encounter between British destroyers and German merchantmen which were attempting to run the blockade at Rotterdam occurred in Dutch waters, is generally discredited. The only reports thus far received at the admiralty come from commanders of British forces in the action by wireless summaries, the substance of which was covered in yesterday's official statement.

The complete reports when received are expected to clear up the situation satisfactorily. It will be a source of great satisfaction in all the allied countries if Monday's coup succeeds in putting a halt to the traffic between the Rhine and Hamburg, which has been increasing in recent weeks, with greater boldness on the part of German captains. The British withheld their stroke until the largest flotilla thus far sent by this route was well on its way, and then dealt a quick, hard blow.

IS A TOTAL WRECK.

Ymuiden, Holland, Tuesday, July 17.—The German merchantman Magdalena Blumenthal, which went ashore off Zandvoort while attempting to run the British blockade from Rotterdam to Germany, is a total wreck. The crew, one of whose members was wounded, has been landed. The Blumenthal was one of the seventeen German merchantmen which put out from Rotterdam, most of which were either stranded, sunk or captured by British destroyers.

INJURED IN FALL.

Warsaw, Ind., July 18.—Mrs. A. N. Binkerd is confined to her bed as the result of injuries sustained in a fall Tuesday morning at her home in East Warsaw. Several years ago Mrs. Binkerd was seriously injured by a fall and had been in the hospital for months since that time. A physician was called Tuesday morning but was unable to determine the full extent of the injuries in the first examination.

THE SECOND RESERVES.

Chicago, July 18.—Official figures on the applications for training in the second series of officers' reserve camps in the central department of the army, made public last night, showed a total of 31,314 applicants, of whom 6,622 were at once rejected and 24,692 certified for examination. From this latter number will be selected the 5,796 men for training in the various camps of the department which opens August 27.

Great Britain is now manufacturing and issuing every week to her armies on the western front an amount of ammunition equal to the total stock available for her entire land service at the outbreak of war.

In the desert stretch between El Centro and Yuma, down in the south-east corner of California, engineers made a new canal the other day. They just bored a hole in the ground, and up came the revivifying waters. Then a few date seeds were dropped into the soil, and a few vegetables planted, and they will have an oasis made to order.

SMALL GROUP STOPS PLANS

Expectation of Passing Big Airplane Bill in Senate is Nipped.

FEW SENATORS IN THE BLOCKADE LINE No Chance to Put It Through in Jig Time as the House Did.

Washington, July 18.—Opposition from a small group of senators of both parties upset plans today for having the senate pass after brief debate the $449,000,000 aviation bill. An hour of discussion demonstrated the futility of attempting to put the measure through in a few hours, as was done in the house, so the food control bill, temporarily laid aside, was taken up again.

Senator Chamberlain, in charge of both measures, indicated that the aviation bill probably would not be called up again until next week after the final vote on the food bill Saturday.

When Senator Reed suggested that with the further discussion action might have been secured today Senator La Follette emphatically interjected: "I do not think so."

Sensors Vardaman, Hardwick and Reed spoke during the hour against the provision for drafting men into the aviation service. Senator Owen of Oklahoma offered an amendment to create a commission to investigate the food control bill, the maximum price of 20 per cent profit. He said it was reported that $20,000 would be charged for machines costing but $5,000. Senator Jones, of Washington, said he feared a great part of the money would be spent in organizing the bill authorizing many generals, brigades and regiments.

Got in Started.

Senator Chamberlain succeeded in securing consideration of the $449,000,000 aviation bill in the senate by unanimous consent today and in a brief explanation anticipated objections to its provisions for drafting men into the aviation service by stating that the war department does not intend to conscript men for the flying corps proper, but only for ground service.

"The head of the aviation service so testified before the extensive house committee hearing," he said. "The bill was passed by the house without a dissenting vote and the senate committee in view of its urgency, decided to report it without amendment. I would be glad to get a vote at the earliest possible opportunity."

Senator Curtis who had asked about that point, said he was satisfied with the explanation. Senator Hardwick, however, objected, and offered an amendment to strike out the clause on aviation conscription. The Georgia senator was one of the leading opponents to the army draft law.

LUTHERANS AFFIRM LOYALTY. Omaha, Neb., July 18.—Twenty-seven pastors and heads of the nine branches of the Lutheran church of America took official cognizance of the Nebraska defense council's charges of disloyalty at a meeting held here when resolutions were adopted affirming the loyalty of the church in America. The ministers represented the 300,000 Lutherans in Nebraska directly, and those of the entire country indirectly.

DAY COACHES TO CARRY GUARD TO CAMPS IN SOUTH

Washington, July 18.—Day coaches will be used for moving the greater part of the National guard to camps in the south where they are to become parts of the national army. When the guard was moved to the border last year tourist sleepers were used in most cases, but it has been discovered that this time there is a shortage of sleeping cars. Reports to the war department today indicated that supplies are being mobilized satisfactorily at state depots.

Delay in laying out camp sites is being remedied and officials of the department believe the first movement will be well under way by the end of the month.

MEN OF DEFENSE COUNCIL BARRED IN FOOD MEASURE

Washington, July 18.—After a week's discussion and in beginning to vote on amendments to the food control bill, the senate today tentatively adopted, 54 to 17, a substitute amendment by Senator Pomeroy, of Ohio, prohibiting government agents, including national defense council advisory members, from executing government contracts in which they are personally interested.

DR. HOVEY WRITES FROM CROCKER LAND

Scientist Tells of Work With Seismograph in Greenland.

Washington, July 18.—First reports of the seismographic work of Dr. Edmund O. Hovey, of the Crocker land expedition at Etah, Greenland, where Donald F. MacMillan and his party made their headquarters last winter, have been received by Rev. Francis A. Tondorf, director of the Georgetown university seismographical observatory here and one of the country's foremost seismologists.

Dr. Hovey, who went north with the first relief expedition and whose ship was wrecked in the ice, took along a seismograph with the intention of determining whether ice pressure has any influence on earth movements in the Arctic. He was successful in saving the instrument from the wreck and established it at the Etah headquarters.

Puts Instrument Together.

Dr. Hovey said he was unable to find the directions for installing the instrument but with the aid of an illustrated catalogue showing a picture of the assembled apparatus and with his knowledge of the basic principle upon which the machine works he was able to put it together all right and get it to running without much trouble.

"Mr. MacMillan, too, is delighted," said Dr. Hovey. "Thus far I have gotten no record of an earth tremor although the seismograph has been working officially for four weeks. It has been installed in a good room in a shed connected with the house. It rests upon solidly frozen gravel, in which its feet were imbedded and cemented in place."

Expects to Get Records.

"I see no reason why any earth tremor should not be recorded and I shall keep putting the papers on so long as I remain here. The temperature in its room ranges from plus four degrees to plus 10 degrees Fahrenheit, and I think that I can maintain it about there during the cold weather. "There are four of us white men here for the winter. We are very comfortable and will be all right till relief comes next summer."

The other members of the party are MacMillan, Comer and Small.

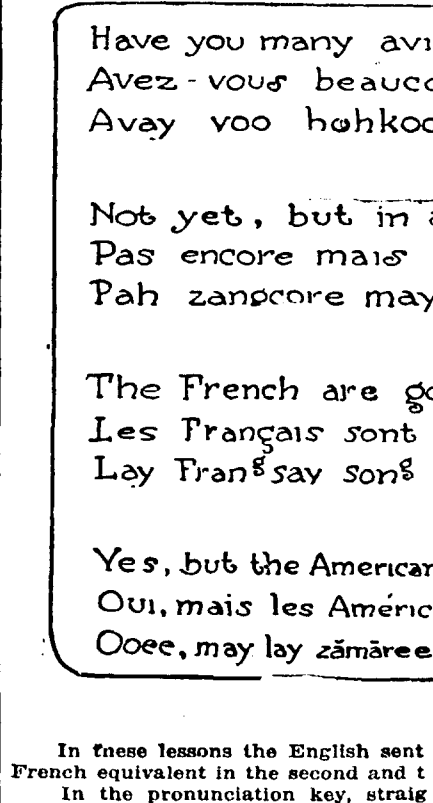

Dr. Hovey's letter bore the date of "Etah, Greenland, Nov. 18, 1916, and was postmarked at Copenhagen, June 8, 1917. It undoubtedly was brought out by Dr. Harrison J. Hunt, surgeon of the expedition who reached the United States after a 1,500-mile sledge journey over the ice to Godshaven, thence by steamer to Copenhagen and again across the Atlantic.

Delay in laying out camp sites is being remedied and officials of the department believe the first movement will be well under way by the end of the month.

CHAPTER HAS 8,381 MEMBERS

That is Total of Fort Wayne Red Cross Up to July 15.

TWELVE NEW NAMES ADDED WEDNESDAY

Headquarters to Be Open an Hour Earlier on Market Days.

The Fort Wayne chapter of the Red Cross, including all its auxiliary chapters in Allen county and the surrounding counties, now has a membership of 8,381. This was the total up to July 15. It is not known just exactly how many of this total represent Fort Wayne members. Many new names are being received at the headquarters every week, but local officials are determined to boost the membership figures to a much higher figure. Twelve new members were received at the headquarters on East Berry street Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning.

The Fort Wayne chapter of the Red Cross has been in existence for about seven months. The first meeting was held December 11, 1916, and soon after, permission was given by the national chapter to organize a chapter here.

It was announced at headquarters today that hereafter, the room will be opened on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday mornings at 8 o'clock instead of 9 a.m. as has been the custom. The purpose of this is to accommodate persons who come down to the market early in the morning and wish to go to the headquarters and work immediately after their marketing is finished. On other days, the headquarters will be opened at 9 o'clock. It was also announced that the sewing classes would meet every Tuesday and Thursday evening, and on other nights by appointment.

A party that will no doubt prove very beneficial to the Red Cross work was given Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Gottlieb Heine, of Fort Park. It was a children's party, the young workers gathering in the spacious attic of Mrs. Heine's home, where they worked at "snipping" for the children for the Red Cross in the past week has been marked by eagerness and enthusiasm, and a special juvenile organization is to be formed soon for their benefit.

Many people are coming to the Red Cross headquarters on East Berry street to pay subscriptions for the Red Cross war fund campaign, held several weeks ago. These subscriptions do not belong at headquarters, but are to be paid at the Old National bank to Treasurer Frank H. Cutshall.

Learn Some French Today

TWELFTH LESSON PREPARED BY MME. ARCHINARD

Have you many aviators? Avez-vous beaucoup d'avions? Avay voo hahkoo daveeon?

Not yet, but in a little while: Pas encore mais dans peu de temps Pah zangore may dan$ pu duh tan$

The French are good aviators Les Français sont de bons aviateurs. Lay Fran$ say son$ duh hon$ zaveeatuhr

Yes, but the Americans will become so! Oui, mais les Américains le deviendront. Ooe, may lay zameerekan$ loh duhveeandront

In these lessons the English sent once appears in the first line, the French equivalent in the second and the pronunciation in the third line. In the pronunciation key, straight lines over the letters A and U denote the long sound, as in "hate" and "dude;" curved lines over these letters denote the short sound, as in "hat" and "but;" two dots over the U indicate a sound somewhat like the German "ue," which Americans may approach by pronouncing long U and long E at the same time.

Out of these lessons and paste them in your note book. The purpose here is merely to give the young men who may serve with the army in France such a knowledge of French as will make simple wants known and some sort of friendly intercourse with French people and soldiers possible. No attempt is made to teach the grammar of the language.

Mister Slear is Blamed When Black Sox Don't Win 'Em All

Allison Pitches His First Game for the Fort Wayne Club.

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 18.—Our idea of a poor sport is the guy who blames the ump when the home club loses. That's what happened here yesterday when Grand Rapids went under to the Fort Wayne Chiefs 9 to 7. Slear was given credit for putting out the "poorest bit of umpiring seen at Island park this summer." Maybe the other umpires slipped something over while the referee was arguing over which one was to buy the peanuts.

The whole rumpus started because Grand Rapids was leading 7 to 3 and the Chiefs came up from behind and beat them out. A four run lead was considered enough to win on, and when Yandy's outfit showed them their wrong way of thinking they became peevish. Five runs were made in the seventh after two were out, Hoffman starting it with a double after two strikes and a ball had been called.

Fort Wayne got the jump after making two runs in the first inning when, after two men had been walked, Hoffman doubled to left and sent both of them around. Grand Rapids came back in the second and made three runs. Six singles and an error accounted for the runs. Three more were made in the fourth when Mitchell, Carey, Mathes and Eddington singled. The last local marker was made in the fifth, Devormer connecting for a complete trip.

Hoffman's single, Gloekson's double and Williams' drive gave the Chiefs a run in the sixth. In the next inning the wrath of Michigan descended upon Umpire Slear. After two were down Hoffman went to the plate and two strikes were called on him. Slatery sent in a third delivery and Hoffman waited. Fans said "strike three." Slear said "ball one," and the fight was on. Hoffman landed on the next offering for a double. Two men were out at the time, Breaux scoring and Smith going to third.

Gloekson walked and Kelly bunted, getting a life at first when Devormer missed the plate. Smith scored and Williams hit, sending in two more. Grand Rapids players claim he was caught at second. Slear disagreed. Vanandy rolled an easy one and Kelly scored for the fifth run. The boss was caught at second.

Fort Wayne was one run in the lead then. Breux, not satisfied with the big rally, decided to set it all off with one more run. He doubled to the left field wall, took third on Siegfried's sacrifice and scored the last run of the day on Smith's slow one. The win gave Fort Wayne an even break with Grand Rapids in the series.

Today the Chiefs show up on the local lot for a twelve day stay. They start with Dayton, take Springfield next, then Richmond and Evansville in order. Counting double headers, at least fifteen games will be played and some tall work will be expected of new players and the release of others, and must now show what they are going to do. Winning ball is the main thing and standing is a second consideration, although we would like very much to see them get out of the cellar notch and do it quick.

NOTICE—Please phone 660 for news items. 6-7-17

(BY WINONA WILCOX).

Vacation time is the open season for spooners. Spring, fall and winter, man may choose whether to spoon or not to spoon—but the menace of vacation spooning no man can elude.

And the real menace, contrary to the popular notion is to the man. It is he, not the girl, who must be courageous when undertaking a summer spooning expedition. Woman takes spooning so seriously, that's why. She expects it to lead somewhere.

But man fancies that its moonlit path ends in Never-Never Land. He assumes that he can shed his responsibilities for love and be comfortable, just as he can take off his coat and collar on a hot day.

He is never quite aware of the dangers of this game until he spoons with some seemingly heedless, guileless beauty and finds himself hooked and landed, and prepared to simmer forever on a red-hot matrimonial grill.

Man is forever studying woman and never finding out anything about her. He doesn't know that she is always in love with love, so much so that she never can tell the genuine from the synthetic.

So she seizes with glee upon any love that is offered, even that poor, weak, artificial substitute—spooning.

Woman at any age has always in mind a love that is passed, or a love which she missed, or a lover to come. Any handy man becomes her ideal, the adorable duplicate of her lost or the fulfillment of her promised dream.

This makes spooning so dangerous.

One would imagine that man would pick out some game at which he had better chances—say war, or gardening.

Spoonng is a girl's only sport. She wins because she concentrates on it. And while it is generally condemned as the most hazardous of all interests for girls, it is really the men—did some one say "poor fish?"—who need more mothers to guide them.

SHUTOUT KING IS KEEPING INDIANS IN PENNANT RACE

(By Paul Purman).

One of the main reasons the Cleveland Indians are in the pennant race is a human reason, and its name is Jim Bagby.

Bagby is not only one of the leading pitchers of the league, but also has outdistanced every other American league hurler in shutouts, seven being credited to him.

In doing this he took that honor away from his teammate, Coveleskie.

FOR CRACK UNIT OF GUARD.

South Bend, Ind., July 18.—Plans to form a crack unit of the Indiana national guard were discussed here tonight by men who have applied for places in the officers' reserve training camp. The men declared that in case they are not called for the next training camp, rather than be drafted they would form a nucleus of the new guard company proposed here. Colonel Geo. Freymuth, of the Third regiment, was present at the meeting and approved the plan.

TROUBLES OF HOPE HOSPITAL AT AN END

Satisfactory Adjustment of Differences Has Been Effected.

The differences between the board, physicians and nurses of the Hope hospital which for a time threatened to disrupt that institution have been satisfactorily settled, according to the principal participants in the recent unpleasantness.

It is now believed that all friction and misunderstandings have been removed, the atmosphere has been cleared, so to speak, and henceforth and forevermore, there will be no more trouble. A. G. Barry, president of the Hope hospital board, is out of the city and no statement could be secured from him. Dr. Miles F. Porter, sr., says that an agreement has been reached and all differences settled.

"The affairs of the hospital, I feel sure, will now move steadily and smoothly toward the attainment of a great efficiency in the new home and surrounded by modern advantages and equipment," Dr. Porter continued.

The new hospital on West Lewis street will not be fitted up as rapidly as possible. Mrs. Elizabeth Springer states that her department will be ready to receive patients within a day or two.

WRINGER RIOT IS NO WHISPERING AFFAIR

Mrs. Johnson Finally Tired of Being Pushed Off of Front Porch.

It was no whispering affair when Mrs. Florence Johnson and Mrs. Sarah Williams, 1313 Horace street, assembled on the front porch of their joint home to settle the matter of their ownership of the family wringer Monday afternoon, witnesses in police court Wednesday morning testified. The lively cynosure for all the women of the neighborhood lasted for nearly an hour and called half a dozen peaceful ladies into court on Wednesday. Witnesses refused to repeat a part of the language which was wrung from the principals in the case during the front porch bout.

Mrs. Johnson dealt two sissary slaps to the left cheek of the portly Mrs. Williams by way of opening the physical effort of the misunderstanding, it was told. At the end of the clinic Mrs. Williams pushed Mrs. Johnson off the porch. With a rush Mrs. Johnson returned. She was hurled from the platform again. A third effort to gain a foothold on the arena was repulsed. Then Mrs. Johnson quit fighting but Mrs. Johnson, 1313 Horace street, admitted that the woman did not cease talking at that point.

The engagement was all about the family wringer. Both women claimed ownership of the domestic necessity. Mrs. Johnson was moving from the house and had started to take the useful device with her. She was halted on the front porch by Mrs. Williams, who laid a firm hand on the household article. She claims she bought the wringer from Mrs. Johnson. The animated bout followed. "Who has the wringer?" cheerily asked Judge H. W. Kerr. "I got the wringer," quickly answered Mrs. Williams. Several women called to the stand and who admitted that they had hurried from their homes upon hearing the sound of altercation, told of the brief fray. They stated that the two women had been known to have differences before. One witness said that Mrs. Johnson choked Mrs. Williams a little at one point of the struggle. "You could easily hear that they were in a row," Judge Kerr asked Mrs. Myrtle Durbin, 1312 Horace street, who had left her pans to take a place on her front veranda, across the street, when trouble arose. "It was no whispering affair," she said. The husband of Mrs. Florence Johnson gave his version of the wringer wrangle. He accused Mrs. Williams with deliberately trying to precipitate a riot. Judge Kerr found Mrs. Johnson, the defendant in the case, guilty of assault on Mrs. Williams. He continued the case indefinitely.

TO ORGANIZE INDIANA WOMEN FOR THE WAR

August 15 Will Be Draft Day for Them and a Campaign Is On.

Indianapolis, July 18.—In launching what is believed to be the first statewide movement to organize its women as thoroughly for food conservation as its men have been organized for military duty, Indiana again has taken the lead in rallying to the support of the federal government in the win-the-war campaign.

At a meeting of H. E. Barnard, acting Indiana food commissioner for Herbert Hoover, national food administrator, and members of the Indiana Women's Service at the state house, a dining start was taken toward forming an effective organization of women on Wednesday, August 15, "conservative day" for women.

It is planned to have perhaps 10,000 women canvas the state on that day, to see that every woman is urged to sign a card pledging herself to food conservation. The pledge follows: I am glad to join you in the service of food conservation and I hereby accept membership in the United States food administration, pledging myself to carry out the directions and advice of the food administrator in the conduct of my household, insofar as my circumstances permit. The cards will be sent to the food administrator in Washington and acknowledgment will be sent to the signers by him.

In addition to the national enlistment the Indiana League for Women's Service, under the direction of Miss Julia Landers, will conduct a campaign on the same day to co-ordinate and standardize the work of the women along lines of constructive patriotism. Cards will be distributed to obtain data on which twenty-five or thirty departments of women's work the signers may be of service.

In the last week of June, 1916, a quantity of light and mercurial munitions was consumed by the British armies on the western front, greater than that which was produced in the whole of Great Britain during the first eleven months of the war.

SHOULD GIVE SEAT TO PAY PASSENGERS

General Manager Crawford, of Pennsy, Reminds Pass Holders of Duties.

In view of the war necessity for restricting passenger train service, D. F. Crawford, general manager of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh, has issued a personal request to all employees reminding them of the special need for care "in observing their courteous obligation not to occupy seats when pay passengers are standing."

A copy of the request, which has been printed in the form of a small leaflet, will be placed in the hands of every individual employee. Requests in similar form are being sent to employees by the chief transportation officers of other portions of the Pennsylvania system, both east and west of Pittsburgh.

The leaflet is not intended as an order, but merely a reminder of a duty which already exists. It says in part: "Under war conditions crowded trains may not always be possible to give every passenger a seat, but certainly none should stand while railroad men, holding passes, are seated."

"The obligation of an employee, in such a case, is plain and rests upon the principles of courtesy and right which may be performed without embarrassment to anyone, and without attracting needless attention, by simply raising and moving quietly to another part of the car or train."

An innovation in the methods of travel by high officials over the Pennsylvania lines was noticeable this week when General Manager D. F. Crawford, General Superintendent W. C. Downing and General Motive Power Superintendent P. F. Smith, Jr., made a trip over the lines. Instead of traveling by special train, as heretofore, they were attached to a regular train and Messrs. Downing and Smith came here in a Pullman car of one of the regular trains.

NO MEETING THIS YEAR.

Nickel Plate Veterans Will Pass Up the Gathering.

With a handsomely printed pamphlet giving the secretary's report of the last meeting of the Veteran Association of the Nickel Plate, which was held in Buffalo last fall, came a circular from John H. Nichols, the secretary, stating that there will be no meeting this year. Mr. Nichols offers three reasons, as follows: President Wilson's wish that all unnecessary conventions and meetings be postponed; the need of available man and car for the business of the road and for use by the United States government; and the probability of not being able, if a meeting is held, of obtaining Pullman cars for the transportation of the veterans. Last year the veteran meeting was attended by over 300 veterans and their families. Pullman cars were necessary to carry those from a distance.

FREIGHT CLERKS PROMOTED.

Agent C. P. Porter Fills Vacancies in Ranks.

The appointment of Herman C. Miller at Napoleon, of the Wabash, and the advancement of A. E. Klotz to cashier to succeed Mr. Miller in the local Wabash freight offices has been followed by other changes which are promotions to the men affected. Agent Porter has advanced L. Rau to assistant cashier, succeeding Mr. Klotz, and Ed Hilker to day bill clerk to succeed Mr. Rau. Mr. Hilker was formerly expense clerk and that position has been filled by the employment of Ed Woenke, formerly with the Pennsylvania. As stated, these changes are promotions for the men affected and they were won by faithful and efficient service during the years they worked for Mr. Porter.

A. W. SARGENT COMING HOME.

A harbinger of the coming in a few days of A. W. Sargent, of Blair, Texas, was the arrival by express of his pet dog, "Rowdy," which was delivered at the home of Mr. Sargent's mother, Mrs. Sargent, No. 610 Holman street, last night. It has been the custom of A. W. Sargent to ship his dog a day or two in advance of himself, when coming home on a visit or when returning to Texas. Mr. Sargent will visit with his folks in Fort Wayne until August 1, when he will go to Coldwater lake to remain until September 15. On that date he will leave for his home in Texas. Mr. Sargent is a yardmaster at Blair for the Texas & Pacific company. Before leaving Fort Wayne he was employed on the Pennsylvania, first as brakeman and later as conductor.

SELLING MANY TICKETS.

It was stated yesterday by one of the men interested in the benefit ice cream social at Swinney park tonight, given under the auspices of the International Association of Electrical Workers for the striking employees of the Duo Manufacturing company, that over 5,000 tickets had been sold and that this sum would not represent more than half of the total sales. The labor unions, it is said, are contributing liberally, the results not being fully known at present. The Electrical Workers, which is directing affairs for the strikers, is receiving many new members. Monday night twenty-seven applicants were initiated.

WILL BUILD A HOME.

The Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, one of the strongest and best financed labor unions in the city, will have a home of its own, if plans arranged recently are carried out. The union has set aside $7,000 as a necess to the building fund and it is predicted that this fund will reach $10,000 by next spring, when preparations for securing a site and building will be made. It is proposed to have a building with offices for committee rooms and an up to date assembly hall. The Carpenters' union has a membership of over 450 and is increasing it weekly.

SOME TOMATOES, THESE.

Jim Sivets, one of the tenants in the General Electric farm, is entitled to the prize as a raiser of tomatoes. In his patch is one tomato plant which has forty-eight big tomatoes. Those who have seen the plant declare it is the most wonderful in a productive way they ever saw. W. H. Fell, a foreman of one of the departments of the Electric works, who has had a sort of superintendence over the farm from its origin, takes even more pride in Mr. Sivets' achievements as a gardener than does that gentleman himself. Nearly all of the gardens in the farm are doing well.

PALLBEARERS FOR TRAXLER FUNERAL.

The pallbearers for the funeral of Gerald Traxler, which will be held at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, are men who would at a number of years with the deceased in the shops. They are W. H. Hosterman, Charles Holman, G. F. VanBuskirk, W. F. Sprandel, L. J. Woenker and Ross LaMar. The employees of the Pennsylvania power plant, in which the deceased had worked, sent a magnificent floral piece to the house to be placed on the casket of their departed associate.

FRANK COUSAR PROMOTED.

Frank C. Cousar, material inspector for the New York Central, with headquarters in Chicago, has been transferred to the lines east of Pittsburgh with headquarters in Albany, N. Y. This transfer is considered in the light of a promotion. Mr. Cousar is a son of Charles A. Cousar, metallurgist at the Bass foundry, and in the performance of his duties as material inspector, he made frequent visits to Fort Wayne and saw his friends often.

GAVE FRIENDS FISH SUPPER.

Christian Rhein, the well-known Pennsylvania blacksmith, entertained a number of his friends at a fish supper, at his home on Swinney avenue, yesterday. The fish were caught by Mr. Rhein, who is an expert with the hook and line. Among his guests were J. Raidy, H. Phillips, M. O. Shookman, D. Tegtmeyer, E. Wehmeyer, J. Mohr, J. H. Deck, L. Carpenter, H. Rohrbach, J. Richhart and W. McGrath.

LOOKING OVER ELEVATION.

W. S. Danes, superintendent of bridges and buildings, and N. Johnson, engineer of maintenance of way of the Wabash, were in the city today on business connected with the proposed elevation of the tracks at Lafayette street. This work will be taken up by the Pennsylvania and the Wabash simultaneously when both are ready for it.

PICNIC POSTPONED.

Because of the very disagreeable weather and for possibly other reasons the annual picnic which was to have been held Thursday in Weisser park under the auspices of Hyacinth Lodge, No. 28, Ladies' Society of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, has been postponed. It will be given at a later date, which will be announced in due time.

ON TWO WEEKS' TOUR.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Baldwin and daughter are out on a two weeks' motor trip through northern Indiana, southern Michigan and northern Ohio. They left Monday, going to Toledo that day and thence started west, with Detroit the object point. Mr. Baldwin is road foreman of the Chicago division of the Nickel Plate.

TO COOMBS STREET NEXT.

The Welsh Construction company, of Chicago, which has the contract for doing the concrete work in the Osage street subway, under the Nickel Plate tracks, is now pushing it rapidly. The company expects to finish that job the latter part of next week, when it will take up a similar work at Coombs street.

Milk from Intelligent and Clean Little Pets of Great Value in Cure of Tuberculosis.

IN the office of a prominent St. Louis physician the following animated conversation took place: "I don't know what we are coming to. This morning I got notice that the price of milk has taken another jump. I have a healthy family of hearty eaters. I have a sick baby that needs sterilized milk, and I have a sister with incipient tuberculosis, who has to drink milk by the quart. You just have to have a few clothes and some fuel in the winter and some ice in the summer. You can't spend your whole income for milk."

"Why don't you try the canned stuff," another lady in the waiting room suggested. "I find it much better for making cream sauces, and after you get used to it you don't mind it, even in coffee. As for the baby—"

"For heaven's sake don't give it to your baby!" a third cried, with a note of real distress in her voice. "I was betrayed into that fatal blunder by a doctor who didn't know his business. When my second daughter was a baby, she had stomach trouble and we put her on condensed milk. She got fat and rosy for a while, and then she developed the most terrible case of rickets. We took her to a specialist, and he said the condensed milk lacked some of the essentials of body-building, and we had a terrific struggle to save her life and prevent her from being an invalid all her days."

"As far as the canned milk is concerned," the fourth lady put in, "I have another objection to offer—the cost! It's just like everything else. I used to get three big cans for a quarter. The last I bought, they asked me 15 cents a can. I almost fainted."

"Why not buy a goat?"

None of the animated ones had observed that the doctor had entered the room and was enjoying to the full their evident distress. "A goat!" The cry of consternation came from all four.

"Oh, I felt the same way about it before I learned the difference between goats and goats," the doctor laughed.

There Are Goats and Goats. "But you couldn't keep a goat in the city," one of them interrupted; "and, besides, the milk is strong, and we all know what a goat can do with its horns."

"I wasn't thinking about the kind with horns and strong milk," the doctor interrupted, not laughing now, but in deadly earnest. "As I said before, I went through the same sort of protests when I happened to run into a goat convention at Rochester, N. Y., several years ago, where all the baby specialists in the country seemed to have congregated to exchange experiences and buy goats. I found, to my astonishment, that the finest lot of goats there belonged to a doctor up at Hannibal, in my own state, who had saved the lives of 200 babies and no end of anemic grown-ups, by putting them on a diet of goat's milk."

"I don't think I would like to drink the milk that is produced by an animal that eats rusty tomato cans," another of the ladies exploded. "Poor goat!" the doctor sighed. "Give a dog a bad name, and he might as well go out into the street and watch for the first automobile to run over him. The fact is, that the goat is the dirtiest eater there is. That is one reason why goat's milk is so much more healthful than cow's milk."

"The goat cannot be compared to cows and chickens in cleanliness. It is perfectly true that goats can exist on next to nothing, but if you buy a pedigreed Swiss milk goat and pay a good price for it, you are not likely to feed it on tin cans. I keep three goats in a little pen that is only 8 feet wide, across the back end of my lot, between the garage and the side fence. Their little house is built against the side of the garage, and just to make the thing picturesque, we had the garage and goathouse designed in the style of the Swiss chalet, but you don't need anything so fancy. My friend, Dr. Schmidt, who let me into the secrets of goat raising, when I visited him in Hannibal, began his experiment with little sheds made out of piano boxes, in the yard back of his house."

"And you actually have goats, right here in St. Louis?" the mother of the delicate baby demanded.

THE FAMILY PET

goat raiser, and insists that all her children were brought up on goat's milk, and the finest meat that is served on her table is roast kid. On the Continent there is no prejudice against either the milk or the meat of goats. In the south of France the milkman does not bring your supply in a cart, but delivers it "on foot" in the most picturesque manner possible. He drives his herd of milk goats through the streets, stopping at the gate in the high stone wall of his customer's residence and ringing the bell. When the mistress or the serving maid comes out, he milks a measureful from the goat which that family happens to prefer, and drives on to the house of the next customer. There is no question of adulteration or unsanitary handling of the milk when it is produced before your very eyes.

"Leg of Kid" a Delicacy. In Paris, where they surely know good things to eat, the average number of goats and kids slaughtered annually, in times of peace, is 140,000. This meat is not called "mutton" and palmed off on the public as the flesh of sheep. The "leg of kid" is quite able to travel on its own foot and under its own name. It is sweeter and more delicious than leg of spring lamb.

And that's why you haven't been preaching goat raisers to us poor wretches who have to pay you our good money to keep us well."

The physician had to admit that if every family in the city kept goats, not only the dairymen but a large percentage of the doctors would be forced to seek other means of earning a livelihood. That contingency is a long way off, chiefly because of the old prejudice against the clean little animal that has been designated "the poor man's cow."

For the last ten years the department of animal industry in Washington has been making experiments and sending out bulletins, urging the American people to raise goats for both milk and meat, but still the prejudice stands. It is the same prejudice that exists in England, in spite of the ardent pleadings of the duchess of Hamilton, who has long been an enthusiastic and the French chef never thinks of apologizing for it.

We think of Switzerland as the home of the goat, and it is true that our best stock comes from that country. The most popular breed, with American physicians, is the Toggenburg, because of the character and quantity of its milk. It is a fawn-colored animal, which, at some remote point in its ancestry, was probably crossed with the wild chamois of the Swiss mountains. It has no horns and is very gentle in disposition.

It is derived from the Toggenburg Valley in the canton of St. Gallen, close to the southern shores of Lake Constance, and its characteristics were not developed by the aid of professors of animal husbandry. They are the result of the native thrift and shrewdness of the Swiss people. A goat that had a mean disposition or that did not give a sufficient quantity of milk was promptly turned into "mutton," which does not necessarily mean sheep meat—another animal was raised in its place.

Thus, in the course of a couple of centuries, all the bad-tempered goats and all the poor milkers were eliminated and a strain of prolific and amiable goats was established.

The chief reason for the importing of these animals into the United States is to be found in a chemical analysis of their milk, and their popularity has been materially on the increase since the discovery was made, ten years ago, that a large proportion of our regular milk supply is tainted with tuberculosis germs. One dairymen in Jefferson County, who sent his entire output of milk to St. Louis, was forced to kill all but eleven of his cows when the inspector found that the major part of his herd was supplying the most seriously germ-laden milk to the unsuspecting public. Of the eleven that were left, three others had to be sacrificed when they had been in quarantine two months.

Quits Producing Milk. That farmer gave up trying to produce milk, and what he has to say about the slaughtering of his cows would not look well in print. To his way of thinking he was robbed of his means of earning a livelihood. He is not alone in his feeling of injury, for hundreds of milk shippers had the same experience, and the killing of so many tubercular cows has much to do with the advanced cost of milk and beef.

Goats are not subject to tuberculosis. The most rigorous tests have failed to find the bacillus of this dread disease in goat's milk. The animal can acquire the disease, when the germs are introduced directly into its blood by means of a hypodermic needle; but it never contracts tuberculosis naturally, as the cow does. This is advantage enough, but it is by no means the only advantage the milk possesses, as shown by the chemist's analysis. It has a higher percentage of butter fat than cow's milk.

One goat enthusiast sniffs at the idea of using a separator for preparing his cream to be churned. His method is one which he learned in England years ago, and it is simple and easy. He takes all the milk that is left over after it has stood for twelve hours, sets the pan on the stove and heats it almost to the boiling point, or until a ring may be seen on the wrinkly surface of the cream. It is then set aside in a cool place for another twelve hours and the cream is skimmed off and churned.

The milk that remains after skimming is as rich as ordinary whole milk from the dairy and can be used for drinking or for cooking. His method of churning the cream is to put it into a bowl and beat it with an egg whip after it has soured. The butter comes in a few minutes, but is as white as snow and requires a few drops of vegetable coloring fluid to give it the golden tint that suggests butter to the dwellers in the city.

In fact, the general run of goats and cows, from the poorest to the best in breed, will show an average of double the percentage of butter fat from goat's milk. Cow's milk averages 4 per cent more of water, and the casein and ash which are so valuable to body building are practically absent from the milk of the cow. However, the greatest advantage of the goat's milk lies in the fact that its fat globules and its solid particles are so finely divided that even the most delicate stomach can easily assimilate them.

Because the fat is too perfectly emulsified the cream does not readily rise to the surface as it does in cow's milk. Hence the need of a separator if one wishes very rich cream for table use or for butter making. The milk that has not been run through the separator is as rich as ordinary dairy cream, yet it does not deplete the weakest stomach, as cow's cream does, because of the minute division of the fat particles.

In Cranbury, N. J., there is a tuberculosis sanitarium under the direction of Dr. E. S. Gordon, who shows a far greater percentage of cures than are reported from the health resorts of Colorado and Arizona. In the grounds behind the hospital there is a great herd of Swiss milk goats, and the patients are never permitted to touch cow's milk.

The specialists make no claim that goat's milk will "cure" tuberculosis. There is no cure for that dread disease except the cure which nature effects, when she is properly assisted. Fresh air and nourishment are the two requisites, and the milk of the goat gives the maximum of nourishment without the danger of introducing a fresh supply of tuberculosis germs every morning and evening.

Makes Intelligent Pet.

When the public has been properly enlightened the goat will take the place of the dog as the children's pet. It is as intelligent as a dog, and, if taken in hand when it is young, it can be taught no end of interesting tricks. Its housing problem is not serious, for it likes to sleep on a wooden bench without any sort of bedding, except in winter, when it must be protected from the cold. When it comes to food, that is quite another matter. The goat costs little to keep, but its feed must be handled properly.

It seems to delight in throwing its dinner on the ground and walking on it. Then it tosses its head in contempt and refuses to touch what its feet have contaminated. The hay may be ever so carefully picked up and shaken, it may even be put away and brought out at the next feeding; but the goat will detect the odor at once and give unmistakable evidence that it is on to your trick. When once the feed has been on the ground you might as well burn it or feed it to the undermilked cow.

A goat, to be healthy and in prime milking condition, should have a morning feed of a pint of oats and a pint of bran. The rest of the feed should be as far as possible a thoroughly mixed diet, consisting of corn, barley, acorns, scalded meal, the refuse from the kitchen, especially such greens as cabbage leaves, peas, pods, potato and apple parings; wisps of hay, given along with the soft feed, not to mention grass, weeds, the trimmings of fruit and shade trees, and almost anything else that a goat can chew.

In the Eastern States, where the value of goat milk for babies, convalescents and tubercular patients is well known, goat's milk has been known to command as much as 80 cents a quart. Usually it sells for the same price as cow's milk, and is far more valuable. Any surplus that the family may have can readily be disposed of to the neighbor with a family of children when once the situation is understood. But there need be no surplus, if the goat is to perform its task of reducing the cost of living.

The agricultural committee of the Commercial club of New Haven met Tuesday night and perfected an organization which will do everything possible to have the course brought to that city. The decision will be made by Prof. Fryer, of Purdue, who has charge of the short course work.

It is believed to be a settled fact that Purdue expects to give Allen county the long course, which includes the exhibition of a carload of live stock.

The agricultural committee, which met Tuesday night, also discussed plans for the New Haven Farm Product fair which will be given either the latter part of November or the first of December.

Appropriate $3,000.

Three thousand dollars was set aside for the erection of additions to the Huntertown Livestock and Agricultural association building Tuesday evening. Great preparations are being made for the livestock fair which will be given from September 25 to 28, inclusive.

It was decided to build an additional one hundred feet to the cattle barns and a large addition to the hog and sheep barns.

Nothing but livestock will be exhibited at this fair and one of the outstanding features is that no side attractions will be allowed on the grounds. Some of the best stock in the country will be exhibited by the officers.

Sixty Head on Sale.

Sixty five specimens of Shorthorn cattle will be offered for sale in October by the Fort Wayne District Shorthorn Breeders' association. The exact date of the public sale has not been decided upon but the officer stated that it will be the first part of the month.

The members of this association have become more enthused than ever over Shorthorn cattle since the first sale held this spring and have bent every effort towards introducing this profitable breed of cattle into Allen and adjoining counties.

Some of the best cattle in the country have been imported into this county and some of them will be offered for sale at the second event of its kind to be held at Huntertown.

At least twenty head of Shorthorn cattle now in this county are imported. A few were purchased at recent sales in Chicago and Canada at which places some sold as high as $6,000 a head.

Press his communications of every nature from the American training camp and deposit them in a special post-office, from where they will be taken by pouch to Paris and mailed in the ordinary manner. Similarly return mail should be addressed to the training camp of the American expeditionary forces, Paris, whence it will be forwarded to proper address.

When the troops left their base they took with them surplus supplies which are now being turned back to the quartermaster's department headquarters for redistribution, so that there will soon be more than enough of such things as tobacco and similar little luxuries which have been somewhat scarce among some troops and sections.

Each section of the army brings a better degree of order and system out of the inevitable confusion attendant upon moving a large body of troops.

Officers who billeted among the inhabitants are still billeting at the moderate prices that prevail for the majority. They may be requested to pay one franc daily for quarters and provided they eat at a "hotel" expend seven francs daily for excellent food. Prices are thus kept low to prevent a repetition of events early in the war when allied troops in French territory accustomed to the luxuries of home spoiled the French population by paying what seemed to them moderate but really enormous rates for everything.

bold, but his record in other posts is amply recognized as a great one. The Troy press deplores the removal of Sir Edward Carson from the admiralty, where it declares he has been a great success, while the radicals, to whom Sir Edward is a perennial object of their displeasure, were disgruntled at his admission into the innermost ministerial sanctum.

Not Strong for Churchill.

The reception to Winston Spencer Churchill, who succeeds Dr. Christopher Addison as minister of munitions, is none the less enthusiastic. The Morning Post, after a lukewarm reference to Sir Eric Campbell Geddes and a vitriolic attack on Edwin Samuel Montague, the new secretary for India, says of Churchill: "Although we have as yet not invented an unsinkable ship, we have discovered an unsinkable politician," and refers to his "colossal blunders and overweening conceit." The newspaper fully expects he will repeat his blunders and says his appointment "shows our politicians have an open contempt for all sound principles of administration."

May Have Trouble With Labor.

Churchill's enthusiasm, push and ingenuity are recognized by writers who, nevertheless, doubt his suitability as minister of munitions where the thorny task of dealing with labor in the production of munitions complicates the duties of the post in a manner for which it is feared Churchill is unequipped. Among these, the Times says, the country is not in a mood to tolerate an attempt to resuscitate amateur strategy.

The Daily News says Churchill has shown courage in accepting the post of minister of munitions, saying: "There are various kinds of courage. Some of them are virtues."

essay for the club to make a guarantee of $1,750, which amount was underwritten by the assistance of the General Electric company, S. F. Bowser & Co. and the Packard Piano company.

We feel that it is a great enterprise," Mr. Hoffman declared. "It brings to the people of Fort Wayne a week of solid education and entertainment at a time when things are lax and gives the people a chance to see and hear good attractions at a moderate price. If Fort Wayne wants a Chautauqua next year it will be demonstrated this year."

W. S. Wright, advance man for the Redpath company, and who has been acting as superintendent pro tem preceding the arrival of Roy Bendell, declared that in his six years of chautauqua work he had never co-operated with as fine an organization as the University club of this city. He declared that the three largest chautauquas in the country, those at Jamestown, N. Y., Winona Lake and Bayview, Mich. had no finer program booked than this city has.

The two concerts by the Bohemian orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Rudolph Kafka, were greatly appreciated.

Superintendent Bendell presided in the evening and introduced Dr. Martin D. Hardin, of Chicago, who delivered a wonderful lecture on "America and the World Tomorrow."

"Ten years after this war is over the day of kings on this earth will be over," Dr. Hardin declared. "Germany must be made to know that there is something above even so powerful an entity as the German state, and that is the power of a long suffering and wronged humanity. In this age of the world it is impossible to cherish militaristic ideals. We have no hatred of Germany, but we do hate injustice and tyranny, and our people are going into this war with a spirit that will please the German people when they understand it. I believe there has been nothing finer than the responses that have been made by our people to the call of the government—the liberty loan and the Red Cross fund—but I want to tell you that those are just the beginning of similar appeals. They will come again and again from the government. Let us be ready to say when the government calls, 'Here am I.' Let us do our share. I believe no drop of blood has been shed in a cause more sacred than our dear boys have responded to."

"communication from the government."

SILENT AS A SPYX.

Copenhagen, July 18.—Chancellor Michaelis as a Danish editor remarked, is preserving the silence of a sphinx on the German peace program and the questions of internal reforms but the liberal press and politicians in Germany manifest an increasing apprehension that when the sphinx finally breaks silence he will speak with a decided pro-German accent.

Herr Michaelis' putting forward of Field Marshal von Hindenburg and General von Ludendorff to discuss German peace conditions with members of the reichstag, his failure to consult parliamentary leaders on prospective new appointments to the imperial Prussian cabinet, his repeated previous environment and openly avowed satisfaction of the conservative national liberal party men, with the change in chancellor, contribute, as the newspapers show, to the marked uneasy feeling in liberal and socialist circles as to what the chancellor's maiden speech Thursday will show.

Soft Pedal on Reform.

The speech is not expected to go exhaustively into questions of reform or peace as the time is too short for Chancellor Michaelis to elaborate a definite program. The socialist agency reports that in all probability, he will ask six weeks' grace to inform himself and work out a detailed policy. The agency undoubtedly speaking for Herr Scheidegger, the socialist leader, demands, however, that Herr Michaelis immediately and unequivocally make clear his attitude on the Prussian franchise reform and the peace formula.

The Lokai Anzeiger also reckons the deferred presentation of the chancellor's program and instances the question of parliamentarizing the government as one of the problems Herr Michaelis will avoid because it cannot be approached until after exhaustive discussion by the federal government.

It appears unnecessary for Chancellor Michaelis to burn his fingers with this question at all because the Catholic center party has already changed sides, it explains in an inspired article in the clerical papers that the party in interpretation of parliamentary reforms is merely the bringing of the government and parliament into intimate touch—not the introduction of a parliamentary regime to which the center is now as always opposed. The center merely wishes to change the system that at present hinders parliament from entering the government. The national liberals have also adopted a "close touch" theory.

The papers manifest some uncertainty regarding the state of the reichstag peace resolutions. The clerical and radical organs insist it will have a big majority although they evidently are counting on some decidedly uncertain votes. They fear, however, Chancellor Michaelis will refuse to accept it as a basis of his policy.

SAME PEACE PROGRAM.

Basel, Switzerland, July 18.—The Neueste Nachrichten of Munich says that the declaration of the new German chancellor, Dr. Michaelis, before the reichstag tomorrow, will be for peace, having the same general trend as the resolution prepared by the parties of the Left.

The resolution referred to probably is the one drawn up by the radical, socialist and Catholic deputies in the reichstag before the resignation of Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg. This resolution tion which the majority blocked decided to introduce unchanged upon the reassembling of the parliament, stated that the reichstag was laboring for peace and reconciliation, had forced acquisitions or territory and political economic and financial violations were incompatible with such peace, that economic peace must be assured and that the reichstag would promote the creation of international judicial organizations.

of northern troops to the southern camps. Senator Wadsworth expressed the belief that there was something back of the plan other than military reasons.

Senator Knox said he had received information that the camp at Plattsburg was to be broken up and transferred to a site at Atlanta, Ga. Senator Wadsworth corroborated this report and characterized the policy as "inconsistent." He said the camp at Plattsburg, which represents an investment by the government of $500,000, was to be abandoned the middle of August. Although the climate around Plattsburg in the fall is ideal and training could continue there as well as in the south.

Protest From Michigan.

Senator Townsend told of protests by the officials of Michigan against the sending of their national guard to Texas and he thought there was something behind it which should be allowed. Senator Wadsworth endorsed the protest of Senator Lodge and said he knew the opinions of Major General Wood and Surgeon General Gorgas has not been asked by the department.

Several southern senators were clearing for recognition when the discussion was ended by a point of order.

AMERICA TAKES RAILWAY.

Paris, July 18.—Official announcement is made that the United States transport service is taking over control of the French railroad lines from the port bases to the permanent camp and the front lines. Tracks are being laid and sidings enlarged. The roads will be manned later by American engineer regiments. American locomotives, mostly narrow gauge, will be utilized. Most of the supplies will be imported from the United States.

A section of the French state forests has been turned over to the United States. American lumbermen will take out lumber for railroad ties, barracks and other purposes. In addition to this 30,000 tons of lumber will be imported from America monthly.

FIGHTING IN RUMANIA.

Berlin, July 18.—Via London.—Increased activity on the Rumanian front is reported in today's official announcement. Fighting was revived in the sectors of Archduke Joseph and Field Marshal von Mackensen. On the northern end of the Russian-Galician front in the regions of Riga, Dvinsk and Smorgon, the artillery engagements were more severe.

HEAVY WORK IN GALICIA.

Petrograd, July 18.—Heavy fighting is continuing in the region of Novica and Kalusz in eastern Galicia, the war office announced today. The Russians were driven from a height in this region by a strong attack but afterwards by a counter thrust re-occupied the eminence.

TANKS ON RUSSIAN FRONT.

Washington, July 18.—British armored motor detachments are taking part in the Russian offensive in Galicia, according to semi-official information received today from Petrograd by the Russian embassy. This is the first mention of the presence of British forces in Russia and says the armored cars are co-operating effectively with Belgian detachments sent there soon after the war began.

GERMAN FACTORY BLOWN UP.

Amsterdam, July 18.—The Neues Tagblatt of Stuttgart, Germany, reports that on Saturday a great explosion occurred at the Wilhelm Weissenbach factory. The building was destroyed, neighboring houses were damaged and greatly and windows were broken in the nearby village of Suedheim.

BERLIN ADMITS LOSS.

Berlin, July 18.—(Via London).—The trenches were recently captured by the Germans near Malincoot wood and on both sides of the Malincoot-Enes road, were penetrated by the French yesterday, the war office announces.

On the northern part of the front from the Yser to the Lys, the artillery fighting increased toward morning.

Mrs. Robert Walker, of Baltimore, mother of three small children, was specifically mentioned as one likely to be arrested.

As the result of the situations that have arisen in the homes of married women prisoners only single women and married women who can be spared at home easily were being taken today as volunteers for the next picketing demonstration.

Was a Great Shock.

"The sixty day sentence was a great shock to us," one of the leaders said today. "Naturally we did not expect such a heavy penalty, or we would have selected our pickets with greater care. It was nothing for some of the married women to be away from home three days, as they were on the occasion of the former sentence of our pickets, but two months' absence is something different."

Besides the married women, several others of the older prisoners also were released soon, it was reported today. Court officials have offered to make any arrangements whereby a sum of money can be deposited with the superintendent of the workhouse for the immediate payment of the fine day or night of any women who desire to be released.

State Council of Defense Approves Plan to Enroll Housewives.

Indianapolis, July 18.—Endorsement of a campaign to enroll on August 25 every housewife in Indiana in the Hoover food conservation movement was given by the state council of defense today, after hearing of the plan worked out by Dr. Harry E. Barnard, volunteer representative of the national food director in Indiana at the regular session of the council today. The council also gave its approval of the plan of Professor Christie to hold practical demonstrations of the successful methods of conserving fruits and vegetables, in every county in Indiana. Professor Christie reported great losses of foodstuffs due, he said, to the failure of many producers to realize the possibilities of modern methods as applied to the preservation of vegetables.

Mrs. Carl G. Fisher, of Indianapolis, will assist Dr. Barnard in directing the enrollment of Indiana women in the plan. The plan of Professor Christie, which was endorsed by Mr. Hoover, Indiana Ice Dealers' association, through its vice president, W. C. Wickery, of East Chicago, reported to the state council its willingness to devote for a "nominal charge" food storage space usually devoted to manure for the conservation of foodstuffs during the coming winter. The proposition was referred to a special committee.

I. W. W. LEADER WARNS GOVERNOR OF ARIZONA

Any More Deportations to Bring Reprisals He Threatens.

Globe, Ariz., July 18.—Warning that the Industrial Workers of the World would take the law into its own hands if any attempt is made to deport members of that organization was contained in a telegram from F. T. Little, organizer of the I. W. W., received by Governor Campbell last night and made public here today.

The telegram from Little, who recently left Globe, was dated at Salt Lake City, and says:

"Understand that the mine owners' mob will take same action at Globe and Miami as was taken at Bisbee. The membership of the I. W. W. is getting tired of the lawlessness of the capitalist class and will no longer stand for such action. If you, as governor, cannot uphold the law we will take same to our own hands. Will you act or move?"

In reply Governor Campbell said he felt sure no deportations would occur with federal troops stationed in the district and that he was using his best efforts to protect rights of all citizens. Concluding:

"I resent your disloyal and untimely threats in view of my earnest efforts to bring law and order and such forces as will maintain same, and further like behavior on your part will be punished to the full extent of my authority."

PRIVATE BRYANT WAS TOO ANXIOUS TO FIGHT

Member of U. S. Regulars Deserted in Order to Go to France.

New York, July 18.—The impatience of John Bryant, private in the regular army, according to his story on arriving here today in the steamer of an American ship, to get into the European struggle without waiting for the entry of this country into the war, has cost him his chance to fight with his regiment, he believes, is now on his way to the firing line. As for him, he was sent back to this country to answer for deserting.

Bryant said that early this year he was stationed with his regiment on Governor's Island. Seeing ships sailing away every day for Europe filled him with a yearning for active service, he said, and one day he shipped as a fireman on a tramp steamer going to France. When he reached the French port the American consul sent him back to this country. He wore his uniform on his arrival here. He said that he was perplexed as to just what his status now is.

THE MARKETS

PRICES ON WHOLESALE MARKET ARE GOING UP

Hay, Corn and Oats Figure in a Simultaneous Rise Wednesday Morning.

Doing what has been expected of them for a long time, hay, corn and oats, the major articles on the wholesale street market figured in an advance Wednesday morning. For weeks they have been held down in spite of rock bottom receipts, and it is very natural that an advance of some kind be made. In no case was the rise large enough to be sensational, but the rise was there nevertheless.

Hay went up two dollars at the top and sold at $12.00 to $13.00. Corn prices were enhanced 10 cents and now stand at $1.76 to $1.80 per bushel. Oats brought 75 cents per bushel. At those prices six loads of hay, two of corn and one of oats were sold Wednesday morning.

Wheat receipts are just as low as they can get and will probably stay that way until the new wheat makes its way to the markets. Prices are steady, close around two dollars and millers are doing very little besides preparing for the new crops. A slight change was made today in hog prices, pigs being quoted at $13.75, an increase of $1.50.

AUBURN COMPANY TO BE GIVEN FAREWELL

Plans Are Under Way for an All-Day Patriotic Demonstration.

[Special to The Sentinel.]
Auburn, Ind., July 18.—Plans are being made for a big public demonstration to be held in this city when Company K departs and the present plans are for an all-day patriotic celebration with a basket dinner at noon. This meeting is not only in honor of the members of Company K, but for all other men who have enlisted and will be called to other branches of the service. A committee consisting of Colonel A. L. Kuhlman of this city, Mrs. Carrie Fanning of Butler and E. D. Case of Fairfield township, has been appointed to arrange a program for this day. The exact date has not been set yet but will be in a few days.

FORT WAYNE GARDENS MAKE FINE SHOWING

Indianapolis Man Says Food Effort Here is Example for State.

Fort Wayne gardens are the best in Indiana, states Joseph Huxley, of Indianapolis, traveling man and interested in the food effort of the state, who was in Fort Wayne Tuesday afternoon.

Huxley was taken on a tour of inspection over the city Tuesday.
"Indianapolis is making a great effort, but their garden results will not compare with Fort Wayne," said Huxley at the conclusion of his forty mile ride.

"The gardens in Fort Wayne show that the folks here have kept right after them. This city is setting a fine example for Indiana."

Huxley has visited cities in every part of the state. He has taken special interest in their gardening effort. He is actively engaged in the food production effort in Indianapolis.

He knew of the work of F. W. Gray, Purdue expert, who was in the capital city before he came to Fort Wayne.

"Fort Wayne should produce more potatoes than Indianapolis," says Huxley. "The potato crop in Fort Wayne is the best I have seen. I am indeed surprised at the general fine showing."

The visitor was somewhat disappointed in the appearance of the Rotary garden, at the edge of the city. A part of the club patch seems to be sadly neglected, Huxley comments. A part of the rows which show least attention belong to men who started out with much zeal and who have not left the city, Huxley was told.

"I suppose their wives could not get out to tend the patches," said the visitor. "I must give the women much credit for the success of all city gardens. It is the women who have stayed by the job."

Beans are most menaced by the present wet weather. Food Expert

Gray gives out. Rust and a form of blight is attacking the bean crops quite generally about the city, Gray finds.
As a remedy against the trouble Gray warns not to try to cultivate the beans when the vines are wet, either from rain or dew. Stirring the vines at that time aids in scattering the disease germs, he gives out. Where the light appears in startling proportions Gray urges the use of the Bordeaux mixture on the vines.

GARRETT MAN HURT IN FALL DOWN STAIRS

Rollo Holloper Suffers Broken Shoulder and Other Injuries.

(Special to The Sentinel).
Garrett, Ind., July 18.—Rollo Holloper, of East King street, fell down the cellar stairs at his home yesterday and suffered a broken shoulder. Mr. Holloper is a councilman from the Second ward and is a member of the firm of Workman & Holloper, barbers.

Garrett Brief Notes.
Henry Sartor has moved his shoe shop from East King street to Cowen street, having purchased the building he now occupies.

Among the Garrett people who attended the home coming of the Church of Christ at Newville Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bohls, Mrs. F. Ravier, Mrs.
Martin Shaffer and Miss Ruth Barge.
Among the interesting things on the program were addresses by Rev. Charles Reign Scoville, of Chicago, a well known this city yesterday visiting her sister, Mrs. Amanda Donovan, who is a patient at Sacred Heart hospital. They expect to take the latter lady home tomorrow.

Mrs. Charles Chaw left today for Toledo, where she will spend the remainder of the week with Mrs. C. B. Phillips.
Work on the new road from the end of North Randolph street to the school house a mile north of the city was commenced this week under the supervision of Trustee Schutt and Civil Engineer

IN THE CHURCHES NEXT CONVENTION OF LEAGUE AT BUFFALO

Officers of Lutheran Society Close Sessions Here on Tuesday.

Before closing the meeting of national officers of the Waltham league, held here Monday and Tuesday, it was decided to hold the 1918 convention in Buffalo, N. Y.

A silver jubilee celebration will be held.
This was planned for the 1917 convention but because of the number of members now in the army it was postponed. The first Waltham league was formed in Buffalo.

Following the business session Tuesday afternoon an automobile trip was made through the city, visiting officers being taken in cars of Fort Wayne Wal-ther leagues. During the meeting prior to the trip Dr. H. P. Eckert, of Pittsburg, fourth vice-president of the Missouri synod, and president of the Lutheran publicity bureau, was heard in an address on the topic, "Lutheran Publicity."

TALKS ON IMMORTALITY.
Evangelist Allen Says It is a Gift of God.

Evangelist Allen spoke Tuesday night at the tent on West Main street on the subject, "Is Man Immortal?" Contrary to the general teaching of the Christian world he took the position that man was not immortal, not that he would never receive immortality or that he would not have eternal life, but that by nature he is subject to death and immortality as a gift of God.

The evangelist showed first that God alone is immortal (1 Tim. 6:16).
Second, that we should be seekers after it; third, that we may secure it through the gospel; fourth, that we shall finally, if faithful to Christ, get it at the resurrection, not before. The evangelist attributed the widespread ignorance on this question to a negligence in studying the scripture.

Rev. George Thiele, brother of Rev.
Charles Thiele, rector of St. Peter's church in this city, is critically ill at St.
Francis hospital, Evanston, Ill. He is not expected to live. Rev. Charles Thiele is now in Evanston, having gone there one week ago in answer to a telegram informing him of his brother's condition.
He will remain until a change for better or worse is noted in his brother's condition. In the meantime a visiting priest will assist Rev. John Dapp at St. Peter's.

VIC SAIER TO PIRATES.

Pittsburg, July 18.—With the Cincinnati National league club having waived its claim to the services of Vic Saier, the former Chicago National's first baseman today became the property of the Pittsburg club, according to announcement here. Saier sustained a broken leg early in the season and after Chicago club had obtained Fred Merkle from Brooklyn, Saier was given his release. Both Pittsburg and Cincinnati entered claims for the infielder. The Cincinnati club notified President Dreyfuss, of the Pittsburg team, last night that it had waived claim.

PROHIBITION CAUSE NOT HURT BY RULING

Decision on Case of the Constitution Harmless on Dry Law.

Indianapolis, July 18.—Anti-Saloon league officials, in a public statement, express the belief that the cause of prohibition has not been greatly injured by the recent decision of the supreme court invalidating the constitutional convention law. This decision simply closes the door to constitutional prohibition, but does not in any way affect the bone dry statute which will go into force April 3, next year, according to the league statement.

The practical effect of the decision is to make the election of a legislature next year the storm center of interest from the prohibition point of view.
The league will immediately begin to lay its plans to draw the wet and dry line in the primaries next spring. Dry candidates will be supported against wet candidates in all the parties.
Later in the fall election support will be given to dry candidates as against wet candidates, irrespective of party lines. The league expresses confidence that as a result of this sort of campaign, they will be as successful next year as they were last year in getting a dry legislature. It is expected that the liquor interests will attempt to control the next legislature in the hope of repealing the prohibition law, but dry leaders profess not to be greatly concerned regarding the matter. It is pointed out that many hold-over senators are recorded in favor of prohibition by the vote in the last session. Furthermore, the dries will need to muster only twenty-five votes in the senate to prevent the repeal of the law. It is up to the liquor interests to get a clear majority in both houses of the legislature, a thing dry leaders point out as highly improbable.

League leaders were planning to make a fight for the control of the next legislature even though a constitutional convention were held. It is pointed out that a national constitutional amendment is expected soon to be submitted by congress. In such an event, the dries would need to control the legislature in order to ratify the amendment.

Announcement has been made also that the league will take an active part in city and municipal elections this fall, looking toward the election of city officials who can be depended upon to enforce the bone dry law after April 2 next year.

Piqua, O., July 18.—Arrested last night on charges of having offered bribes to members of the city council of Bradford, O., to get a power and light franchise and contract through the council, R. F. Ash, a traction and light financier, of Richmond, Ind., and Timothy E. Glenn, mayor of New Paris, O., today were released on bond of $5,000 each. Their preliminary hearing will be held tomorrow.

According to Sheriff Burnet and Prosecutor Kerr, of Miami county, who made the arrests, they have information showing that Ash and Glenn offered bribes of from $100 to $300 to the council members. Prosecutor Kerr announced today that none of the councilmen probably will be arrested.
The Bradford council Monday night granted a twenty-five year franchise and a ten-year contract to the Bradford & Gettysburg Light and Power company, of which Mayor Glenn and Mr. Ash are stockholders.

FELL ANCIENT TREE IN NEW YORK CENTER

New York, July 18.—Workmen today put the axe to the largest of the seven giant sycamore trees that have stood guard for a century or more over the graveyard of the Trinity church yard.
The tree had become de-cayed and was in danger of falling. The exact age of the tree is not on record but an official of the church said it dated back more than 200 years, and had been in existence as a sapling when the first house of worship was built. At that time there were deer in the forests of Manhattan and Indians were common. At any rate the tree was in full strength in 1776 when Trinity's first church was destroyed by fire.

HARD PENALTIES SHOCKED THE LADIES

Washington, July 18.—Home, husband and children today became vital issues in the cases of some of the sixteen suffragists sent to jail here yesterday for their demonstration in front of the white house last Saturday, and it appears that these forces would be sufficient to cause several of the eight married prisoners to be released by payment of fines regardless of their personal wishes.

At least one husband is said to be determined that his wife shall be returned to their children, and police court attaches said another had been interviewing officials regarding payment of a fine.

Washington, July 18.—Although complete reports from seven states were still lacking early today, Provost Marshal General Crowder began final preparations for the national lottery which will determine the order in which 10,000,000 registered men will come forward for military service.

The plan for the drawing has been worked out in detail and approved by Secretary Baker. It will be carefully explained to press representatives before it is given out for publication.

Machinery Ready.
The machinery for the lottery has been arranged and the only points undecided are the exact place in Washington where the drawing will take place and the date. It was suggested today that a committee room at the capitol be used.

There are many questions, such as wire facilities, which must be considered, and it is probable that General Crowder and the Washington correspondents will work out an agreement on this point.

The manifestants were grouped along the same part of the Nevsky Prospect. A number of stray shots were heard, followed by the firing of rifles against upper windows and roof tops at a seemingly imaginary foe.

Chicago, July 18.—Auditors of the federal trade commission today began the work of examining the books of the big packing houses of Chicago for the purpose of determining the cost of producing and marketing meats and similar food commodities.

Their action is the initial step in a far reaching investigation into the cost of producing food, steel, iron, coal and oil, in accordance with an order of President Wilson to ascertain what constitutes a fair profit.

Joseph E. Davies, member of the commission who arrived yesterday, inspected a number of plants at the stockyards and later held a conference with representatives of the leading packing houses, who arranged to give the investigators access to the books of the companies from which it is expected to obtain the basic cost of producing and marketing meats.

He wanted to know why it was that the national guard from New England is to be sent to southern training camps, while the army to be raised by conscription is to be trained at a camp in central Massachusetts.

Washington, July 19.—President Wilson today issued pardons for the sixteen suffragists who are serving a sixty-day sentence in the workhouse at Occoquan, Va., for picketing in front of the white house.

Secretary Tumulty said the pardon must speak for itself and the white house would have no statement to make of the president's reason for his action.

Although the women held out steadfastly against the payments of fines or acceptance of pardons, the husbands of half a dozen of them have been active in trying to bring about the release of their wives. Several of the women have small children at home. Upon issuance of pardons liberty was no longer a matter of choice. Arrangements were made by the authorities to release all the prisoners as soon as the necessary documents from the de-

SKIPPER WATCHES A TORPEDO GRAZE HIS SHIP'S LENGTH

An Atlantic Port, July 19.—The experience of watching a torpedo from a German U-boat, which took part in sinking the American oil tanker John D. Archbold, skinned along the length of his own ship about two feet away and pass on harmlessly, was related here today by a sea captain who returned on a French ship with his crew after delivering a steamer built on the great lakes to her French purchasers.

The captain said he was watching the sinking of the Archbold, which occurred June 16, when suddenly a submarine periscope was sighted off his own bow and he swerved his ship sharply. That this saved her was demonstrated by the course of the torpedo which, he said, was plainly visible as it passed. By this time he had brought his stern gun to bear on the attacker and the gunners opened fire, sending four shells at the U-boat. The last one, he said, made a great splash, which was followed by a cloud of vapor and the submarine disappeared. He expressed confidence that the German boat was destroyed.

NEW YORK IS TO GET FOOD

New York Food Distribution Body Trying to Work It Out.

New York, July 19.—The problem of providing 30,000,000 meals a day for the 10,000,000 people in and around New York city and to have these meals provided at fair prices with the food in fair proportion to the supply and demand here and from the allies, is to be worked out by the central committee of the New York Food Distributors association. The first meeting which was held here yesterday is to be followed by others until, it was said, plans are perfected for conserving the food supply of the Metropolitan district. Those who attended the meeting, which was the first of its kind since the civil war, acted for 25,000 food dealers.

Present plans provide for the creation of an information bureau to keep the public informed as to prices, supplies and the detailed condition of the markets. It was said, an average of 1,100 cars of food arrive daily in New York and the committee plans to record the arrival of all incoming food and report to the public its condition

GAVE THEM A BIG SURPRISE

Crown Prince's Army Got Shock of Its Life at Verdun.

FRENCH INFANTRY ATTACK WAS EXTRA
Swept Out of Finest Observation Positions by the Charge.

French Front in France, July 18.—(By the Associated Press.)—The crown prince's army suffered the rudest shock when the French yesterday attacked and recaptured all the positions northwest of Verdun. These cost the Germans much hard fighting when they took them from the French.

The affair cost the Germans not only the loss of their former conquest and about 500 prisoners, but the French cut into their line and repeated counter attacks by the Germans failed to recover any part thereof and resulted even in more losses.

Had Good Lookout Posts.
The Germans when they advanced at the end of June obtained possession of a number of observatories, giving them splendid views of the French line.

The Germans have been for several days expecting the French would try to shell them out but did not expect an infantry attack. The French were obliged to delay the movement owing to bad weather but continued the heavy bombardment, causing the Germans such losses that they were obliged to take the tenth reserve division which was holding their positions out of the trenches as some of its companies had been reduced to fifty men each. The twenty-ninth division replaced it, supported by the forty-eighth division, composed of fresh troops brought from the Russian front.

A Thorough Surprise.
It was while the French were proceeding that the French attacked, thoroughly surprising the enemy by appearing in their trenches while the bombardment was proceeding.

The French battalions were greatly animated. In a few seconds they had surmounted the objects separating the armies and disappeared down on the other side. Before the Germans could recover, the French were within the third line German trenches. The enemy's disorder was so great that the French were able to gather many positions and dashed even further forward than they intended and occupied ground on a three hundred yard front of what had been French positions before the German attack in June.

The French held all the observatories overlooking the slopes of Le Mort Homme and hill 304. The whole engagement lasted thirty minutes. The first German reaction occurred unsuccessfully twelve hours later.

GERMANS GAIN AND LOSE.

Paris, July 19.—The Germans made an attack last night on a front of 800 metres south of St. Quentin. The war office announced that the enemy gained a footing in the French first line but was expelled from the greater part of these positions by a counter attack. A German attempt to regain ground captured by the French near Avocourt wood, on the Verdun front, was defeated.

AMUSE AMERICAN WOUNDED.

BOAT RACING AT $50,000 A DAY SPORT OF DUTCH

New York, July 19.—Boat racing at a cost of about $50,000 a day to the Holland-American line is the favorite amusement of the war-bound crews of thirty odd Dutch ships lying in the Hudson river, from 68th street to Spuyten Duyvil. In queer little boats, resembling Chinese junks, of the Arabian sampans, Dutch seamen have added an old world picture to the busy harbor. Close finishes and team rivalry mark the daily races, which represent a far greater expenditure than the cost of any great international yacht event. At the races yesterday afternoon, off 69th street, Piote Slamartee, of the steamship Elizabeth, was first, with Jan Blikker Voskull, of the steamship Verhaven, second. Those near the finish line said Hendrik Voskull, of the Alleen, had a good chance for third place, but got mixed up in the wake of an excursion boat and did not finish.

YOU DON'T LEAVE SHOES OUTSIDE IN BERLIN HOTEL

Berlin, July 18.—Via London, July 19.—The time honored custom among hotel guests of depositing one's footwear in the corridor outside the door to have it polished, is likely to come into disuse for the time being. The growing demand for shoes, even cast-offs, has encouraged thefts of footwear in hotels.

In order to rescue hotel guests from their predicament in the case of such losses, the imperial clothing bureau has ordered that purchasing certificates be issued without the ordinary restrictions whenever the applicant is able to prove that he has been robbed of his boots in a hotel.

KILLS SELF AND PARAMOUR

George Cooper and Dorothy Quawn Dead as Result of Double Shooting.

TRAGEDY ENACTED AT 242 NORTH CALHOUN

Quarrel of Colored Couple Has Fatal Ending—In Trouble Before.

A double shooting in which a negro shot his lady friend and then committed suicide marked another tragedy for the jail flats, Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock. George Cooper, 34, negro, ended an argument with his paramour by shooting her through the head as she ran towards the back door of the large house, 242 North Calhoun street. The woman, Dorothy Quawn, 30, also colored, sank to the kitchen floor, dead. Cooper then turned the weapon upon himself and shot himself through the head.

Edward Franklin, 25, colored, is thought to be the only witness of the double tragedy. Other colored people staying in the house claimed that they were not down stairs at the time of the shooting. All the negroes, numbering eight, who roomed at the house, are being held at police headquarters for witnesses, to be examined later by officers and the coroner.

Franklin says that Cooper drew a large revolver and pursued the woman, after they had engaged in a volley of bitter words. Dorothy Quawn ran towards the rear door. As she reached the doorway Cooper fired three times. The woman wilted to the floor. Cooper turned about and walked a few steps back along the hallway. Then he placed the revolver to his breast and there was another report. He crumpled down in a half sitting posture with his arm above his head.

Screams from women in the house, who were frightened by the shooting, soon aroused neighbors. A great crowd gathered before the door of the large house. Police were called. The bodies were not disturbed until the coroner was summoned. He pronounced death due to murder in the woman's case and suicide for Cooper.

The pair have been in police court several times on charges of associating. They claimed to be married the first time they appeared before the city judge. They have figured in several disorderly cases in the jail flat district of late. Mrs. Quawn was sometimes known by the name of Wilson.

Similar Tragedy Once Before.
The house where the murder and suicide was carried out Thursday morning has known the report of deadly weapons before. Twelve years ago, when the palatial house was aflame with light and lively with music, in the days when it was the center of the notorious "red light" section.

MOSCOW MAY BE GOVERNMENT SEAT

Government at Petrograd Said Now to be in Full Control of City.

London, July 19.—A Reuter dispatch from Petrograd says the number of killed or wounded in the two days of disorder there is estimated at about 500.

MANY MOVE TO MOSCOW.

Petrograd, July 19.—An extraordinary cabinet council is discussing the proposal to transfer the seat of the provisional government to Moscow.

Another member of the Russian provisional government resigned today. The minister who tendered his resignation was M. Perevceff, who held the portfolio of justice.

GOVERNMENT IN CONTROL.

Petrograd, Wednesday, July 18.—The government controls the city today as completely as the Bolsheviks appeared to control it yesterday.

LENINE GERMAN TOOL.

Petrograd, July 19.—A letter from General Brussloff's chief of staff states that Nikolai Lenin, the radical socialist leader, is an agent of the German general staff.

The evidence was traced through the confession of Lieutenant Ermolenko that he was sent to the front of the sixth Russian army to make a propaganda in favor of early peace with Germany.

Lenine's task was to compromise the provisional government in the eyes of the people by every possible means. Funds were sent through the intermediary of an employee of the German legation at Stockholm. The alleged chief of German in Russia is Maxim Koslovsky, to whose account two million rubles are now standing, it is stated.

As it rode grimly about the streets there was no doubt in the minds of the people of its attitude in the event that the anti-government demonstration took a more serious turn. The regiment was cheered by the crowds it passed. It met several groups of marching Bolsheviks but in no case were the soldiers molested by them. The regiment showed no disposition to interfere with the Bolsheviks as long as their activities were no more aggressive. A heavy rainstorm at dusk effectually prevented a collision which might otherwise have occurred. A large proportion of sailors and soldiers who came to assist in the demonstration returned to Kronstadt.

The cabinet situation tonight appeared as follows:

Deputies approaching Premier Lvoff with a proposition to reform the cabinet based upon the imposition of their own policies in the new body. The premier rejected the suggestion and in reply offered to secure the retirement of the

SHARKS SWINDLE WITH NEW GAME FOR EXEMPTION

Chicago, July 19.—That many men, chiefly foreign born, have been swindled by persons claiming to be lawyers, who offered to obtain for them exemption from the draft law, was the charge made today by a representative of the Immigrants Protective League, of which Federal Judge Julian W. Mack is president. It is declared that many of the men approached have paid various sums of money on the representation from the alleged lawyers that they would present their claims for exemption to the boards and secure them relief from war service.

The Immigrants Protective League has issued a warning against all persons who promise to obtain exemptions and offers aid to all foreign born who desire information about the draft law.

MASTER KEY TO MANY FATES IN ARMY DRAWINGS

Easy and Simple System Fair to Each

Order in an Hour.

DRAWING AT 9:30 IN SENATE CHAMBER

Washington, July 19.—Nine thirty o'clock tomorrow morning in a committee room of the senate office building have been fixed as the time and place for the war army drawing.

Ten million men are registered in the United States for war service—687,000 are needed in the first call for the national army. Who shall go first?

This question is asked and the method by which it is to be answered outlined by Provost Marshal General Crowder, in an explanation issued today of the great drawing about to be held in Washington.

The scheme evolved is so simple that the drawing of one set of a thousand numerals and another of eleven will fix with absolute equality of chance the order in which every one of the ten million registrants shall report to his local

ENGLAND CUTS USE OF FLOUR TEN PER CENT

Washington, July 19.—A decrease of 10 per cent in the consumption of flour in England in June is the claim made by the national war savings committee as a result of the "eat-less-bread" campaign inaugurated to conserve bread, according to a report received by Herbert C. Hoover today. This saving, it is stated, is in excess of all expectations. The success of the educational campaign in England, it is stated, is shown by the fact that in March the saving was but two per cent, and in April four per cent, as against ten per cent for June. The committee says that it expects an even greater increase in the future and gives much of the credit to the intelligent co-operation of women in the work.

WILL RESIGN CHAIRMANSHIP

Charles A. Greathouse to Give State Democratic Leadership.

APPOINTMENT HAS BEEN CONFIRMED

Made Member of Federal Vocational School Board by Wilson.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 19.—Charles A. Greathouse announced today that his resignation as democratic state chairman would be tendered at the next meeting of the state committee.

Mr. Greathouse made this statement after he had received official notice that his appointment by President Wilson to the board of vocational education had been confirmed by the United States senate. In announcing his resignation, Mr. Greathouse said that in all the years he had been connected with the educational system of Indiana he had never let politics interfere with the conduct of his office as state superintendent of public instruction, county superintendent, city superintendent and high school principal, and that he felt he should resign as state chairman in view of his appointment.

The former state official also stated that his duties would require him to spend much time in Washington. The date of the next meeting of the demo-

FALL CAUSES MAN'S DEATH

Obadiah Aurand Breaks Neck When Limb Gives Way.

ACCIDENT HAPPENS AT FOREST, OHIO

Had Climbed Into Tree to Repair Rope of Swing.

As a result of a broken neck, sustained when he fell from a tree, Obadiah S. Aurand, 30 years old, 2205 Gay street, died at the St. Joseph hospital at 1:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

The accident which resulted in Aurand's death happened at Forest, Ohio, Wednesday afternoon. He had been at that place visiting relatives. After he had eaten his dinner, he went with several children into a neighboring yard to swing. It was suggested that the rope of the swing looked weak, and might give way. Aurand then climbed into the tree to make the rope more solid, and while in a stooping position, with his head downward, the limb on which he was resting gave way. He fell twenty feet, sustaining a broken neck. He was removed to the St. Joseph hospital, and lived until early Thursday morning.

Aurand was born in Dunkirk, O., October 13, 1887. He was employed as a blacksmith helper at the S. B.

PICKED FOR DEATH WORK

"Shockunits" Made Up of Men Known to Be Brave
and Easily Spared.

INSUBORDINATE
ALSO SHARE GLORY

Is Revival of "Forlorn
Hope" Idea of an Older
Day in War.

French Front, July 18.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Full and interesting details of the organization of the German formations known as "shockunits," "shocktruppen," indicate that the German offensive at the front is now divided into superior and inferior grades of soldiers. The "shockunits" specially formed for difficult operations which the ordinary regiments evidently are regarded as unqualified to undertake, are formed from among the young vigorous men of the regular battalions.

They are nearly all unmarried men, or if married are childless and this regulation has been drafted for the reason that whenever they are sent into action, they encounter overwhelming chances of losing their lives. They, in fact, resemble the "forlorn hopes" of old-time wars, except that they are not volunteers.

Insurgents Also In It.
German prisoners assert that soldiers who are insubordinate or who do not take kindly to the discipline of the army are sent into the ranks of these special units destined to sacrifice themselves in attacks on especially important positions or in attempts which hitherto have generally proved vain, to recapture positions such as the Chemin des Dames from the French.

Henceforth, according to the newest regulations, each German army corps is to organize "shockunits" of its own. Orders have been issued by the German high command that immediately certain cases each infantry brigade is to have a "shockunit" consisting of a company, and the companies may be united, should circumstances call for it, into a battalion to be at the service of the army corps commander.

Distributed Among Battalions.
Often the men of such a battalion are distributed in small units among the ordinary battalions engaged. They are specially instructed beforehand, as to the most important points aimed at in the attack and they act as guides to their less specialized comrades. Their work is to make breaches in the enemy line, to lead the way into the allies' trenches, to destroy machine gun emplacements and field fortresses with the help of the special cannon and other weapons at their disposal, and eventually to aid in the reorganization for defense against counter attack of any position which may be captured. As soon as the heavy fighting is over, the men of the "shockunit" withdraw to the rear and rejoin the battalion in readiness to be hurried off to any other part of the line where hot work is in progress.

DOES WIFEY HAVE TO SEW ON VEST BUTTONS?

Candy Maker Tries to Hide Behind That Form of Neglect.

Charles J. Baird, candy and ice cream maker, gave a counter-charge on a non-sport complaint in police court Wednesday morning that his wife has not sewed a button on his vest or shirts for five years. He has to take his damaged garments to the tailor for mending, he says.

"That is no grounds for your neglect," said Deputy Prosecutor Hoffman.

"It may be," replied the attorney who defended Baird. The wife will not keep the house in order, the husband said. The couple have been forced to move several times because of her neglect, Baird said.

"Maybe she is not able to work," interposed the deputy prosecutor. "How much do you weigh?" inquired Baird's attorney when Mrs. Baird, a corpulent woman, took the stand.

"We object," said Hoffman. "You cannot tell about a person's health by their weight." Judge Kerr sustained the objection.

Mrs. Baird blamed booze for her family troubles. She says her husband spends his money for drink. Baird was ordered to pay $6 a week towards the keeping of his wife.

Other Police Court Cases.

HERO DEEDS ARE SECRET

Britain Gives Another Victoria Cross, But Won't Tell Reason.

NEW ZEALANDER IN NAVY IS HONORED

Second Time Naval Man is Decorated and the Occasion Suppressed.

London, July 3.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—For the second time during the war, the Victoria cross has been awarded without any detailed account of the reason being published. The first instance was that of Commander Gordon Campbell, of the navy; the second instance is Lieutenant Commander W. E. Sanders, of the naval reserve. The official notice of the honor to Sanders says merely: "In recognition of conspicuous gallantry, consummate coolness and skill in command of one of his majesty's ships in action."

Some Haste About It. Commander Campbell was actually decorated by the king before the award of the Victoria Cross was published in the official Gazette and he received also the distinguished service order medal under similar circumstances a short time earlier, and was given special promotion over the heads of about 700 officers. Current rumors ascribed his remarkable preference to work against submarines.

The advancement of Sanders has been even more remarkable. He was a commander in the naval reserve as a sub-lieutenant a year ago. The rule is that an officer shall serve as lieutenant before getting further advancement, but he has risen by special dispensation from sub-lieutenant to lieutenant commander in less than a year.

Sanders is a native of New Zealand and is 39 years old. He was an officer on sailing ships from the age of 19 and came to England early in 1914 with the idea of entering the navy, obtaining a commission after a slight delay.

"He is one of the most capable youngsters we have picked up since the war began," said an officer at a naval base the other day. "Of course, we all know why he got the V. HENERY MAY PROVE TO BE SHREWD CROOK

Worked "Show Me Money" Game on Passing Japanese.

Harry Henery, 30, quaking and sweating because he has been shut out from cocaine for thirty hours, may prove to be a clever crook. He is suspected of stealing two valuable cameras, valued at $220, from the Meyer Bros. drug store, corner of Calhoun and Columbia streets, Wednesday morning. The cameras were missed after Henery had left the store.

In a letter to a woman friend in Michigan, which letter was intercepted by Detective Sergeant Walter Immel, Henery says "I have pulled nothing of value as yet. May have $10,000 soon for you."

It is only a lingering charge which is holding the man although he is under $500 bond. Detective Immel did not wish to take advantage of the man's weakened state to attempt to force a confession from him in police court Thursday morning. His trial is set for July 27. In the meantime the police expect to find a record of visits which Henery has paid to other cities.

Arrest of the man followed a complaint by a Japanese traveler who reported that he was robbed of $20 when he passed through the city on a Nickel Plate train Wednesday morning. Railroad detectives and Detective Immel went to work at once. Henery was arrested by Nickel Plate Officers Crawley and Harris and Immel. The prisoner is said to have virtually admitted his guilt. He had $20 on his person.

The Japanese, who gave his name as M. Morita, was traveling east. He said that a man approached him and showing a star stated that he was a government agent, and asked to count the foreigner's money. Morita handed over his money. When the roll was returned it was $20 short. Henery is believed to have been the man who alighted from the moving train as the passenger reached the Harrison street crossing.

An effort will be made to bring the foreigner back to Fort Wayne to identify Henery. Police are also working on the theory that it was Henery who stole the valuable cameras from the drug store. A physician has been called several times to care for the prisoner, who is in a state of collapse because of his absence from drug. Criminal inquiry will follow as to where the man has been procuring the stimulant.

WHO GOT FIFTY CENTS NOT AS YET DECIDED

John Worley, Only One of Many Negroes, Gathered in Room.

George Johnson, big and talkative and dark as a slacker's future, lost fifty cents from beneath his pillow as he slumbered in a Holman street rooming house, Wednesday night. Another negro lost thirty-five cents. Some more missed dimes and nickels. The landlady in the place was short a stickpin when she awakened Thursday morning.

John Worley, 27, colored, was unfortunate in having been a newcomer into the midst of those who slept in the apartments. He was accused of the thefts. He proclaimed his innocence.

"Somebody got the money," loudly announced Johnson from the witness stand in the city court Thursday morning.

"Just a minute," halted Deputy Prosecutor Hoffman, who feared that Johnson could not be checked in his verbal procedure.

"All right, colonel," said Johnson. Now the court attaches call the popular attorney "colonel."

Judge Kerr agreed that somebody got some money but he could not glean sufficient proof to convict Worley. The case was dismissed.

Complexion Lotion! Use Fresh Lemons and Strain Juice

Any grocer will sell you two fresh lemons and your drug store will supply you with three ounces of orchard white. Put these in a bottle and shake well. Here you have a whole quart of the most wonderful lemon lotion at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams.

Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then the lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoother and beautifier.

Used by day, this sweetly fragrant lotion protects the skin from the evil effects of the weather and prevents roughness, redness, chafing and smarting. At night it works in the pores while you sleep, and is intended to bring a freshness and peach-like beauty that wins envy and admiration.

Just try it! Make up a quart pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It naturally helps to whiten, soften, freshen and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It works marvelously on rough, red hands. Try it and see for yourself.—Advertisement.

John L. Sullivan on Overeating.
John L. Sullivan, the ex-pugilist, says that more people die from overeating than from drink. One of the most prominent physicians in England says that is also the case over there. No wonder that so many people are troubled with indigestion. If you have trouble with your stomach adopt a diet suited to your age and occupation. Then if you should have indigestion take Chamberlain's Tablets. They strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally.—Advertisement.

Catarrrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. P. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

The Cause of Constipation.
Constipation is usually due to a lack of water in the excrement. To effect a cure you must take more water into the system. It may be months, however, before this has any appreciable effect on the bowels, but when persisted in and fruits and vegetables containing water are eaten freely, the condition may be overcome. In the meantime use the mildest laxatives obtainable and take only enough to produce the desired effect. Chamberlain's Tablets are one of the best. They are easy to take and most agreeable in effect.—Advertisement.

DEFIANCE COUNTY'S QUOTA.

Defiance, O., July 19.—Reports from Columbus state that Defiance county will be called upon to furnish thirty-four in the selective draft which is now under way. This number was determined by deducting the total men enlisted in the army, navy, marines and guards, from the total to be furnished by the county. The reason the number for the county is so small is accounted for by the fact that the county has two companies of national guards and the large number of regular army men and enlistments in the navy.

INVENTED STORY TO HELP HIS BEGGING

Ex-Naval Man Started the Tale of Disaster to American Ships.

Passaic, N. J., July 19.—The man who started rumors of disaster to American warships, which grew into wild reports that the New York naval hospital was overcrowded with wounded men is believed to have been found in the persons of Charles E. Knapp, District Attorney Lynch has obtained a confession from Knapp which is said to contain a vivid picture of the imaginary blowing up of an American dreadnaught. The prisoner, who was sentenced to a year in jail on a charge of disorderly conduct probably will be the subject of a federal grand jury investigation.

Knapp's purpose in spreading the story, it is said, was to profit financially from sympathy he aroused by claiming to be one of the survivors of the "battle." He pled his begging operations successfully among sailors, soldiers and marines it is declared.
When arrested Knapp was wearing the uniform of a chief gunner's mate, and had five re-enlistment stripes on his sleeve. Lieutenant W. J. Moses, in charge of navy recognition in Newark found that Knapp was dishonorably discharged from the United States ship Hancock in 1909, and previously had been a naval prisoner on charges of desertion and drunkenness.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 18, 1917.

BISBEE AND HER REMORSE.

Bisbee, which somehow almost seems to spell out its identity as an Arizona town, is reported quiet and about normal, but still vigilant with gun in hand at the city gates. Bisbee is not looking for more trouble with the Industrial Workers of the World, but is taking no chances. What was done last week to rid the community of disturbers and to pledge its industries a decent chance to operate appears to have been salutary as to the main point, albeit extra-legal, extra-constitutional and all that—the uncommon expedients adopted together making up an interesting program for academic discussion that is not undergoing any species of neglect in quarters whence customarily issue heavy disquisitions bearing upon the veneration due venerable things.

But Bisbee had a condition and not a theory and proceeded to do with it as the peculiar emergence of the case appeared to dictate. The process was not without accompaniment of pain, shock to reason and a certain dislocation of all orderly and regulated procedure, though in the results there are some compensations that are now material and visible. Bisbee is again busy at her business and she possesses her highways and byways and all the rights and privileges thereunto pertaining. That is something, even if had at the expense of recourse to the "extras," in which there are always invested the dormant perils of lawless precedent and example. So President Wilson told Bisbee through the governor of Arizona and Bisbee, no doubt, stands confessing most proper rebuke and suitable contrition, but still, gun in hand, at the gate to see what's coming down the road.

Bisbee was lawless. Bisbee did set up rule of the mob. Bisbee did lay the hand of anarchy violence upon some hundreds of fellow humans and chase them out of town and over the borders of the state. But Bisbee had come to know the I. W. W. and to know was not to esteem; the rather to fear. When men take counsel of fear they do one of two things. They run or they stand up for a good two-fisted fight of self-defense. Bisbee couldn't run, even if that can be imagined, and so Bisbee did the other thing, which was logic of a superior kind. The evil of it is not so much in or of Bisbee as that it opens a perfectly elegant vista of possibilities to other communities of the far west, where the I. W. W. moves about with covert design to stop the war, bring society to its senses and hurry up the millennial dawn by sabotage, by strikes, by incineration and by murder.

So Bisbee, signally achieving a salutary result, put into it the employment of an outright bad principle, whereof the moral responsibilities are immense. This doubtless will ride that Arizona town like an incubus, filling its days with apprehensions and its nights with marish dreams. Still with all this, there may be some comfort in the occasional reflection that Bisbee and not the I. W. W. miscreants is bossing Bisbee.

RUSSIA CUTTING UP AGAIN.

Notwithstanding the brilliant work of Kerensky in restoring organization, morale and initiative to the Russian armies at the front, Russia is not yet out of the woods. The cabinet crisis and the popular disturbances in Petrograd show that much, even if reason had failed to apprehend that a thorough stability were unlikely. Russia has more problems than the conduct of the war and the making of a peace acceptable to the people. The paramount necessity lies in getting the people to have some confidence in their government and next to that in getting a government that can be trusted to stick together.

So far most of the men who have appeared in the ministry of the provisional government have seemed to be going on the theory that each one should have his own way. When this could not be there was trouble that resulted in either a small-minded minister getting mad and then getting out, or in some big man like Prof. Milukoff finding it impossible to remain in office. Russia has some able men who will pull her through if they are given the chance, but this cannot be except there be some stabilizing of affairs at the capital. Hands that are strong enough and heads that are wise enough to guide the recreated state without violating democracy are none too numerous in Russia and the most ought to be made of those who are willing to serve.

The cabinet has just broken up and several ministers have deserted. Armed collisions have taken place in the streets, the Finnish diet is attempting to cut Finland entirely loose from Russia and the Ukrainian question is acute and offering excellent prospect of further serious trouble. All this is bound to tell against the brilliant offensive that Kerensky has prepared the army for. Russian arms have won much since the first of the month and if there be no developments back of the lines to halt the offensive the face of the war may be changed in a few weeks. But there can be no telling what a couple of hundred millions of fresh-made and untrained democrats in Russia may do next. They may settle down to wait upon the not very swift processes of making a democratic government that can govern, or they may suddenly rise up demanding to be told the use of any government at all.

It is unfortunate in the extreme that Russia should be cutting up again just at a time when her armies are striking so effectively. But there can be no accounting for events in a land in which two hundred millions have suddenly found, after ages of smothering tyranny, that they are free—free to shout, to denounce, to proclaim, to demand and to raise Cain generally if they feel like it.

GUESSING AT POPULATION.

Doubtless there is in fairness at least to be said for the census bureau that the system upon which the draft estimates were based is not a mathematical infallibility. It is the same system that many a city endorses and approves and quotes as testimony to the growth of population in the ten-year period between the regular census-takings, when there is a real count of noses. It is no more than a systematized manner of guessing that such and such a percentage of growth will be repeated. It does not always work; indeed, seldom does. Census returns very infrequently verify the census estimates or come near it. The reverse is true, occasionally, when conditions induce a marvelous growth, as the automobile industry did in Detroit and some other cities between 1900 and 1910.

During the last decennial period there was an amazing industrial development throughout the north. Until the war put a stop to immigration foreign labor was pouring in at a great rate to meet the demand. Here was furnished a basis of estimate that does not hold good for the present and it undoubtedly is the fact that the north has in general drawn more than a fair allotment of soldiers for the draft, and the south has not been required to furnish what ought to be taken from that section.

There may be design in this to the end that too large a proportion of colored troops be not put into the ranks, though there never has been any recorded objection of southerners to the colored citizen shouldering arms and fighting for the country that gave him his freedom and his vote—maybe. In any event, the allotments are seen not to be in all cases fair and the objections and protests are not surprising, though it is not without its heroic phase that cities like Gary find themselves ready to put away imputation of numbers—great numbers, gross numbers, undreamt of numbers—and repudiate the ascribed glories of huge bulk and say, "Nay, nay; we are large, to be sure, but not that large—not large enough to fight Germany almost alone."

The senate has unanimously adopted a resolution calling on the interior department to furnish information relating to the draft estimates. This ought to be done, because it will serve to correct partialities in any future levies for the army and it will doubtless show that the estimates are not so unfair as some of the more radical sectionalists have frothily claimed.

If Chairman Denman and Head Boss Goethals cannot promise an early getting together for turning out tonnage to defeat Germany, perhaps the president can unravel that difficulty by putting one or both of them at something else where they will be equally useful and less obstructive.

The senate opines that a food board of three is much safer and more democratic than a food dictator. There is nothing like sacrificing efficiency to democracy—which is a thing the senate does now and then when it permits some member to talk measures to death and defy a majority.

Uncle Sam has got your number. Have you got it? It will be the good news for you much sooner if you know the figures by which you are known.

SONNET—"TREADMILL."

What of this silly laughter? These strange fears?
This human cycle of fixed acts, and dread,
Slow whirling of the foolish mill we tread,
Whereon are bitter grapes, the food of years,
Fate makes us eat and then wash down with tears?
What of these shadows rising from the bed
Of pale decay and hate inherited,
To strike us dumb and blind ere Hope appears?

They are the common round: we laugh and weep,
And write our useless verses—strut each part,
Mouthing and stammering as we go our ways;
Stripped of our pride, in nakedness of heart,
At last, washed clean of earth and earthly days,
Ready enough to melt away in sleep.

We feel that in these days of food wastage it is not patriotic to have your eggs garbled. Girls who trouble their mamma's when quite small will trouble other people's mamma's when they grow tall.

Our past experience leads us to believe that women will have plenty of votes in the vote. It was Holweg's line that the Germans really fell back upon.

The German counter offensive on the Western front is less offensive than might be expected considering the source.

"I have in my mind, as I write, one who at some time or other did me a small service, who is in many respects certainly the least interesting man I know. We often meet. He is invariably polite and smiling. He inquires so kindly after my health, my family, my business, my pleasures, that I find it impossible to cut him. Yet I declare the trifling favor he formerly rendered me has been repaid a thousandfold in waste of time and hollow expressions of esteem. It would be perfectly impossible by any human means to make him understand that his companionship was not extremely fascinating to me. He could not conceive it to be other-wise. I only wonder how he remembers so much about me. I certainly had the greatest difficulty the other day in recalling the Christian name of his eldest daughter. This is from no cynical intent. I do not admit that he has more Christian charity than myself because of his greater punctiliousness upon outward matters. I am convinced that he would be the last man to visit me in a serious illness; the most unlikely acquaintance I have to lend me a ten-pound note at a pinch. Yet if I drop his society will not he and all who call him friend accuse me of blackest ingratitude? Of course they will. So I smile, and he smiles, and they smile, and the daily hypocrisy will last as long as we live."

That became inclined to be so prude
And found that ever more she'd have to grapple
With the much debated problem of the nude.

Thereafter she devoted her attention,
Her time and all her money to her clothes,
And that was the beginning of convention,

INSURING OUR TROOPS IS THE DUTY OF THE NATION SAYS SECRETARY M'ADOO

(W. G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, has a committee of experts working today on plans whereby the United States government will insure every soldier and sailor against death, disability and crippling wounds. Legislation embodying it will be presented to congress, which will be asked to pass the necessary laws and make the necessary appropriations. If the plan goes through, it will be the first time in the history of this country that proper provision will be made for the fighting men and their dependents. The following statement by the secretary of the treasury gives the basic principles of the scheme.)

By HON. W. G. M'ADOO,
Secretary of the United States Treasury.

Life and indemnity insurance is one of the vital important things which must be considered in the present extraordinary situation. The president has been deeply concerned about the proper solution of this question of insurance for the men who go to the front, and adequate provision for the support and protection of their families.

I don't believe the effort thus far made by the nations engaged in the struggle before America came into it has been as well organized or as comprehensive as it ought to be. I should like to feel that America, now she is in this struggle, is going to do this great service for her soldiers and sailors and their dependents in a way superior to that adopted by any other nation; and, in addition to that, that we do it not in a niggardly or grudging ing fashion, not as charity or pension, but that we do it as a nation of appreciative freemen who are willing to compensate the men who shed their blood for us.

It seems to me we ought not, as we send our men out to this war, say to them they must be dependent upon future legislation for the granting of compensations which have heretofore taken the form of pensions. Our brave men should not be left in uncertainty or doubt as to what is going to be done for them in case either of death or of partial or total disability. The man who goes out to fight is entitled to know in advance what a just government is going to do for him—even though our people are the most generous on earth.

We are not relying much on the volunteer system any more. We are going to create a nation as a democracy ought to be organized, so that every man shall bear his just share of the burdens of government and shall get equally, as far as possible, his just share of the benefit of government. So I think we should not rely upon the volunteer system of charity or generosity to make just provision for the men we send to the front.

We must see to it not only that every American soldier is equipped with the best American money, his loved ones are not dependent upon charity, but are as much entitled to compensation for what they are sacrificing in order that he may go to the front as he is entitled to compensation for what he does at the front.

No higher obligation can rest upon a people than that.

upset many previously accepted notions of what armies in the field would do. No one, prior to the outbreak of hostilities, would have believed that the French soldiers could have developed, under the whip of attack and preliminary defeat, the ability to withstand three years of trench warfare. The Frenchman, we were told, quickly lost his spirit when stubborn resistance was more in order than brilliant dash. It was the commonly accepted theory that the Frenchman's mercurial temperament was unfitted for prolonged opposition to what practically meant a siege. The Germans held this view of the French fighting man. It was their general plan, therefore, so experts have told us, to force trench warfare on the French and to harass the British by numerous swift assaults. Time has proven the Germans wrong in both instances.

(Grand Rapids Press.)

Though in times of peace the average American is prone to forget the nation's army, in times of war he feels and expresses a supreme confidence in the ability of his army to do what it sets out to do. Even in the face of temporary defeat the faith remains unshaken; he is firm in his belief that its dogged perseverance, its dash and initiative will enable it to "come back" no matter what misfortune befalls. In other words, he believes the fighting men of his country combine the nerve of the French with the tenacity of the British.

Americans under arms have given reason for this verdict and they have exhibited the qualities named time after time. They are no less steady under attack than are the British soldiers and, in the offensive, they are no less brilliant than the French soldiers. The army reflects the spirit of the nation and the nation's characteristics. It is unlike the armies of either France or England just as the United States is different, in national aspect, from both of these countries. Three years of war, however, have

THURSDAY, JULY 19, 1917.

JAIL NO LONGER A JOKE.

It is reported from Washington that the "peaceful picketers" arrested the other day for persisting in their annoyances about the white house were greatly shocked when the district magistrate fined them $25 each with the alternative of sixty days in the workhouse. Previously the fines had been light and the jail terms correspondingly short.

The picketers refused to pay fines to escape two or three days in the lockup. Jail had all the novelty of a tolerable martyrdom and the "silent sentinels" embraced the opportunity with enthusiasm. But sixty days in jail is another affair altogether. That is a real penalty—one that has accompaniment of pains, inconveniences and hardships. However, there was nothing to do save to enter into penal servitude. There could be no martyrdom in paying fines from purses well able to stand the drain or from organization funds provided for such purpose. So the ladies went to jail.

In the homes of some of these women matters were viewed differently. There were small children and husbands and such like appendages of the average domestic women. Husbands have been getting into Washington to see what might be done. A wife taking a sixty-day layoff from discharge of household cares—including, of course the little ones—and spending the vacation in jail or workhouse is apt to be trying to the patience and temper of her liege. And the more so, since there appears to be no gain from the sacrifice. A martyrdom that gets nowhere but in jail and achieves nothing but an unprofitable notoriety is a great futility, indeed. Small wonder that husbands bestir themselves to get ma out of jail and home again to tend the babies and bring cook back to the orderly and well-traveled way.

President Wilson has been appealed to for performance of whatever he may be able to do in the fashion of clemency and of course he will do whatever he can. After four or five months of devoted attentions of the peaceful picketers at the white house gate he must feel some of the interest of acquaintanceship in the ladies who keep vigil about his place of abode. We look for a prompt extension of executive clemency to the ladies now under lock and key. Mr. Wilson will not be unmindful of the plight of deserted husbands and bereft babies as he considers what may be done and the unselfish good of doing it. If ma wants to go home ma surely should have the chance.

There is interest in the announcement that the Congressional union, under whose auspices the white house is picketed, means hereafter to detail only unmarried ladies for picket duty and to do the organization's bit in jail. That will greatly simplify matters, even if it have no more effect to bring national suffrage to the women than has come out of the absurdities of the Sillie Sallies during the past five months of grotesque performance at the white house gate.

WHERE REASONS ARE OBSCURED.

There may be excellent reasons for the plans of the war department to mobilize the national guards in camps in the south, but these reasons have not been made known. On the bare face of it, the plan is well calculated to stir all the criticism that it now elicits. It means long and expensive transportation for tens of thousands of soldiers and a rather trying time of it for men not inured to southern climates. The troops from this region are to be encamped at Hattiesburg, Miss.—for anything we know a good enough place and admirably adapted to the purpose—but a long way to go for troops that are selected for that tantamount.

To what end these arrangements have been made those who know have not vouchsafed an explanation. Considerations of strategy may forbid or perils not to be talked of may make this disposition of a quarter of a million troops imperative. Whatever the reason, the war department keeps it securely locked away from the public knowledge. It is neither unreasonable nor surprising that in congress some questioning of this policy should be provoked. The northern states surely offer at least as many eligible campsites as the south. There could be saved the great expense and toil of long journeys for thousands of soldiers if the camps were placed with some reference to their accessibility and convenience to those troops that are to occupy them.

It may be that the climate in the south will be better prepared the troops of the guard, now soon to be federalized, for the work they are to do in the war than the climate of the north. It may be that there will be military gain, strategic advantage, in having so great a number of troops concentrated in the south. There may be any number of compulsive reasons for shipping the northern troops into southern states, but what they are no one outside the war department knows and it may not be compatible with public policy and the national defense for the war department to tell. But until the war department finds some way to satisfy the big query the war department may expect something of a public clamor and a continuance of criticisms in congress.

THERE WILL NOT BE TOO MUCH.

With the certain prospect of abundant crops of grain and vegetables throughout the country this year some are wondering why so much is made of the necessity to save food-stuffs. It is figured that of our surpluses the available shipping, handicapped by the U-boat campaign, will be able to transport but a fraction and that we shall carry over much into next year. That is just the idea.

No one knows how long this war is going to last. No one knows what next year's crops are going to be. No one knows to what extent nor for what term we are going to be under necessity to furnish vast bulks of food to our allies and much else to suffering neutrals. These questions touch the most vital concerns of this and our ally nations. No chances can be taken with safety. We cannot perform our part and continue the sinful practice of waste upon the scale that so long has marked American life. There is no purpose as there is no need to put this country upon short rations. There is plenty for every normal necessity and much to spare for the rest of the world. But, except there be conservation and rational economy, we shall come short and that, perhaps, at a time when it would do us the greatest harm.

The urgency for increasing production, preventing waste, for preserving foodstuffs and for practicing reasonable economy in the use of certain edibles, rests upon conditions that are real and not imagined and upon considerations of prudence that only the most foolishly fatuous and sinfully prodigal people could ignore. Whatever adds to the national security is a good thing to do, just as whatever impairs the national security is a bad thing to do. No one will question that it adds to this country's power of defense to make wholly certain that there is going to be food enough all the time.

Besides this, it is well that the people of this country go through a general and persistent training and schooling to learn to avoid waste. No other people in the world waste so much. To learn to save will be money in the pockets of everybody and more food in the bellies of the less fortunate peoples in other parts of the world where life is harder than we ever can find it. There also should be kept in mind that with the end of the war the nations against which we are fighting as well as the nations with which we are fighting will make a wild drive upon America for her food-stuffs. We shall be wise to remember that the more we have to meet that drive the less will the world's demand raise prices that we too will have to pay. There are many reasons for rational food economy and these are some of them. There are others. One good reason is enough and surely there is a good reason that is with us all the time—that it is a folly and a wickedness to make wanton waste of the abundance providence vouchsafes this land.

If Indiana is going to take any measures to make production, distribution and price of Indiana coal a source of assurance and consolation to the people it will have to be got at before long. The last half of July is well on its way and there will be a new season upon us before we or even the governor may be aware of it. There is not much of an indication that suitable arrangements are going to come without some effort of a drastic sort.

There will be less fear of and quarreling with conscription the next time an army is raised. A new thing has its friends, of course, but so have the old things, and there were many features about the volunteer system that were attractive to those who did not want to volunteer.

Indiana isn't going to get a new constitution next year, but the lady voters can keep right on getting ready to vote. The law giving them half a ballot opens the polling booths to them in the municipal elections next fall—provided the supreme court doesn't get its water again.

MAN WITH THE PLOW IS PATRIOT; FARMER BACKS FOOD CONTROL

(By HARRY B. HUNT.)

American farmers don't oppose the food control bill.

Middle west rural districts do not back the senators obstructing the administration's conservation measure.
The senators' pet argument that their tactics help the farmer is proven false by the farmer himself.

This is made clear in a letter from J. W. Shortill, secretary of the national council of farmers' co-operative associations, to each senator.

Shortill represents 400,000 grain growers.

"American grain growers," Short-hill tells the senate, "know if this war is to be fought effectively it is just as necessary for our president to direct food distribution as to manage army movements."

"We know if some strong arm is not ever present, ready to act promptly and decisively, the speculator will ruthlessly reap criminal profits. We know food is first, and should be first controlled."

"The grain growers are ready for food control. They welcome it. Our organization is squarely behind the president in this."

With the new crop still three months away, middle west corn supplies have reached the lowest point ever known.

Ohio's corn reserve is 45 per cent below the July average for the past nine years, and 29 per cent less than the previous low record.

Illinois' reserve shows a 37 per cent decrease and is 11,000,000 bushels less than her smallest July supply during the past nine years.

Indiana's corn reserve is off 23 per cent from the nine-year average and Iowa's 15 per cent.

Nebraska alone shows an increase of but 4 per cent.

Knowing the wide differences between the prices farmers received and the price at which corn is marketed in the great grain centers, the farmers see in these depleted reserves additional reasons why the senate should cut further debate short and pass the bill.

"Who," members of America's greatest grain growers' organization ask, "is afraid to place the products of his labor or his genius in the hands of the president, when winning this war makes it necessary? Certainly not the grain growers of the country!"

SELLING TO UNCLE SAM.

(The Ground Hog, Cleveland, O.)
A few weeks ago there was an uproar in Little Rock, Ark. The United States government went out there to buy land for an army camp.

The owners of the land promptly doubled the price, and then raised again. The value of the land the government wanted to buy went from barely $20 per acre to over $75.

All of the newspapers promptly raised an editorial howl that could be heard from Portland to Portland (Maine and Oregon.) All because someone was trying an everyday trick on Uncle Sam.

It was certainly unpatriotic for the land owners to do it, we own that.
That fact in itself amply merits the condemnation. But what we do maintain is that it is no more immoral to do it to Uncle Sam than it is to any other person or company that needs the land.

The papers were right, it was unpatriotic, but they didn't go far enough and find the cure.

If these men were honest, they would have sold the land to the government at the price it was worth, and then used the money to help the war effort.

value of their land, they would be glad to sell it at a reasonable price.
Every manufacturer who has wanted land for his own use has had the same experience.

The land owners demand more for their land, not because the land is more valuable, but because someone needs it.

If there were anything like a just tax on land values, Uncle Sam (which means 110,000,000 people) would have all the land he needed at a reasonable price.

STRIPES AND UNIFORMS.

(New York World.)

A sentiment commonly heard among American socialists was repeated by Frank A. Sieverman, candidate of the party for controller of New York, when in an impassioned address he said: "No one can call himself a socialist who would hesitate to prefer the stripes to a uniform."

In Germany, with a few notable exceptions, socialists who are not in uniform are doing their best diplomatically to help the kaiser out of his difficulties. In Great Britain, France, and Belgium most of the socialists are in uniform. In the United States a great majority of the socialists are so opposed to all militarism except the kaiser's that they prefer stripes to uniforms.

Putting the matter as kindly as possible to our socialistic fellow citizens who have assumed this pose, we must say to them that in due course their tastes in this matter will be fully gratified. In practically every case of resistance to the draft thus far presented to the United States courts the stripes have been furnished at once, and there is no reason to believe that the supply is anywhere near exhaustion.

SURPRISING THE WORLD.

(New York Post.)

A Spanish statesman thinks that if certain causes of discontent in his country should produce effects, he instantaneously, something might happen which would "surprise the world."
Innocent old world! Subjected to such a series of shocks as no previous period of the same length had given it, it yet retains, in the opinion of the Spanish statesman, reserves of astonishment, unplumbed depths of amazement.

What could come as an unexpected event to a generation that had been startled by the rapidity of an invasion, held spellbound by the dramatic sweeping back of the rushing tide, and then greeted with the discovery that a new form of conflict was developing, in which success was to be obtained by the sacrifice of the element of surprise?

Then there are the happenings in Russia, in Arabia, in Africa, the revival of the great white war, and the realization of the poet's dream of navies grappling in the central blue.
Surely but one thing is left so extraordinary as to appear in the least sensational—the idea that anybody could imagine that there might be another surprise.

TWO ESSENTIALS.

(New York Journal of Commerce.)

Two things are essential at such a time, confidence of the people in the government and trust of the government in the people. For this there must be constant mutual understanding. That means the complete knowledge practicable of what is going on, what is planned, what is accomplished and what remains to be done. This calls for the utmost publicity, the least concealment and secrecy, so far as our own people are concerned, that can be made consistent with security against the designs of our enemies.

It is questionable whether absolute and complete publicity would ever be accomplished, but it is a goal worth striving for.

fluence of that same publicity upon our own forces of action and of sentiment.
This may be a new doctrine, but it is peculiarly consistent with the fundamental principles upon which American institutions were founded and have been maintained. It may be applicable in any crisis which they have to go through.

STILL PLOTTING.

(New York World.)

The many indictments for conspiracies found by a federal grand jury at San Francisco against Germans and Hindus are not more important in their bearing than in their disclosures of German plotting on American soil against India and Britain a year before Germany began the great war.

The American people have been as slow to awake to the stern realities of the situation as they have been quick to believe in a miraculous conversion of pro-German plotters as an inevitable consequence of our entrance into the war. If now some reason is given to think that German plotters are behind the I. W. W. strikes and disorders in the copper mines of the northwest and southwest, or behind the curiously successive burning of grain elevators in parts of the west, is the reason emptied of all sense by this grand jury discovery that the Kaiser's paid agents were operating here for a war to include Great Britain even before actual war had been forced on the world to include ourselves?

The old menace is still within our doors. It was there before this war and in preparation for it. It has been there and murderously aggressive against our unsuspecting peace through the days of our striving neutrality. It is there now, and it scratched, it is not killed.

WHO MUST PAY COST OF REGISTRATION?

Question of Compensating Help is Worrying Many Officials.

A law was passed for a constitutional convention. Registration was begun in all the counties in the state, including Allen county. Help was hired to do the work and in Allen county it was costing $23 a day. The constitutional convention law was declared unconstitutional.

Now comes the question, who must pay the costs of the work of registration? This little puzzle is causing much worry among county officials as a report from Indianapolis is to the effect that it is very possible that the county officials will have to pay the cost.

The question was freely discussed by men of the law profession as well as politicians in the court house Wednesday.

Many upheld the theory that the county officials could not be forced to

On the other hand, one lawyer quoted from a case as recorded by Cooley in the 174th Indiana as follows: "When a statute is adjudged to be unconstitutional it is as if it had never been. Rights cannot be built up under it; contracts which depend upon it for their consideration are void; it constitutes a protection to no one who has acted under it, and no one can be punished for having refused obedience to it before the decision was made."

Charges Abandonment.

Osa M. Swain has sued the P. Swain for divorce, charging abandonment and cruel and inhuman treatment. She also alleges that he failed to properly provide for her and their two children. She says they were married July 23, 1905, and celebrated their eighth wedding anniversary wedding by separating. She asks for the custody of the children, and $20 a month support money.

Threatened to Kill Her.

Alleging that the defendant threatened to take her life, Berta Freimuth has begun action for divorce from Leo Freimuth. She states that he struck her at divers times and that he also cursed and swore at her and failed to support her and the two children. She asks in addition to the divorce that the defendant be restrained from molesting her and that an order be issued enjoining the Central Foundry from paying him his wages. Wants $500 Damages.

Alleging that the defendant company violated their contract, Augustine F. Naylor has sued the Perfection Biscuit company for $800. He states that he is the inventor of a patented barrel cover and that the defendant company entered into a written agreement with him to pay him half of the profits derived from the barrel cover. He says he has not received his share of the profits.

Road Report Filed.

The road report for changing the township line road between St. Joe and Cedar Creek townships has been filed with the county auditor.

Wants $10,000 Damages.

Louis K. Sowers has begun action against the Port Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company asking for $10,000 damages, alleging that due to the carelessness of the defendants he was seriously injured on March 14, 1917. He states that he was engaged in shoveling poles when many of the poles rolled down upon him.

Made Him Lose Jobs.

Charles J. Baird has sued Cornelia Baird for divorce, charging that the defendant has continued to nag at him and that due to her actions he has lost several jobs. They were married September 1, 1901.

Wants Guardian Removed.

Fred W. Topa, a minor, has filed a petition to have Christian L. Daseler removed as his guardian.

Marriage Licenses.

Ernest E. Wink, clerk, to Berta Buck.

Kenneth W. Habecker, machine hand, to Pauline L. Johnson.

August L. Pachin, secretary of Maier Hide Co., to Margaret Brooks.

Sylvester J. Zurbuch, machinist, to Mathilda N. Wollert.

James H. Allen, railroad clerk, to Nellie M. Steele.

Martin E. Rogedanz, pharmacist, to Ruth L. Klingmann.

GREENLAND EXPLAINS THE RATE PETITION

Samuel W. Greenland, general manager of the Port Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company, and president of the Indiana Electric Light association, appeared, Tuesday, before the public service commission at Indianapolis to explain points in the petition filed by the association of which he is the head asking for permission to raise light rates. He pointed out that his organization did not take into consideration the proposed increase of fifteen cents a ton on coal transportation when filing a petition for a thirty per cent. increase in electric rates. If the petition of the railroads is granted Mr. Greenland said it would be necessary to increase the advance asked for electric power. The Indiana electric rate increase hearing will start on Monday, July 23. No advance in the light rates charged by the Port Wayne & Northern Indiana company is asked.

Mr. Folson, pastor of the Third Presbyterian church of Newark, at his residence, in the presence of relatives and a reception to friends was held afterwards at the bride's home. The bride wore a becoming reception gown of pearl gray satin and when she left later on her wedding trip she wore a black tulle dress with white hat, shoes and gloves. The wedding trip will be spent at Atlantic City and other coast points, and when they return to Newark, Mr. and Mrs. Hoff will be at home at 36 Yates avenue.

NO VISITORS AT THE MINT.

Philadelphia, July 18.—Because of war conditions visitors have been barred from the United States mint in this city. Only persons whose business is of special nature are permitted to enter the building where the nation's coins are minted. Formerly there were hundreds of visitors daily from all parts of the country. Owing to the heavy demand for the smaller coins as well as gold, the mint is unusually busy this summer.

UNCLE HARRY EXPLAINS "FOOD CONSERVATION"

The children were sitting on the porch as Uncle Harry strode up the walk. The boys envied Uncle Harry's upright figure and often practiced his spring, military stride in secret.

"Hello, youngsters. I didn't see you there in the dark," and Uncle Harry took his accustomed chair. "What is it to be tonight?"

Jimmy spoke at once. "Uncle Harry," said he, "what does food conservation mean?"

"Well, Jimmy, you know what food means. Well, conservation means the saving of it, that is, not wasting it. It is said that Americans are the most wasteful people in the world and that a French family can live on what an American family throws away and this twenty submarines to the German navy it is plain that the same amount of waste by 100,000,000 Americans would add at least the power of forty submarines to the Germans and we can't afford that you know."

"I should say not," said Joe. "I'm going to be more careful after this."

"You know, children, food is a most important matter. A starving army of people can't fight. In fact, Lloyd George, the British premier, practically said 'The last half billion bushels of wheat will win.'"

"What did he mean by that, Uncle Harry?" said Jimmy. "Wheat doesn't fight."

"No, Jimmy," said Uncle Harry, "but he meant that whichever side had the last half million bushels of wheat being true, it is evident that in time of war it is of the utmost importance that no food should be wasted. Not only must the armies be fed, but the people who stay at home as well, and it is up to us, everyone, to see that we waste no bread or other food."

"Well, Uncle Harry," said Helen, "I don't waste any food."

"Are you sure, Helen? When I took dinner with you a few days ago I saw a half a piece of bread left on your plate and a whole potato which the maid took out into the pantry."

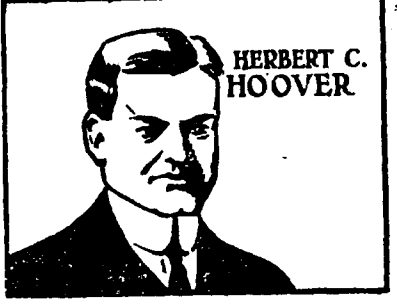

"Oh well," said Helen, "that didn't count. It wasn't much."

"That's exactly the point I want to talk to you about. It did count. Suppose 40,000,000 children did the same thing. Don't you think it would amount to much? I have no doubt millions of children did the same thing throughout the country and all those millions of pieces of bread and potatoes must have amounted to a large supply, enough to have fed hundreds of thousands of other children."

"Well," said Joe, "you can't eat up everything on your plate."

"Yes you can," said Uncle Harry, "or at least you needn't take so much on your plate."

"Let me read you a piece of writing that went to every home in Great Britain recently." And Uncle Harry fished out of his pocket a newspaper clipping and read aloud:

"I am a Slave of Bread."

"I measure three inches by two and a half and my thickness is half an inch. My weight is exactly an ounce."

"I am wasted once a day by 48,000,000 persons of Britain."

"I am—the bit left over—the slice eaten absent-mindedly when really I wasn't wanted."

"I am the waste crust."

"If you collect me and my companions for a whole week you would find that we amounted to 9,380 tons of good bread WASTED!"

"Two shiploads of good bread!"

"Almost as much—striking an average—as twenty submarines could sink—even if they had good luck."

"When you throw me away or waste me, you are adding twenty submarines to the German navy."

"Gracious," said Helen, "I never thought of that."

"I know you didn't, and you are not the only one who didn't. Now if 48,000,000 Britons can add the power of would win, and that the other side wouldn't have any and would be starving and would have to give up."

"President Wilson knows the importance of this and has appointed Herbert Hoover to be United States food administrator."

"He did a wonderful work in Belgium and is felt by most of us to be just the man to take charge of our food supply. He has issued a statement full of interesting advice. I can't read it all to you, but here are some of the important statements:

"If each person weekly saves one pound of wheat flour that means 150,000,000 more bushels of wheat for the allies to mix in their bread. This will help to save DEMOCRACY."

"If we save one ounce of meat each day per person we will have an additional supply equal to 2,200,000 cattle."

"Use one-third ounce less per day of animal fat and 375,000 tons will be saved yearly."

"If every one in America saves an ounce of sugar daily it means 1,100,000 tons for the year."

"Then he winds up by giving these general rules: 1, buy less; serve smaller portions; 2, preach the 'Gospel of the Clean Plate'; 3, don't eat a fourth meal; 4, don't limit the plain food of growing children; 5, watch out for the wastes in the community; 6, full garbage pails in America mean empty dinner pails in America and Europe. Good advice, children."

"Gracious," said Helen. "I had almost decided not to eat at all, but the fourth rule you read, Uncle Harry, helps me out."

"Oh, no, Helen, don't starve yourself. Eat all you need, but don't waste any food. That's all that is expected or all that is necessary."

"There is a lot more I could tell you about this important subject, but bedtime has come and you had better tuck yourselves in and think over what I have said. Good night and pleasant dreams."

And Uncle Harry went home.

Fortunately for the hundreds and more hundreds of women of this city who want to see someone can fruits and vegetables according to the easiest, safest and most up-to-date methods, the Scottish Rite Masons have offered their cathedral for the demonstrations to be given for at least two days next week by Miss A. Garvin, expert from Purdue university. The particular days are not yet named but they will appear in the papers in due time for everyone to see so to be ready to go. This effort to bring the subject of home canning to the people is along the line of patriotic endeavor. It is to insure the people of moderate means as well as the people with plenty of money, vegetables and fruits in their own cellars and stores to the extent that the canning factory products can be sent to people who have no vegetables or fruits to can, even if they have the money to put them up. Just now with garden products at their height, beets, peas, beans, cauliflower, carrots, spinach, seem too plentiful to ever be in scarcity or a price beyond the average to buy. Later there will be lima beans and corn. And there are many fruits yet to come, late berries, apples, peaches, pears, quinces, plums—all of which are easier to keep and more like the fresh to the taste, if put up the new way. It isn't that "mother's way" or "grandmother's way" or a "recipe that never failed" are questioned. It is because the new ways are easier and surer. Besides who wants to belong to the class that can never be taught anything new, and are therefore "caught in the trap of their own habits."

Too Much Devotion to Style Means Waste

By IDAH M'GLONE GIBSON.

Women have been talking a long while about being thinking human creatures, but things have been happening lately which must make the average woman realize she has been going on in her work or play without taking the goods the gods provide without thinking much about it one way or the other.

Did we think, when the mode veered from leather-covered vanity cases to bags, of the amount of work it entails? To the woman who wears, instead of makes, the factory's product, factories mean nothing.

This fall, however, she will think about these things. There will be a dearth of wool goods. If you are patriotic or poor in purse, your winter suit will probably be of silk instead of wool, and it won't be trimmed with beads. The factories are all commandeered for government work.

A bead-trimming manufacturer said yesterday: "We are not going to have many new things to show this fall, as one of our factories is making helmets, of which we must turn out 750,000 in the next few weeks. Another factory is working on an order for a million hat cords."

These hat cords of different colors which are worn on soldiers' hats to distinguish corps and rank, have prob-

Half-and-Half Sleeve in Style

(BY BETTY BROWN.)

A real novelty of fall fashions is the half-and-half sleeve. The model pictured today shows the upper arm covered with white chiffon and the lower with black. On blue serge, elbow-deep cuffs of white satin are used. Sometimes the top of a sleeve is of chiffon while the cuff flares and is made of satin. In a very charming frock, one-half of the sleeve is of all-over lace, the other of finely tucked tulle.

These are hints worth the attention of the girl who would like to freshen up a spring gown for fall service.

COLD PACK CANNING

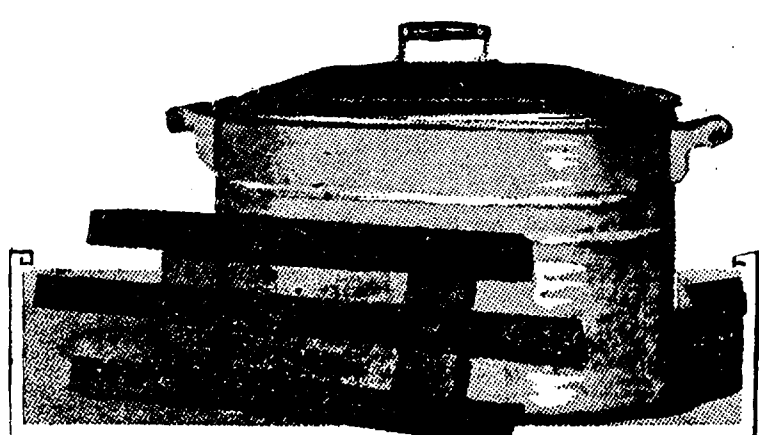

BY BIDDY BEE.

By cold pack canning many vegetables may be preserved for winter which cannot be put up successfully by the original open kettle or old fashioned stewing process.

Cold pack canning is a simple and quick method and the housekeeper who tries it seldom returns to the way mother did. It works on the principle of the water bath, or double boiler.

A homemade coldpack canning outfit may be had by using a washboiler, a tin pail or any utensil which has a fitted cover. A rack made of strips of board, lath or wire netting is required to raise the jars at least one inch from the boiler. Handles at the ends of the rack are desirable. Excellent wire racks shaped to fit wash boilers cost about $2.

In cold pack canning, the jars are filled with cold uncooked food and syrup (for fruit) or salt and water (for vegetables). Then the tops and rubbers are adjusted and partly tightened, the jars are set on the rack in the boiler, which is filled with cold water to within an inch of the top of the jars. Next, the lid of the boiler is adjusted. It is a good plan to make the lid fit tightly by placing a fold or two of sterilized cotton cloth beneath it. The food is then sterilized by boiling, ranging from 16 minutes for berries to 180 minutes for sweet corn.

After sterilization, the covers are tightened. Careful housewives usually invert the cans to cool. Some cover the edges of the rubbers and tops with melted paraffin and wrap the jars in paper before storing.

The advantages of the cold pack method over the old fashioned open kettle method are it is adapted to all fruits and vegetables; it produces a more uniform product with a better color, better flavor and better shape; and it saves time and labor, and is therefore a genuine economy.

AIR AND SUNSHINE FOR THE HOME ADDS TO JOY OF LIVING

Just now there is a good deal of talk about good and bad housing. This naturally brings up the question: "What is good housing?"

In answer here are the fundamental things that make for good housing. There should be in every home:

Space, that is plenty of room in which to work, play and sleep without crowding and without trespassing on the rights of others.

Unlimited supply of clean, fresh air to promote bodily health and vigor.

Plenty of light and sunshine with clean, attractive surroundings to add to the joy of living.

Thorough drainage, which means freedom from dampness and musty odors.

Adequate and decent toilet facilities to insure cleanliness in both person and apparel.

Proper protection from winter cold and summer heat, so a proper indoor temperature may be had all the time.

Freedom from nerve-racking noises, especially at night when rest and repose are essential for both health and comfort.

Given housing of this sort the normal person should have but little trouble in keeping healthy and resisting infection. In addition to good housing, good food and good habits are essential to good health.

"THE CRAWL," KING OF SWIMMING STROKES, GIVES SWIMMER BRILLIANT SPEED AND DASH IN WATER

Miss Mahn Illustrating the American Crawl, Speediest of Swimming Strokes.

BY MISS VALLERY MAHN. (Woman Aquatic Marvel.)

The American crawl has been named correctly the king of all swimming strokes. Once you see it done and get the idea, it's good-by to the breast stroke, diving and everything that used to be fun. The ambition for speed and proficiency in this graceful, gliding stroke must be gratified.

In all other strokes one seems conscious of labor, effort and water resistance. These somewhat unpleasant factors are less noticeable in the crawl.

This is the stroke that carried Duke Kohanamoku, Norman Ross, Ludy Langer and other champions to victory and fame. Every record holder, man or woman, from the 25-yard dash to the mile, has won with the crawl.

One never rests when crawling. It is a tiring stroke until thoroughly mastered and the beginner must be content with short distances at first. As harmony and smoothness of action are acquired the distances can be increased. This requires faithful practice.

When one has a good serviceable crawl, he is lifted from the novice class and considered an expert swimmer. For the crawl is swimmer's master stroke.

Practice the following instructions on land until letter perfect. Then go into the water and do the same. Don't mind swallowing a little water. The stroke as a rule is easier to do in water than on land.

MISS VALLERY MAHN.

First let us get the leg motion. Simply wave the legs up and down, knees stiff and ankles limber. Turn the toes a little inward. The impetus is obtained from the feet and not the legs.

The feet should not be separated more than fourteen inches. In order to master the arm movements I must refer to the photograph. My left arm is just leaving the water after a stroke and my right arm is just entering.

The swimmer lies on the stomach, face submerged and alternately strokes with the arms, pulling them downwards. Do not bend the arms at the elbow. As one arm leaves the water the other enters, and so on.

The breathing is a bit confusing. It is best to take a dozen strokes or so without breathing at first, until you get the idea of the leg and arm movement. This is easy.

Just lie flat on the water, move the legs and arms as directed, and you will be surprised, when you lift your face for air, at the distance you have covered.

Sometimes it is well to practice the leg kick independently by holding to the tank's trough with the hands and proceeding with the legs and feet as directed.

In breathing, exhale with the face submerged and inhale quickly through the mouth shortly before the right arm has finished its stroke. This is accomplished by simply turning the head as in the photograph.

Knapp, of Wells street, announced her approaching marriage to Michael Till, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Till, which will take place on August 9th. The party was given on Tuesday evening, and there were two out-of-town guests present, Miss Lucille Biehart, of Lafayette, and Miss Katherine Hartle, of Rome City. The house was beautifully decorated in the colors of yellow and white and the supper table with its yellow candles, yellow nut cups, dainty place cards and yellow and white daisies which formed the centerpiece, and also individual flowers at each plate, made a fitting setting for the ceremony of young girls seated at it. The supper was expressive of the same coloring as the decorations. The place cards told the little story concerning the hostess, as she received all the good wishes and pretty congratulations the company could think of to give. A game of progressive bunnies was enjoyed before the supper, and Miss Katherine Kimmel won the prize.

Bread crumbs can be used instead of rice—in that case use one cup of cream sauce with the crumbs.

Best of Food Needed by Men on Shipboard
(By IDA M'GLONE GIBSON.)
Rear Admiral Samuel McGowan, paymaster general of the navy, was standing at his window watching a flag floating over a nearby building at Washington.

As I entered he turned and greeted me with a distant look in his eyes, as though he had been in dreams sailing with a fleet to foreign shores.

"It makes a sailor crazy," he said, "to be tied to an office chair when his country is going into war."

"But you have your work cut out for you, admiral," I said.

"Yes," he answered somewhat ruefully, as his eyes wandered to the waving flag once more.

"No fighting man in the whole army is as finicky about his food as the jackie. Of course there is good reason for this, as meals are about the only pleasure sailors have and when they are about they get very lonesome. They have to be well fed first. Brave men are like cowards when they are hungry."

"The American fighting man eats more vegetables than the fighting man of any other country. Last year the navy ate 24,423,000 pounds of fresh vegetables, 4,215,000 pounds of canned vegetables and 331,400 gallons of dried vegetables, against 15,375,000 pounds of fresh meat, 2,210,000 pounds of preserved meat and 1,141,000 pounds of smoked meat."

"It costs us this year about as cents a day for food per man. We use no patent or experimental foods."

"I will be glad to tell that to the housewives enrolled in the woman's army against waste," I said.

The admiral smiled and added: "You can tell your army we know what it means to keep men good natured because they like their food. Any sailor on any ship in the navy is allowed to make any criticism of the food he wishes and it is investigated carefully."

Iceless Boxes Keep Food Cool
(BY BIDDY BYE.)

The kitchen need not lack a cooler if one has no ice box. A device, commonly known as an "iceless refrigerator," is based on the principle of evaporation.

A frame holding shelves for food is entirely covered with cotton or duck. The upper part of this cloth touches the water in a pan, and the water soaks through the entire cover. As it spreads it evaporates or is taken up by the air. Constant evaporation lowers the temperature within the "refrigerator" ten or fifteen degrees below that of the surrounding atmosphere.

Separate dishes of food can be cooled in the same way. For instance, butter can be kept hard in hot weather without ice by setting the dish under a cloth, the ends of which are placed in a pan of water. In the same way, evaporation will lower the temperature enough to keep milk sweet on a hot day. Some housewives simply wet the cloth from time to time, but it is better to put an end of the cloth in water where it acts exactly like a wick.

A simple and effective "cold cellar" may be made by sinking a ten-gallon garbage can, new and clean, in the ground up to a few inches from the top. The earth should be backed up around the edge to prevent water from running in. A slanting roof, or waterproof top completes this cellar.

A shady place should be chosen, preferably on the north side of the house, or beneath a tree. Fruit and vegetables stored in this will keep fresh without extra precautions, but meat, butter and cooked foods should be carefully boxed to protect them from ants. Borax packed around the outer edge of the can will also keep ants away. Some housewives suspend the food from the end of a rod, just as pioneer women hung food in a well.

Dairy Butter is Often What It Should Not Be

Every housewife should know what are not only best but also the cheapest fats on her table. A number of substitutes for butter are cheap and clean and nourishing.

"Personally," said a housekeeper recently, "I like oleomargarine better than the renovated article that sometimes masquerades as dairy butter."

The housewife should know dairy butter is butter carefully made from cream kept a certain number of days until it acquires the right degree of sourness, and then salted and cooled and kept refrigerated until sold.

Not one pound in twenty of the "dairy" butter sold will measure up to these requirements. Renovated butter is made of country butter, some sweet and some rancid, some made from cream kept the required number of days and some made from over-sour cream.

All kinds and conditions of butter go into the renovated butter vat and are melted together, and the curd and brine drawn off and air blown violently through the fat that remains to take away the rancid odor. Milk is then added and it is churned and sold as fresh butter.

Oleomargarine is made from cotton seed oil, beef fat and a little lard. This is mixed with milk and churned as butter. To find whether your grocery store is selling you what you ask for, take a large cooking spoon and put some of the so-called dairy butter in it, hold it over heat and stir with a wooden splinter until it boils rapidly.

If it foams freely and boils quietly it is genuine butter. If it sputters considerably and foams but little it is renovated butter. If it sputters profusely and does not foam it is oleomargarine.

The careful housewife will train her family to eat buttery bread at dinner when there are always enough fats in the gravies and meats for a balanced ration.

LEMON MERINGUE PIE.

Four tablespoonfuls lemon juice, one teaspoonful grated lemon rind, one cup sugar, pinch of salt, two cups milk, two eggs, one tablespoonful butter, two rounded tablespoonsful cornstarch. Put water to boil; mix cornstarch with cold water; add sugar, salt and the yolks of eggs; beat all well together and add slowly to the boiling water; boil fifteen minutes, add lemon juice and rind. Pour into well-baked crust at once. When cooled beat the whites of eggs until dry with two tablespoonfuls granulated sugar; spread on lemon, rough with fork; dust with pulverized sugar liberally; place in cool oven until dry and light brown. One must remember that there is a difference in beating the whites of eggs; when beaten until dry it will not get watery on either meringue or pudding.

THE FAMILY PICNIC. NUMBER ONE.

Through investigation we find the family picnic based upon the market basket, with all hands pulling for an early start. Father is out chasing up a loaf of bread to meet the demands. (Mother has fixed lunches before). A younger member meets with a gas attack while preparing onions for sister's choice sandwiches. In twenty minutes the day's program will start. Three voices will trio from the corner for Dad to hurry up. Dad is ransacking the bundles.

BROCADES AND VELVETS WILL GET CALL IN FALL.

There is already much pleasant talk about the fashionable fabrics to be offered by the textile manufacturers for next winter, and just where the economy shouters are going to get off we find wool predicted.

According to the reports of those who have enjoyed the privilege of inspecting the early offerings from Lyons, there will be more rich velvets and expensive brocades than ever before. It doesn't look much like sackcloth and ashes for the American woman.

Both plain and fancy velvets are more delicate and of softer surface. The new velours salambo is particularly appealing and the velours zephyr is positively gauze-like. There is even a new mouseline velvet, beside which our old-fashioned chiffon velvet appears heavy and ruglike. New checked velvets, and those bearing embossed designs, are said to be intended for suits, but we doubt it. The snows of winter cause us less distress when they land on good old woolen fabrics.

METAL OVERSHOE MEANS OF PRESERVING LEATHER.

With the price of leather soaring skyward it seems to be necessary to cut down the shoe bill by increasing the efficiency of the footwear and one scheme for accomplishing this is covered by a recent patent grant for a metal overshoe.

The parts are made of thin sheet metal pressed into shape, one to fit the heel and the other covering the sole and fitting over the toe with a pivoted joint under the instep, and those bearing square in the center of the cloth leaving in place by means of a strap over the instep.

The metal does not in the least interfere with the freedom of the foot and it takes up all the hard knocks of wear.

TRY GLOVE DUST CLOTH TO KEEP HANDS DAINTY

Make a new dust cloth with an attached glove and you will not have grimy fingers and nails after dusting. Sew a piece of goods eight inches square in the center of the cloth leaving one edge free. Mark the shape of your hand on this square with chalk or pencil and sew with the machine around the mark, having the wrist on the left side free.

CHEAPER THAN BREAD AND MORE PALATABLE

Far cheaper than bread and much more palatable are supper biscuits, made in the following manner: Take 1 gill of milk, 1 ounce of butter or margarine and 8 ounces of self-rising flour. Put the milk and butter into a saucepan to warm and put the flour into a basin. When the milk is hot add the flour and mix it carefully into a smooth paste; roll out thin on a floured board, cut out into rounds or squares and bake in a greased tin for twenty minutes. Father will like these biscuits and the children will look upon them as a positive luxury.

REFLECTOR TAKEN UP MOUNTAIN TO PHOTOGRAPH WONDERS OF SKY

..... the famous Hooker reflector up Mt. Wilson, where it will be installed in the Carnegie observatory for use in new scientific research. Anonymous letters had been received by observatory officials threatening the destruction of the huge mirror. Three armed guards watched the reflector on the circuitous trip up the mountain, and 200 spectators and a regiment of photographers followed the ascent. The reflector, a gift of E. L. Hooker of Los Angeles, cost $50,000 and is the largest in the world, being 100 inches in diameter and 13 inches thick. It weighs four and a half tons. The rough cast was made in St. Gobain, France, in 1905. The glass was brought to Pasadena in 1909. Grinding the mirror began in 1911. Scientists hope to reveal new celestial wonders when the new mirror is installed. According to Dr. W. S. Adams, in charge of the observatory in the absence of Dr. George Ellery Hale, now in Washington, the reflector will be in commission by September.

TOMPKINS CONFESSES

Wealthy Mine Operator is Made to Tell of the Triple Murder.

ADMITTS SLAYING THREE HUMPHRIES

Suspicion Aroused Early of His Guilt is Now Fully Verified.

Johnston, Pa., July 19.—George C. Tompkins, of Philadelphia, held in connection with the shooting to death of Edmund I. Humphries, prominent coal operator; his wife, Mrs. Carrie Humphries, and their 16-year-old son, Edmund I. Humphries, Jr., on a country road near Carlisle, this county, last Sunday, confessed to the three murders today, according to announcement by the police.

The confession was made in the presence of Jailer Edward Kneel, of the county jail, and Tompkins' attorneys. Tompkins was a member of the Humphries automobile party. Following the shooting he went to the home of a friend and declared the party had been held up by three masked men. He maintained that the three men shot and killed the members of the Humphries family but he escaped by falling to the ground near the automobile and pretending that he also had been shot.

Conflicts in statements made by Tompkins caused the search for the highwaymen to be called off and a coroner's jury investigating the murders ordered Tompkins held for investigation. Monday he was formally charged with the murder. Evidence against Tompkins was considered only circumstantial prior to his confession. Tompkins, the authorities announced, made a complete confession willingly and without pressure. The motive given by Tompkins for the murders was that he was jealous of the

MORE INDICTMENTS BY FEDERAL JURY

New Batch Relates in Part to the Indianapolis Election Cases.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 19.—Twelve indictments were returned today by the federal grand jury, one of which is in connection with activities during the 1914 election in Indianapolis. Samuel V. Perrett, chief of police and five others were convicted in federal court a short time ago on an indictment charging conspiracy in this same election and the grand jury investigation was ordered re-opened as a result of testimony introduced at Perrett's trial. The names of the men named in the election indictments were not made public and it was said no arrests would be made probably before tomorrow. Joseph Zimmerman, of this city, who was arrested at South Bend, charged with uttering false statements in a street speech, was indicted under the espionage law. The section he is accused of violating provides a maximum penalty of twenty years imprisonment and $10,000 fine.

The other indictments charge "boot-legging" at Fort Benjamin Harrison and selling liquor to soldiers in uniform.

STUFF TO LOSE SLEEP OVER

Gay Chintz Slip for the Children

MISS CYNTHIA PRATT

Chintzes and gorgeous flowered prints which seem to have been designed solely for house decorations have been taken over by the designers of children's garments. And it needs but a passing glance at this snapshot of little Cynthia Pratt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dallas E. Pratt, to convince all doubters that the odd fancy is charming. Moreover it has the great advantage of delighting all youthful wearers. "How pretty," they say. "And everybody agrees."

A Drop On a Touchy Corn

Instant relief! Then corn on callus lifts off with fingers.

Just think! You can lift off any corn or callus without one twinge of pain. A Cincinnati man discovered this other compound and named it Freezone. Any druggist will sell a tiny bottle of Freezone for very little cost. You apply a few drops directly upon a tender corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears, then shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can lift it right off. Freezone is wonderful. It dries instantly. It doesn't eat away the corn or callus, but shrivels it up without even irritating the skin. Hard corns, soft corns, or corns between the toes, as well as painful calluses, lift right off. There is no pain before or afterwards. No soreness or smarting. Women should keep a tiny bottle on the dresser and never let a corn ache twice.

Robison Park Baby Show

On account of insurmountable reasons, the Annual Baby Show will be abandoned this season. The baby carriage always awarded on Baby Day will be given away on Romp Day by the usual method. All babies, two years of age or under, visiting Robison Park any day between now and Romp Day, should be taken to the pavilion and registered, when a duplicate numbered check will be given the mother. Manager Williams will also present each baby registering a pair of gold enameled beauty pins. These gifts as well as the baby carriage were purchased at the beginning of the park season, and Manager Williams wishes to present them to the babies of Fort Wayne, even though the usual Baby Show will not be held this year. The winning baby, receiving the baby carriage, need not be present on Romp Day, although the mother should be on hand to receive the gift. Girls carrying dolls, girls pushing decorated doll carriages, as well as girls wearing feature costumes, will be included in the Romp Day Feature Parade this year; therefore, those planning on entering the usual Baby Day parade with their dolls and doll carriages, need not be disappointed.

"Hands on shoulders!" orders Walter Camp, and the cabinet officers' war training squad squares shoulders like a boys' gym class. After twenty minutes setting up exercises come a brisk walk, a shower and breakfast, menu too long to be listed. "They have been running on one cylinder," says Camp, "and I'll improve their dispositions and capacity." One was suggested

THREE LOCAL BOYS PROVE REAL SHOTS

Fort Wayne is honored inasmuch that she has three sons at the officers' reserve training camp at Indianapolis who are real shots, two having qualified as expert riflemen, the highest grade, and one as a sharpshooter, the second highest grade. They are respectively, Foster Houck, Robert H. Kiehn and Fred W. Eggenman. Many of the companies at the fort have not completed their final reports on the range practice and it is possible that still more Fort Wayne young men have qualified as expert riflemen or sharpshooters.

What would be an appropriate prayer for a person desiring conversion, to make to God?

TRACTION HEAD MAKES STATEMENT ON RATES

President Feustel Refutes Statements That Company Will Ask Increase.

Because of the statements being made to the effect that the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company intends to increase its rates for electric light and power, R. M. Feustel, president of the company, has made a statement refuting the rumor.

In speaking of the stand of the traction company, Mr. Feustel says: "A recent interview given by Mayor W. J. Hosey and the bill board advertising carried by the municipal lighting plant makes it necessary for officials of the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company to make a further statement." Mr. Feustel states that the local lighting company did not sign the application for increase in rates which was filed by certain member companies of the state electric light association. This fact was called to the attention of Mayor Hosey ten days ago when the bill board advertising of the city plant stated that the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company was trying to raise rates. The mayor admitted that the name of the local company was not on the copy of the petition which the city obtained from the office of the public service commission, but stated that the press dispatches regarding the action of the association had led to the misstatement on the bill boards. "The recent interview by the mayor and the continuous statements of the solicitors of the city plant made it necessary for the company to correct this direct misrepresentation of facts. They cannot understand the city's position as the actual documents in the hands of the city officials show their statements to be untrue."

Of the 500 different processes in munition work, upon which women are engaged, in England, two-thirds had never been performed by a woman previously to a year ago. The typewriter was invented in 1843, though in a very crude form.

HARD PENALTIES SHOCKED THE LADIES

Washington, July 18.—Home, husband and children today became vital issues in the cases of some of the sixteen suffragists sent to jail here yesterday for their demonstration in front of the white house last Saturday, and it appears that these forces would be sufficient to cause several of the eight married prisoners to be released by payment of fines regardless of their personal wishes.

At least one husband is said to be determined that his wife shall be returned to their children, and police court attaches said another had been interviewing officials regarding payment of a fine.

Anxious to Serve, But—
At the women's party headquarters it was declared that all of the women were anxious to serve out their sixty-day sentences, but it was admitted that the $25 fines of some of the married women would be paid. The case of Washington, July 18.—Although complete reports from seven states were still lacking early today, Ex-

The plan for the drawing has been worked out in detail and approved by Secretary Baker. It will be carefully explained to press representatives before it is given out for publication.

Machinery Ready.
The machinery for the lottery has been arranged and the only points undecided are the exact place in Washington where the drawing will take place and the date. It was suggested today that a committee room at the capitol be used.

There are many questions, such as wire facilities, which must be considered, and it is probable that General Crowder and the Washington correspondents will work out an agreement on this point.

The government will be ready for

AMERICANS SAVE SHIP REPORTED SUNK BY U-BOAT

New York, July 18.—The British steamship Cannmore, previously reported sunk by a German U-boat, was saved from destruction by an American destroyer which was conveying her through the danger zone, according to members of his crew who arrived here today from England on an American ship.

Under protection of the destroyer the vessel was able to proceed to an Irish port under her own steam after having been torpedoed.

Petrograd, July 18.—Another manifestation of armed sailors and soldiers and workingmen and women in which shots were fired took place along the Nevsky Prospekt yesterday. The extent of the casualties is unknown.

Yesterday's disturbances were a repetition of those of the day before except that they occurred at two o'clock in the afternoon, whereas the first outbreak occurred at midnight.

The manifestants were grouped along the same part of the Nevsky Prospekt. A number of stray shots were heard, followed by the firing of rifles against upper windows and roof tops at a seemingly imaginary foe.

Food, Steel, Iron, Coal and

Chicago, July 18.—Auditors of the federal trade commission today began the work of examining the books of the big packing houses of Chicago for the purpose of determining the cost of producing and marketing meats and similar food commodities.

Their action is the initial step in a far reaching investigation into the cost of producing food, steel, iron, coal and oil, in accordance with an order of President Wilson to ascertain what constitutes a fair profit.

Joseph E. Davies, member of the commission who arrived yesterday, inspected a number of plants at the stockyards and later held a conference with representatives of the leading packing houses, who arranged to give the investigators access to the books of the companies from which it is expected to obtain the basic cost of producing and marketing meats.

The inspection of books and records will include not only packers but cattle raisers, commission men and wholesale and retail dealers.

The tour of inspection through the steel plants at South Chicago and Gary, Ind., scheduled for tomorrow, was postponed until Friday or Saturday.

MANY GERMANS ARE FAINTHEARTED SAYS PRUSSIAN WAR LORD

Amsterdam, July 18.—Many Germans have become faint-hearted, says General von Stein, Prussian war minister, as quoted by the General Anzeiger of Dusseldorf. The general replied to a telegram from the German National Union expressing confidence in him gave the following advice: "Everyone should possess confidence in the future greatness of Germany, but an excessive anxiety and faint-heartedness is still troubling many persons. Everyone should endeavor to give an example of self-renewal and sacrifice and to make selfish and faint-hearted persons ashamed of themselves."

Admiral von Tirpitz, replying to a similar telegram, said: "The U-boat is extremely effective, but needs time."

PICKED FOR DEATH WORK

"Shockunits" Made Up of Men Known to Be Brave
and Easily Spared.

INSUBORDINATE
ALSO SHARE GLORY

Is Revival of "Forlorn
Day in War.

French Front, July 18.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Full and interesting details of the organization of the German formations known as "shockunits," "shockunits," indicate that the German offensive at the front is now divided into superior and inferior grades of soldiers. The "shockunits" specially formed for difficult operations which the ordinary regiments evidently are regarded as unqualified to undertake, are formed from among the young vigorous men of the regular battalions.

They are nearly all unmarried men, or if married are childless and this regulation has been drafted for the reason that whenever they are sent into action, they encounter overwhelming chances of losing their lives. They, in fact, resemble the "forlorn hopes" of old-time wars, except that they are not volunteers.

Insurrectionists Also In It.
German prisoners assert that soldiers who are insubordinate or who do not take kindly to the discipline of the army are sent into the ranks of these special units destined to sacrifice themselves in attacks on especially important positions or in attempts which hitherto have generally proved vain, to recapture positions such as the Chemin des Dames from the French.

Henceforth, according to the newest regulations, each German army corps is to organize "shockunits" of its own. Orders have been issued by the German high command that immediately certain cases each infantry brigade is to have a "shockunit" consisting of a company, and the companies may be united, should circumstances call for it, into a battalion to be at the service of the army corps commander.

Distributed Among Battalions.
Often the men of such a battalion are distributed in small units among the ordinary battalions engaged. They are specially instructed beforehand, as to the most important points aimed at in the attack and they act as guides to their less specialized comrades. Their work is to make breaches in the enemy line, to lead the way into the allies' trenches, to destroy machine gun emplacements and field fortresses with the help of the special cannon and other weapons at their disposal, and eventually to aid in the reorganization for defense against counter attack of any position which may be captured.

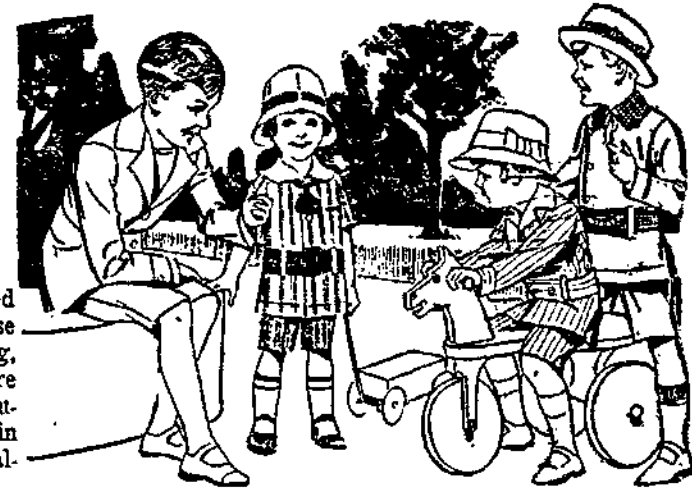

As soon as the heavy fighting is over, the men of the "shockunit" withdraw to the rear and rejoin the battalion in readiness to be hurried off to any other part of the line where hot work is in progress.

DOES WIFEY HAVE TO SEW ON VEST BUTTONS?

Candy Maker Tries to Hide Behind That Form of Neglect.

Charles J. Baird, candy and ice cream maker, gave as a counter-charge on a non-support complaint in police court Wednesday morning that his wife has not sewed a button on his vest or shirts for five years. He has to take his damaged garments to the tailor for mending, he says.

"That is no grounds for your neglect," said Deputy Prosecutor Hoffman.

"It may be," replies the attorney who defended Baird.

The wife will not keep the house in order, the husband said. The couple have been forced to leave several times because of her neglect, Baird said.

"Maybe she is not able to work," interposed the deputy prosecutor. "How much do you weigh?" inquired Baird's attorney when Mrs. Baird, a corpulent woman, took the stand.

"We object," said Hoffman. "You cannot tell about a person's health by their weight." Judge Kerr sustained the objection.

Mrs. Baird blamed booze for her family troubles. She says her husband spends his money for drink. Baird was ordered to pay $6 a week towards the keeping of his wife.

Complexion Lotion!
Use Fresh Lemons
and Strain Juice

Any grocer will sell you two fresh lemons and your drug store will supply you with three ounces of orchard white. Put these in a bottle and shake well. Here you have a whole quart of the most wonderful complexion lotion at about the cost of one cent for a small jar of the ordinary cold cream.

Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then the lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoother and beautifier.

Used by day, this sweetly fragrant lotion protects the skin from the evil effects of the weather and prevents roughness, redness, chafing and smarting. At night it works in the pores while you sleep, and is intended to bring a freshness and peach-like beauty that wins envy and admiration.

Just try it! Make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck and hands. It naturally helps to whiten, soften, freshen and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It works marvelously on rough, red hands. Try it and see for yourself. Advertisement.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarhal, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulate free. All Druggists, etc.

The Cause of Constipation.
Constipation is usually due to a lack of water in the excrement. To effect a cure you must take more water into the system. It may be months, however, before this has any appreciable effect on the bowels, but when persistent in and fruits and vegetables containing water are eaten freely, the condition may be overcome. In the meantime use the mildest laxatives obtainable and take only enough to produce the desired effect. Chamberlain's Tablets are one of the best. They are easy to take and most agreeable in effect.—Advertisement.

BISBEE AND HER REMORSE.

Bisbee, which somehow almost seems to spell out its identity as an Arizona town, is reported quiet and about normal, but still vigilant with gun in hand at the city gates. Bisbee is not looking for more trouble with the Industrial Workers of the World, but is taking no chances. What was done last week to rid the community of disturbers and to pledge its industries a decent chance to operate appears to have been salutary as to the main point, albeit extra-legal, extra-constitutional and all that—the uncommon expedients adopted together making up an interesting program for academic discussion that is not undergoing any species of neglect in quarters whence customarily issue heavy disquisitions bearing upon the veneration due venerable things.

But Bisbee had a condition and not a theory and proceeded to do with it as the peculiar emergence of the case appeared to dictate. The process was not without accompaniment of pain, shock to reason and a certain dislocation of all orderly and regulated procedure, though in the results there are some compensations that are now material and visible. Bisbee is again busy at her business and she possesses her highways and byways and all the rights and privileges thereunto pertaining. That is something, even if had at the expense of recourse to the "extras" in which there are always invested the dormant perils of lawless precedent and example. So President Wilson told Bisbee through the governor of Arizona and Bisbee, no doubt, stands confessing most proper rebuke and suitable contrition, but still, gun in hand, at the gate to see what's coming down the road.

Bisbee was lawless. Bisbee did set up rule of the mob. Bisbee did lay the hand of anarchy violence upon some hundreds of fellow humans and chase them out of town and over the borders of the state. But Bisbee had come to know the I. W. W. and to know was not to esteem; the rather to fear. When men take counsel of fear they do one of two things. They run or they stand up for a good two-fisted fight of self-defense. Bisbee couldn't run, even if that can be imagined, and so Bisbee did the other thing, which was logic of a superior kind. The evil of it is not so much in or of Bisbee as that it opens a perfectly elegant vista of possibilities to other communities of the far west, where the I. W. W. moves about with covert design to stop the war, bring society to its senses and hurry up the millennial dawn by sabotage, by strikes, by incendiarism and by murder.

So Bisbee, signally achieving a salutary result, put into it the employment of an outright bad principle, whereof the moral responsibilities are immense. This doubtless will ride that Arizona town like an incubus, filling its days with apprehensions and its nights with marish dreams. Still with all this, there may be some comfort in the occasional reflection that Bisbee and not the I. W. W. miscreants is bossing Bisbee.

RUSSIA CUTTING UP AGAIN.

Notwithstanding the brilliant work of Kerensky in restoring organization, morale and initiative to the Russian armies at the front, Russia is not yet out of the woods. The cabinet crisis and the popular disturbances in Petrograd show that much, even if reason had failed to apprehend that a thorough stability were unlikely. Russia has more problems than the conduct of the war and the making of a peace acceptable to the people. The paramount necessity lies in getting the people to have some confidence in their government and next to that in getting a government that can be trusted to stick together.

So far most of the men who have appeared in the ministry of the provisional government have seemed to be going on the theory that each one should have his own way. When this could not be there was trouble that resulted in either a small-minded minister getting mad and then getting out, or in some big man like Prof. Milukoff finding it impossible to remain in office. Russia has some able men who will pull her through if they are given the chance, but this cannot be except there be some stabilizing of affairs at the capital. Hands that are strong enough and heads that are wise enough to guide the recreated state without violating democracy are none too numerous in Russia and the most ought to be made of those who are willing to serve.

The cabinet has just broken up and several ministers have deserted. Armed collisions have taken place in the streets, the Finnish diet is attempting to cut Finland entirely loose from Russia and the Ukrainian question is acute and offering excellent prospect of further serious trouble. All this is bound to tell against the brilliant offensive that Kerensky has prepared the army for. Russian arms have won much since the first of the month and if there be no developments back of the lines to halt the offensive face of the war may be changed in a few weeks. But there can be no telling what a couple of hundred millions of fresh-made and untrained democrats in Russia may do next. They may settle down to wait upon the not very swift processes of making a democratic government that can govern, or they may suddenly rise up demanding to be told the use of any government at all.

It is unfortunate in the extreme that Russia should be cutting up again just at a time when her armies are striking so effectively. But there can be no accounting for events in a land in which two hundred millions have suddenly found, after ages of smothering tyranny, that they are free—free to shout, to denounce, to proclaim, to demand and to raise Cain generally if they feel like it.

GUESSING AT POPULATION.

Doubtless there is in fairness at least to be said for the census bureau that the system upon which the draft estimates were based is not a mathematical infallibility. It is the same system that many a city endorses and approves and quotes as testimony to the growth of population in the ten-year period between the regular census-takings, when there is a real count of noses. It is no more than a systematized manner of guessing that such and such a percentage of growth will be repeated. It does not always work; indeed, seldom does. Census returns very infrequently verify the census estimates or come near it. The reverse is true, occasionally, when conditions induce a marvelous growth, as the automobile industry did in Detroit and some other cities between 1900 and 1910.

During the last decennial period there was an amazing industrial development throughout the north. Until the war put a stop to immigration foreign labor was pouring in at a great rate to meet the demand. Here was furnished a basis of estimate that does not hold good for the present and it undoubtedly is the fact that the north has in general drawn more than a fair allotment of soldiers for the draft, and the south has not been required to furnish what ought to be taken from that section.

There may be design in this to the end that too large a proportion of colored troops be not put into the ranks, though there never has been any recorded objection of southernners to the colored citizen shouldering arms and fighting for the country that gave him his freedom and his vote—maybe. In any event, the allotments are seen not to be in all cases fair and the objections and protests are not surprising, though it is not without its heroic phase that cities like Gary find themselves ready to put away imputation of numbers—great numbers, gross numbers, undreamt of numbers—and repudiate the ascribed glories of huge bulk and say, "Nay, nay; we are large, to be sure, but not that large—not large enough to fight Germany almost alone."

The senate has unanimously adopted a resolution calling on the interior department to furnish information relating to the draft estimates. This ought to be done, because it will serve to correct partialities in any future levies for the army and it will doubtless show that the estimates are not so unfair as some of the more radical sectionalists have frothily claimed.

If Chairman Denman and Head Boss Goethals cannot promise an early getting together for turning out tonnage to defeat Germany, perhaps the president can unravel that difficulty by putting one or both of them at something else where they will be equally useful and less obstructive.

The senate opines that a food board of three is much safer and more democratic than a food dictator. There is nothing like sacrificing efficiency to democracy—which is a thing the senate does now and then when it permits some member to talk measures to death and defy a majority.

Uncle Sam has got your number. Have you got it? It will be the good news for you much sooner if you know the figures by which you are known.

SONNET—"TREADMILL"

What of this silly laughter? These strange fears?
This human cycle of fixed acts, and dread,
Slow whirling of the foolish mill we tread,
Whereon are bitter grapes, the food of years,
Fate makes us eat and then wash down with tears?
What of these shadows rising from the bed
Of pale decay and hate inherited,
To strike us dumb and blind ere Hope appears?

They are the common round: we laugh and weep,
And write our useless verses—strut each part,
Mouth and stammering as we go our way;
Stripped of our pride, in nakedness of heart,
At last, washed clean of earth and earthly days,
Ready enough to melt away in sleep.

Our Most Trivial Thought.

WE WONDER IF HERB HOOVER WILL OUR ENEMY ENROLL
WHEN HE TAKES SUGAR FROM DOUGH-NUTS

"I have in my mind, as I write, one who at some time or other did me a small service, who is in many respects certainly the least interesting man I know. We often meet. He is invariably polite and smiling. He inquires so kindly after my health, my family, my business, my pleasures, that I find it impossible to cut him. Yet I declare the trifling favor he formerly rendered me has been repaid a thousandfold in waste of time and hollow expressions of esteem. It would be perfectly impossible by any human means to make him understand that his companionship was not extremely fascinating to me. He could not conceive it to be otherwise. I only wonder how he remembers so much about me. I certainly had the greatest difficulty the other day in recalling the Christian name of his eldest daughter. . . . This is from no cynical intent. I do not admit that he has more Christian punctiliousness upon outward matters. I am convinced that he would be the last man to visit me in a serious illness; the most unlikely acquaintance I have to lend me a ten-pound note at a pinch. Yet if I drop his society will not he and all who call him friend accuse me of blackest ingratitude? Of course they will. So I smile, and he smiles, and they smile, and the daily hypocrisy will last as long as we live."

"Apples and Fashion."
When every pool in Eden was a mirror
That unto Eve her dainty charms proclaimed,
She went undraped without a single fear or Thought that she had need to be ashamed.

'Twas when she'd eaten of the apple
That she became inclined to be a prude
And found that ever more she'd have to grapple
With the much debated problem of the nude.

Thereafter she devoted her attention,
Her time and all her money to her clothes,
And that was the beginning of convention,
And modesty, as well, I do suppose.

Reaction's come about in fashion recent;
Now girls conceal so little from the men
It would seem, in the name of all that's decent,
Some one ought to pass the apples 'round again.

(W. G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, has a committee of experts working today on plans whereby the United States government will insure every soldier and sailor against death, disability and crippling wounds. Legislation embodying it will be presented to congress, which will be asked to pass the necessary laws and make the necessary appropriations. If the plan goes through, it will be the first time such care has been taken of our fighting men and their dependents. The following statement by the secretary of the treasury gives the basic principles of the scheme.)

By HON. W. G. M'ADOO,
Secretary of the United States Treasury.

Life and indemnity insurance is one of the vital important things which must be considered in the present extraordinary situation. The president has been deeply concerned about the proper solution of this question of insurance for the men who go to the front, and adequate provision for the support and protection of their families.

I don't believe the effort thus far made by the nations engaged in the struggle before America came into it has been as well organized or as comprehensive as it ought to be. I should like to feel that America, now she is in this struggle, is going to do this great service for her soldiers and sailors and their dependents in a way superior to that adopted by any other nation; and, in addition to that, that we do it not in a niggardly or grudging fashion, not as charity or pension, but that we do it as a nation of appreciative freemen who are willing to compensate the men who shed their blood for us.

It seems to me we ought not, as we send our men out to this war, say to them they must be dependent upon future legislation for the granting of compensations which have heretofore taken the form of pensions. Our brave men should not be left in uncertainty or doubt as to what is going to be done for them in case either of death or of partial or total disability.

The man who goes out to fight is entitled to know in advance what a just government is going to do for him—even though our people are the most generous on earth.

We are not relying much on the volunteer system any more. We are going to organize this nation as a democracy ought to be organized, so that every man shall bear his just share of the burdens of government and shall get equally, as far as possible, his just share of the benefit of government.

So I think we should not rely upon the volunteer system of charity or generosity to make just provision for the men we send to the front.

We must see to it not only that every American soldier is equipped with the best American money, ingenuity and skill can provide, in order that he may fight with the utmost effect and shed his blood as dearly as possible for his country; but that every American soldier shall go to the front with the comforting and supreme satisfaction of knowing that his loved ones are not dependent upon charity, but are as much entitled to compensation for what they may go to the front as he is entitled to compensation for what he does at the front.

No higher obligation can rest upon a people than that.

AN UNKNOWN POWER SOURCE IS OFFERED TO THE GOVERNMENT

(By GILSON GARDNER.)

An invention claimed to open a new and inexhaustible source of energy, revolutionizing the world's entire industrial and transportation systems, has been offered free to the United States government by Garbed T. K. Giragossian, Boston.

Giragossian's discovery, it is declared, would enable ocean liners to ply back and forth without stopping for fuel, or aeroplanes to fly indefinitely, as there would be no limit to power supply. Locomotives would run without coal, automobiles without gasoline, and electric current could be produced in limitless quantities at the sole cost of wear and tear on machinery.

"Ah! Another crank!" you say. So, Giragossian says, were the men who first talked flying machines, horseless wagons, telegraphs and telephones.

"But," you say, "this must be perpetual motion. And of course perpetual motion is a dream."

"No perpetual motion about it," Giragossian answers. "I simply tap a hitherto unused source of energy, provided by nature as distinctly as she provided beds of coal, pools of oil or fields of gas. It is no more wonderful than the energy that transmits wireless messages half around the world or carries the human voice through thousands of miles of space without visible connection."

Although revealing no details, Giragossian has so impressed the house patrons committee with his sincerity and intelligence that a bill to safeguard his commercial rights for seventeen years, the patent license period, if investigation by five government scientists proves he has what he claims, has been reported from committee unanimously. An attempt will be made to pass it at once, so his invention can be used in the war. It is offered free for all government purposes.

The only danger that threatens the bill is some congressmen's fear they may be ridiculed should the invention prove worthless.

No appropriation is asked, and no expense would be incurred.

Giragossian, an Armenian by birth, for more than twenty years a naturalized American, started work on his invention in 1893. His first success came in 1902, but his process at that time was too involved and the machine too heavy.

No higher obligation can rest upon a people than that.

upset many previously accepted notions of what armies in the field would do. No one, prior to the outbreak of hostilities, would have believed that the French soldiers could have developed, under the whip of attack and preliminary defeat, the ability to withstand three years of trench warfare.

The Frenchman, we were told, quickly lost his spirit when stubborn resistance was more in order than brilliant dash. It was the commonly accepted theory that the Frenchman's mercurial temperament was unfitted for prolonged opposition to what practically meant a siege. The Germans held this view of the French fighting man. It was their general plan, therefore, so experts have told us, to force trench warfare on the French and to harass the British by numerous swift assaults. Time has proven the Germans wrong in both instances.

The faith that Americans hold for their army has led them to expect some quick developments as soon as it gets into action on French battlefields. "So far," comments one military critic, "we have seen little brilliant strategy in the world war—only a brutal pounding back and forth of men and guns in trenches. If there had been a Sheridan or a Stonewall Jackson among the allies we would have seen one of these light-horse cavalry raids through Germany, destroying highways, railroad bridges, munition plants and other military necessities." There, briefly, we have a statement of what most people in this country believe. But, though confidence in the American army is right and proper, it should not be permitted to lead us into expectations that cannot be realized. It is a far cry from the tactics and strategy of the civil war and its open country to the tactics and strategies of this great conflict.

Early morning riders on the electric trains have become quite popular. The trains start about 5 o'clock and on every one can be seen parties numbering from two to fifteen persons taking their morning "constitutional." The air is cool and bracing and a ride to Lindenwood and return is refreshing. The liveried do not vote favorably to this sort of recreation, however.

WHO MUST PAY COST

OF REGISTRATION?

Question of Compensating Help is Worrying Many Officials.

A law was passed for a constitutional convention. Registration was begun in all the counties in the state, including Allen county. Help was hired to do the work and in Allen county it was costing $23 a day. The constitutional convention law was declared unconstitutional.

Now comes the question, who must pay the costs of the work of registration?

This little puzzle is causing much worry among county officials as a report from Indianapolis is to the effect that it is very possible that the county officials will have to pay the cost.

The question was freely discussed by men of the law profession as well as politicians in the court house Wednesday.

Many upheld the theory that the county officials could not be forced to

On the other hand, one lawyer quoted from a case as recorded by Cooley in the 17th Indiana as follows: "When a statute is adjudged to be unconstitutional it is as if it had never been. Rights cannot be built upon it; contracts which depend upon it for their consideration are void; it constitutes a protection to no one who has acted under it, and no one who is published for having refused obedience to it before the decision was made."

Charges Abandonment.
Osa M. Swain has sued Gay P. Swain for divorce, charging abandonment and cruel and inhuman treatment. She also alleges that he failed to properly provide for her and their two children. She says they were married July 23, 1905, and celebrated their eighth wedding anniversary wedding by separating. She asks for the custody of the children, and $20 a month support money.

Threatened to Kill Her.
Alleging that the defendant threatened to take her life, Bertha Freimuth has begun action for divorce from Leo Freimuth. She states that he struck her at divers times and that he also cursed and swore at her and failed to support her and the two children. She asks in addition to the divorce that the defendant be restrained from molesting her and that an order be issued enjoining the Central Foundry from paying him his wages.

Wants $800 Damages.
Alleging that the defendant company violated their contract, Augustine F. Naylor has sued the Perfection Biscuit company for $800. He states that he is the inventor of a patented barrel cover and that the defendant company entered into a written agreement with him to pay him half of the profits derived from the barrel cover. He says he has not received his share of the profits.

Road Report Filed.
The road report for changing the township line road between St. Joe and Cedar Creek townships has been filed with the county auditor.

Wants $10,000 Damages.
Louis K. Sowers has begun action against the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company asking for $10,000 damages, alleging that due to the carelessness of the defendants he was seriously injured on March 14, 1917. He states that he was engaged in shaving poles when many of the poles rolled down upon him.

Made Him Lose Jobs.
Charles J. Baird has sued Cornelia Baird for divorce, charging that the defendant has continuously nagged at him and that due to her actions he has lost several jobs. They were married September 1, 1901.

Wants Guardian Removed.
Fred W. Ropa, a minor, has filed a petition to have Christian L. Daseier removed as his guardian.

GREENLAND EXPLAINS

THE RATE PETITION

Samuel W. Greenland, general manager of the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company, and president of the Indiana Electric Light association, appeared, Tuesday, before the public service commission at Indianapolis to explain points in the petition filed by the association of which he is the head asking for permission to raise light rates. He pointed out that his organization did not take into consideration the proposed increase of fifteen cents a ton on coal transportation when filing a petition for a thirty per cent increase in electric rates. If the petition of the railroads is granted Mr. Greenland said it would be necessary to increase the advance asked for electric power. The Indiana electric rate increase hearing will start on Monday, July 23. No advance in the light rates charged by the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana company is asked.

ADDITIONAL SOCIETY

Hoff—Lamborn.
Miss Emma Lamborn, a former Fort Wayne young woman, but recently living in Newark, N. J., was married at her home, 850 South Seventh street, on June 23, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, to Mr. Leslie D. Hoff. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Folsom, pastor of the Third Presbyterian church of Newark, at his residence. In the presence of relatives and a reception to friends was held afterwards at the bride's home. The bride wore a becoming reception gown of pearl gray satin and when she left later on her wedding trip she wore a black tulle suit with white hat, shoes and gloves. The wedding trip will be spent at Atlantic City and other coast points, and when they return to Newark, Mr. and Mrs. Hoff will be at home at 36 Yates avenue.

A Drop On a Touchy Corn
Instant relief! Then corn on callus lifts off with fingers.

Just think! You can lift off any corn or callus without one twinge of pain.
A Cincinnati man discovered this ether compound and named it Freezone. Any druggist will sell a tiny bottle of Freezone for very little cost. You apply a few drops directly upon a tender corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears, then shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can lift it right off.
Freezone is wonderful. It dries instantly. It doesn't eat away the corn or callus, but shrivels it up without even irritating the skin.
Hard corns, soft corns, or corns between the toes, as well as painful calluses, lift right off. There is no pain before or afterwards. No soreness or smarting. Women should keep a tiny bottle on the dresser and never let a corn ache twice.

Robison Park Baby Show

On account of insurmountable reasons, the Annual Baby Show will be abandoned this season. The baby carriage always awarded on Baby Day will be given away on Romp Day by the usual method. All babies, two years of age or under, visiting Robison Park any day between now and Romp Day, should be taken to the pavilion and registered, when a duplicate numbered check will be given the mother. Manager Williams will also present each baby registering a pair of gold enameled beauty pins. These gifts as well as the baby carriage were purchased at the beginning of the park season, and Manager Williams wishes to present them to the babies of Fort Wayne, even though the usual Baby Show will not be held this year. The winning baby, receiving the baby carriage, need not be present on Romp Day, although the mother should be on hand to receive the gift. Girls carrying dolls, girls pushing decorated doll carriages, as well as girls wearing feature costumes, will be included in the Romp Day Feature Parade this year; therefore, those planning on entering the usual Baby Day parade with their dolls and doll carriages, need not be disappointed.

WALTER CAMP, FAMOUS ATHLETE AND SPORT AUTHORITY, CONDUCTING A CABINET CLASS IN TRAINING OF BODY

"Hands on shoulders!" orders Walter Camp, and the cabinet officers' war training squad squares shoulders like a boys' gym class. After twenty minutes setting up exercises comes a brisk walk, a shower and breakfast, menu too long to be listed. "They have been running on one cylinder," says Camp, "and I'll improve their dispositions and capacity." One was suggested

THREE LOCAL BOYS PROVE REAL SHOTS

Fort Wayne is honored inasmuch that she has three sons at the officers' reserve training camp at Indianapolis who are real shots, two having qualified as expert riflemen, the highest grade, and one as a sharpshooter, the second highest grade. They are respectively, Foster Houck, Robert H. Kleehn and Fred W. Eggeman. Many of the companies at the fort have not completed their final reports on the range practice and it is possible that still more Fort Wayne young men have qualified as expert riflemen or sharpshooters.
What would be an appropriate prayer for a person desiring conversion, to make to God?

RECRUITING TAKES SLUMP

Thirty-One Men of Company E Are Awaiting to Be Examined.

Captain Ryan Leaves for Trip to Sub-Stations of District.

Thirty-one men who have enlisted and signed up in Company E, First regiment of Indiana infantry, are awaiting an army physician to examine them. The ranks of this Fort Wayne company are fast being completed as the time for the mobilization order is rapidly approaching.

According to a new ruling each company of infantry is to have a machine gun squad so that the number of men required for war strength is now larger than it had been.

Recruiting, however, taken as a whole has slumped greatly. It is rumored that a large number of young men are preparing to enlist Friday, the day before the conscription numbers are to be drawn in Washington.

Need Buglers.

Three buglers are needed in Battery B, the second unit of artillery of this city. The officers prefer men who have had experience in blowing any kind of a wind instrument as it is said these men make the best buglers. In artillery service the position of bugler carries with it a great responsibility as many of the orders are transmitted by these men.

Inspection of Stations.

Capt. Thomas F. Ryan, recruiting officer in charge of the Fort Wayne district, is making a trip around the district, stopping at the sub-stations. Enlistments are not numerous at the present time although no letup has been made in the business of recruiting. The usual number of men are being sent to Fort Thomas every day, and it is understood that the slump is not confined to this district but is being felt throughout the country.

Summary of the Day's War News

Gen. Korniloff's armies in eastern Galicia have been held up for a time by the hurrying of heavy contingents of German reserves to the front, stiffening up the Austrian defense along the river Lomnica.

The holding of this river line is vital to the safety of the Teutonic position not only in this part of the front but northward to the Galician border, and that stubborn resistance would be offered there had been anticipated. Meanwhile there is notable activity along the Franco-Belgian front. The French at Verdun have just completed an important operation in the realignment of their front northwest of Verdun, which was disturbed by German attacks in the vicinity of hill 304 late last month. The French, in fact, carried their successful counter attack even beyond the original line and drove nearly two thirds of a mile into the German front from Avocourt wood to west of hill 304. The new ground is being firmly held, several counter attacks undertaken by the crown prince's troops last night being completely repulsed.

On the British front there is pronounced aerial activity and there has been a notable amount of heavy work done by the artillery particularly along the lines in Belgium.

Today's official announcement from Petrograd shows the Russians to be still hotly engaged in the Lomnica region and holding their own against the reinforced enemy. South of Kalusz the Austrians had never been forced across the Lomnica and they are continuing their violent reactions in this region. Yesterday they drove the Russians from a height to the south of Novica, but in a brilliant counter attack, Gen. Korniloff's forces defeated them and recaptured the position. Signs that the infantry battle may shortly be renewed north of the Dniester are seen in the announcement of renewed artillery fighting south of Brzezany and near Halicz.

THE DEATHS.

SISTER PAULINE.

Sister Mary Pauline, 26 years old, a nun of the Order of the Precious Blood, died Tuesday night at the St. Joseph hospital, where she had been a patient since June 23. She was brought here from Cloverdale, Ohio. She submitted to an operation, Tuesday, but failed to rally from the shock. The remains will be taken to Rome City for burial.

SCHIBLE.

Georgiana M. Schible, 5-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schible, died Tuesday evening at the home, on Lillian avenue. Death was caused by a violent heart trouble. The remains will be removed to the home of August Nierman, 2106 Wells street, where funeral services will be held.

FUNERAL SERVICES.

Traxler—Funeral services for Gerald Traxler will be held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at 1325 Erie street. Rev. Samuel Wagners officiating. Interment in Lindenwood.

LETTERS HEAP HIGH IN CLERK'S OFFICE

From East and West Come Queries About Draft Numbers.

Seventy-eight letters were heaped upon the desk of the city clerk Wednesday morning. Every minute carried a query about one or more conscription numbers. Some of the letters asked about five and six numbers. There were communications from New York city, Albany, N. Y., and Denver, Colo. There was a brief note from Birmingham, Ala. Many letters, written with nervous hands, were from Toledo, O.

Most of the letters, which asked about the new conscription numbers, did not include return postage. From the postage account of the city clerk will come the expense of answering the draft questions. It is expected that several hundred letters will be received before the week end.

Deputy Clerk Swartz is carrying on the work of finding out the numbers for those who write to the office. He was a very busy man Wednesday. There were few personal calls at the office from young men living in the city on Wednesday.

WILL MAKE INSPECTION.

Council Members to Tramp Disputed Ground.

Council members will visit the disputed ground, which has been marked off for an industrial track between Montgomery and Holman streets, Sunday morning. The councilmen will meet at the city hall and proceed in a body to the east part of the city. The inspection was ordered after council members, meeting as a committee of the whole Tuesday evening, failed to reach an agreement on the subject of installing the spur track from the Pennsylvania railroad. Several citizens attended the big committee meeting and voiced opinions both for and against the proposed track.

One well-to-do property owner, who has built a home in the region to be affected, says that his peace will be ruined if the industrial track is laid behind his house. This is one of the matters to be determined by council members on Sunday.

Building Walk.

City workmen under Street Superintendent Strodel are building a sidewalk at the southwest part of the Van Buren street bridge.

On Vacation.

Mrs. Stella Broad-Baker, clerk in the park board office, is on her vacation. She is visiting relatives in Albion.

Birth Record.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Potts, 620 Hanover street, a girl. To Mr. and Mrs. Newton Timbrook, 750 West Superior street, a boy.

DON'T BE SMART ALEC, ORDERS CHIEF LENZ

Boys Must Not Swear and Smoke in Public Parks.

Bands of small boys who have tried to appear grown-up by making much noise and smoking cheap cigarettes, have ruined the peace of city parks, Police Chief Lenz has been told. In response to the complaint he has sent out the order that boys who swear and smoke in the city's open places must be brought to the police station. They will be made an example before their playfellows.

There are also complaints about boys and girls playing in the parks and on school lots until a late hour each evening. This must stop, says the chief.

"Boys and girls should be home at 8:30," says Chief Lenz. "They should be tucked in bed by 9 o'clock most every night. Early to bed is good for children's health. I want the boys and girls to have liberty and fun as long as they do not try to disturb people about them."

South Americans Are Making Four Months' Tour of United States.

Fort Wayne was favored the early part of this week with a visit by a party of tourists from the Argentine Republic. The visitors came in Monday morning and left Tuesday evening, being registered at the Hotel Anthony during their stay here. The party of South Americans is making a tour of four months all through the United States, studying not only the scenic beauties of the country, but modes of life, customs and government as well. There were eight men in the party, which departed Tuesday night for Indianapolis.

NEW YORKER TELLS OF HIS ACQUAINTANCE WITH THE BRILLIANT KERENSKY IN JAILS OF RUSSIA

Striking Word Picture of the New Napoleon of the North from a Fellow Socialist Who Spent a Term With Him in Samara Prison.

By FREDERICK M. KERRY.
New York, July 18.—"I know Kerensky. I was his jailmate at Samara."

These words, uttered quietly by a man sitting at a desk in the public library—a man who looked nothing at all like a revolutionist—showed me that this Kerensky, the Morris Kolchin, could relate from personal contact how he looked, thought, acted—Kerensky, the most dramatic figure of 1917—the new Napoleon lately risen from obscurity.

"It was in 1906 that I met Kerensky in the Samara prison," declared Kolchin in careful English. "Samara is on the Volga. It was one of the six or seven prisons I was in on my way to Siberia."

"What was the charge against you?" I asked.

"There was no charge," said Kolchin in surprise. "No one was charged in those days. I was a member of the social-democratic party, anti-government. That was charge enough."

"Kerensky was a member of the social-revolutionist party. The aims are the same; Kerensky's party relied largely upon the peasants, the other party upon the industrial workers."

"I was on my way to the prison village of Narym, in the Province of Tomsk, Siberia, when I met Kerensky at Samara. His prison cell looked out on the courtyard, where we were permitted to exercise during the day. He

"He was then a young man of the student type; his youth impressed me at the time. He is blonde, of medium height—1 should say about five feet seven or eight inches. He has a keen mind, and is a most able debater. He defends the cause in which he is interested with vigor and ability. I knew of his work for the 'cause' and of his arrest, but of course no charges were brought against him; he was simply imprisoned."

Kolchin told me of his escape from prison at Marym, after two unsuccessful attempts—once under a load of revolutionists. They would put their heads through the window, and those of us in the courtyard would converse by the hour with them.

"Kerensky's name first became well known in Russia when, in 1912, he dared as a young lawyer, defend the Lena river gold mine strikers. Thus, openly on the side of the workmen, it was inevitable that Kerensky should devote his life thereafter frankly to revolutionary socialism."

"When the revolution broke Kerensky was made vice president of the Council of Workmen and Soldiers' Deputies."

"In the Minkoff cabinet he was the only socialist but immediately became the most important member."

Britain's Stroke Against Ships Running to Ham- burg Well Planned.

London, July 18.—The allegation of Dutch newspapers that part of Monday's encounter between British destroyers and German merchantmen, which were attempting to run the blockade at Rotterdam occurred in Dutch waters, is generally discredited in naval circles here.

The only reports thus far received at the admiralty come from commanders of British forces in the action by wireless summaries, the substance of which was covered in yesterday's official statement.

The complete reports when received are expected to clear up the situation satisfactorily.

It will be a source of great satisfaction in all the allied countries if Monday's coup succeeds in putting a halt to the traffic between the Rhine and Hamburg, which has been increasing in recent weeks, with greater boldness on the part of German captains.

The British withheld their stroke until the largest flotilla thus far sent by this route was well on its way, and then dealt a quick, hard blow.

IS A TOTAL WRECK.

Ymuiden, Holland, Tuesday, July 17.—The German merchantman Magdeburg, which went ashore of Zealand-vort while attempting to run the British blockade from Rotterdam to Germany, is a total wreck. The crew, of whose members was wounded, has been landed. The Blumenthal was one of the seventeen German merchantmen which put out from Rotterdam, most of which were either stranded, sunk or captured by British destroyers.

INJURED IN FALL.

Warsaw, Ind., July 18.—Mrs. A. N. Binkard is confined to her bed as the result of injuries sustained in a fall Tuesday morning at her home in East Warsaw. Several years ago Mrs. Binkard was seriously injured by a fall and had walked with the aid of crutches since that time. A physician was called Tuesday morning but was unable to determine the full extent of the injuries in the first examination.

THE SECOND RESERVES.

Chicago, July 18.—Official figures on the applications for training in the second series of officers' reserve camps in the central department of the army, made public last night, showed a total of 31,314 applicants, of whom 6,622 were at once rejected and 24,692 certified for examination. From this latter number will be selected the 5,796 men for training in the various camps of the department which opens August 27.

Great Britain is now manufacturing and issuing every week to her armies on the western front an amount of ammunition equal to the total stock available for her entire land service at the outbreak of war.

In the desert stretch between El Centro and Yuma, down in the south-east corner of California, engineers made a new oasis the other day. They just hosed a hole in the ground, and up came the revivifying waters. Then a few date seeds were dropped into the soil, and a few vegetables planted, and they will have an oasis made to order.

DR. HOVEY WRITES FROM CROCKER LAND

Scientist Tells of Work With Seismograph in Green- land.

Washington, July 18.—First reports of the seismographic work of Dr. Edmund O. Hovey, of the Crocker land expedition at Etah, Greenland, where Dr. Hovey and his party made their headquarters last winter, have been received by Rev. Francis A. Tondorf, director of the Georgetown university seismographical observatory here and one of the country's foremost seismologists.

Dr. Hovey, who went north with the first relief expedition and whose ship was wrecked in the ice, took along a seismograph with the intention of determining whether ice pressure has any influence on earth movements in the Arctic. He was successful in saving the instrument from the wreck and established it at the Etah headquarters.

Puts Instrument Together.

Dr. Hovey said he was unable to find the directions for installing the instrument but with the aid of an illustrated catalogue showing a picture of the assembled apparatus and with his knowledge of the basic principle upon which the machine works he was able to put it together all right and get it to running without much trouble.

"Mr. MacMillan, too, is delighted," said Dr. Hovey. "Thus far, I have gotten no record of an earth tremor although the seismograph has been working officially for four weeks. It has been installed in a good room in a shed connected with the house. It rests upon solidly frozen gravel in which its feet were imbedded and cemented in place."

Expects to Get Records.

"I see no reason why any earth tremor should not be recorded and I shall keep putting the papers on so long as I remain here. The temperature in its room ranges from plus four degrees to plus 10 degrees Fahrenheit, and I think that I can maintain it about there during the cold weather."

"There are four of us white men here for the winter. We are very comfortable and will be all right till relief comes next summer."

The other members of the party are MacMillan, Comer and Small.

Dr. Hovey's letter bore the date of "Etah, Greenland, Nov. 18, 1916, and was postmarked at Copenhagen, June 6, 1917." It undoubtedly was one brought out by Dr. Harrison J. Hunt, surgeon of the expedition who recently reached the United States after a 1,500-mile sledge journey over the ice to Godshaven, thence by steamer to Copenhagen and again across the Atlantic.

DAY COACHES TO CARRY GUARD TO CAMPS IN SOUTH

Washington, July 18.—Day coaches will be used for moving the greater part of the National guard to camps in the south where they are to become parts of the national army. When the guard was moved to the border last year tourist sleepers were used in most cases, but it has been discovered that this time there is a shortage of sleeping cars. Reports to the war department today indicated that supplies are being mobilized satisfactorily at state depots.

Delay in laying out camp sites is being remedied and officials of the department believe the first movement will be well under way by the end of the month.

MEN OF DEFENSE COUNCIL BARRED IN FOOD MEASURE

Washington, July 18.—After a week's discussion and in beginning to vote on amendments to the food control bill, the senate today tentatively adopted, 54 to 17, a substitute amendment by Senator Pomerene, of Ohio, prohibiting government agents, including national defense council advisory members, from executing government contracts in which they are personally interested.

She Helps to Save the Nation's Food

Senator Chamberlain succeeded in securing consideration of the $640,000,000 aviation bill in the senate by unanimous consent today and in a brief explanation anticipated objections to the provision for drafting men into the air service by stating that the war department does not intend to conscript men for the flying corps proper, but only for ground service.

"The head of the aviation service so testified before the extensive house committee hearing," he said.

"The bill was passed by the house without a dissenting vote and the senate committee in view of its urgency, decided to report it without amendment. I would be glad to get a vote at the earliest possible opportunity."

Senator Curtis, who had asked about that point, said he was satisfied with the explanation.

Senator Hardwick, however, objected, and offered an amendment to strike out the clause on aviation conscription. The Georgia senator was one of the leading opponents to the army draft law.

LUTHERANS AFFIRM LOYALTY.

Omaha, Neb., July 18.—Twenty-seven pastors and heads of the nine branches of the Lutheran church of America took official cognizance of the Nebraska defense council's charges of disloyalty at a meeting held here when resolutions were adopted affirming the loyalty of the church in America. The ministers represented the 309,000 Lutherans in Nebraska directly and those of the entire country indirectly.

CHAPTER HAS 8,381 MEMBERS

That is Total of Fort Wayne Red Cross Up to July 15.

Headquarters to Be Open an Hour Earlier on Mar- ket Days.

The Fort Wayne chapter of the Red Cross, including all its auxiliary chapters in Allen county and the surrounding counties, now has a membership of 8,381. This was the total up to July 15. It is not known just exactly how many of this total represent Fort Wayne members. Many new names are being received at the headquarters every week, but local officials are determined to boost the membership figures to a much higher figure. Twelve new members were received at the headquarters on East Berry street Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning.

The Fort Wayne chapter of the Red Cross has been in existence for about seven months. The first meeting was held December 11, 1916, and soon after, permission was given by the national chapter to organize a chapter here.

It was announced at headquarters today that hereafter, the room will be opened on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday mornings at 8 o'clock instead of 9 a.m. as has been the custom. The purpose of this is to accommodate persons who come down to the market early in the morning and wish to go to the headquarters and work immediately after their marketing is finished. On other days, the headquarters will be opened at 9 o'clock. It was also announced that the sewing classes would meet every Tuesday and Thursday evening, and on other nights by appointment.

A party that will no doubt prove very beneficial to the Red Cross work was given Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Gottlieb Heine, of Forest Park. It was a children's party, the young workers gathering in the spacious attic of Mrs. Heine's home, where they worked at "snipping" for miniature pillows. After they learn the snipping, the children are instructed in making roller bandages. The work of the children for the Red Cross in the past week has been marked by eagerness and enthusiasm, and a special juvenile organization is to be formed soon for their benefit.

Many people are coming to the Red Cross headquarters on East Berry street to pay subscriptions for the Red Cross war fund campaign, held several weeks ago. These subscriptions do not belong at headquarters, but are to be paid at the Old National bank to Treasurer Frank H. Cuthall.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR LATE EDITOR ARE HELD

The funeral services for Andrew J. Moynihan, former editor and owner of the Journal-Gazette, were held at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Cathedral of Immaculate Conception. Francis McCarthy was in charge of the services. The body arrived over the Pennsylvania at 2:55 o'clock. Interment was to be made at the Catholic cemetery.

Thomas R. Marshall, vice president of the United States, who was expected in the city to attend the service, had not arrived at a late hour Wednesday afternoon.

FISHING IS GOOD.

Charles E. Biederdorf, secretary of the Commercial club and fisherman par excellence, should have no trouble convincing his friends about the city that he is some fisherman. He has the proof. Wednesday morning a half bushel basket of blue gills arrived at the Commercial club from Hamilton lake, where Secretary Biederdorf is spending a few weeks.

TWELFTH LESSON PREPARED BY MME. ARCHINARD

Have you many aviators?

Avez vous beaucoup d'avions?

Not yet, but in a little while:
Pas encore mais dans peu de temps
Pah zancore may dans pu duh tan?

The French are good aviators
Les Français sont de bons aviateurs.
Lay Fransay son? duh hon? zavegduhr

Yes, but the Americans will become so Oui, mais les Américains l'aidvriendront.
Ooee, may lay zámreekan? duh duhvean?drón?

In these lessons the English sent once appears in the first line, the French equivalent in the second and the pronunciation in the third line.

In the pronunciation key, straight lines over the letters A and U denote the long sound, as in "date" and "duke;" curved lines over these letters denote the short sound, as in "hat" and "but;" two dots over the U indicate a sound somewhat like the German "ue," which Americans may approach by pronouncing long U and long E at the same time.

Cut out these lessons and paste them in your note book.

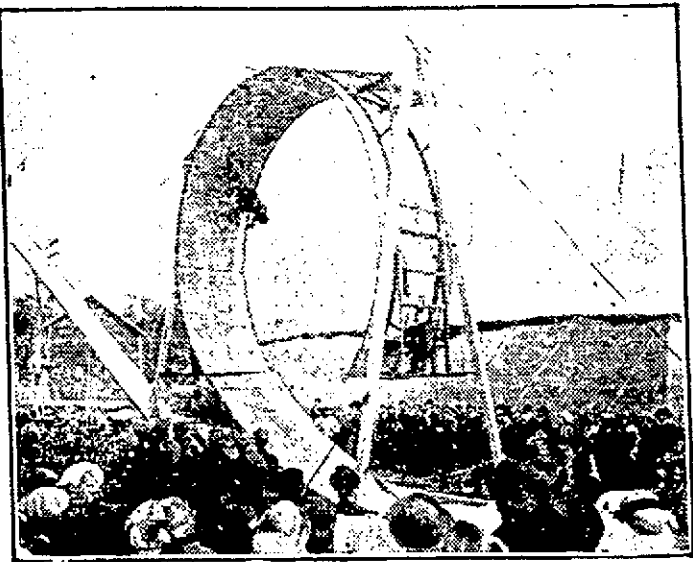

The purpose here is merely to give the young men who may serve with the army in France such a knowledge of French as will make simple words known and some sort of friendly intercourse with French people and soldiers possible. No attempt is made to teach the grammar of the language.

ROAD MUST BE SOLD.

Huntington, Ind., July 18.—With the mandate of the supreme court of the Huntington circuit court, Judge Cook will now have to advertise the C. B. & C. for sale without restrictions. It is believed that such a sale will result only to a sale to junkmen, and that after the sale the road will not be operated. Strong efforts were recently made to find some way by which the road could be continued in operation, but every appeal was met with the statement that it would not be right.

No arrests have yet been made. Montpelier formerly had a gambling fraternity that could easily put Monte Carlo in the shade.

TROUBLES OF HOPE
HOSPITAL AT AN END

Satisfactory Adjustment of Differences Has Been Effected.

The differences between the board, physicians and nurses of the Hope hospital which for a time threatened to disrupt that institution have been satisfactorily settled, according to the principal participants in the recent unpleasantness.

It is now believed that all friction and misunderstandings have been removed, the atmosphere has been cleared, so to speak, and henceforth and forevermore, there will be no more trouble.

A. C. Barry, president of the Hope hospital board, is out of the city and no statement could be secured from him. Dr. Miles F. Porter, sr., says that an agreement has been reached and all differences settled.

"The affairs of the hospital, I feel sure, will now move steadily and smoothly toward the attainment of a great efficiency in the new home and surrounded by modern advantages and equipment," Dr. Porter continued.

The new hospital on West Lewis street will not be fitted up as rapidly as possible. Mrs. Elizabeth Springer states that her department will be ready to receive patients within a day or two.

WRINGER RIOT IS NO
WHISPERING AFFAIR

Mrs. Johnson Finally Tired of Being Pushed Off of Front Porch.

It was no whispering affair when Mrs. Florence Johnson and Mrs. Sarah Williams, 1313 Horace street, assembled on the front porch of their joint home to settle the matter of their ownership of the family wringer Monday afternoon, witnesses in police court Wednesday morning testified.

The lively cynosure for all the women of the neighborhood lasted for nearly an hour and called half a dozen peaceful ladies into court on Wednesday. Witnesses refused to repeat a part of the language which was wrong from the principals in the case during the front porch bout.

Mrs. Johnson dealt two sissy slaps to the left cheek of the portly Mrs. Williams by way of opening the physical effort of the misunderstanding, it was told. At the end of the clinch Mrs. Williams pushed Mrs. Johnson off the porch. With a rush Mrs. Johnson returned. She was hurled from the platform again. A third effort to gain a foothold on the arena was also repulsed. Then Mrs. Johnson quit fighting but Mrs. John Likens, 1311 Horace street, admitted that the woman did not cease talking at that point.

The engagement was all about the family wringer. Both women claimed ownership of the domestic necessity. Mrs. Johnson was moving from the house and had started to take the useful device with her. She was halted on the front porch by Mrs. Williams, who laid a firm hand on the household article. She claims she bought the wringer from Mrs. Johnson. The animated bout followed.

"Who has the wringer?" cheerily asked Judge H. W. Kerr.

"I got the wringer," quickly answered Mrs. Williams.

Several women called to the stand and who admitted that they had hurried from their homes upon hearing the sounds of altercation, told of the brief fight. They stated that the two women had been known to have differences before. One witness said that Mrs. Johnson choked Mrs. Williams a little at one point of the struggle.

"You could easily hear that they were in a row?" Judge Kerr asked Mrs. Myrtle Durrin, 1312 Horace street, who had left her pants to take a place on her front veranda, across the street, when trouble arose.

"It was no whispering affair," she said.

The husband of Mrs. Florence Johnson gave his version of the wringer wrangle. He accused Mrs. Williams with deliberately trying to precipitate a riot.

Judge Kerr found Mrs. Johnson, the defendant in the case, guilty of assault on Mrs. Williams. He continued the case indefinitely.

TO ORGANIZE INDIANA
WOMEN FOR THE WAR

August 15 Will Be Draft Day for Them and a Campaign is On.

Indianapolis, July 18.—In launching what is believed to be the first statewide movement to organize its women as thoroughly for food conservation as its men have been organized for military duty, Indiana again has taken the lead in rallying to the support of the federal government in the win-the-war campaign.

At a meeting of H. E. Barnard, acting Indiana food commissioner for Herbert Hoover, national food administrator, and members of the Indiana League for Women's Service at the state house, a flying start was taken toward forming an effective organization of women on Wednesday, August 15, "conservative day" for women.

It is planned to have perhaps 10,000 women canvas the state on that day, to see that every woman is urged to sign a card pledging herself to food conservation. The pledge follows:

I am glad to join you in the service of food conservation and I hereby accept membership in the United States food administration, pledging myself to carry out the directions and advice of the food administrator in the conduct of my household, insofar as my circumstances permit.

The cards will be sent to the food administrator in Washington and acknowledgment will be sent to the signers by him.

In addition to the national enlistment the Indiana League for Women's Service, under the direction of Miss Julia Landers, will conduct a campaign on the same day to co-ordinate and standardize the work of the women of Indiana along lines of constructive patriotism. Cards will be distributed to obtain data on which twenty-five or thirty departments of women's work the signers may be of service.

In the last week of June, 1916, a quantity of light and medium munitions was consumed by the British armies on the western front, greater than that which was produced in the whole of Great Britain during the first eleven months of the war.

SHOULD GIVE SEAT TO PAY PASSENGERS

General Manager Crawford, of Pennsy, Reminds Pass Holders of Duties.

In view of the war necessity for restricting passenger train service, D. F. Crawford, general manager of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh, has issued a personal request to every individual employee. Requests in similar form are being sent to employees by the chief transportation officers of other portions of the Pennsylvania system, both east and west of Pittsburgh.

A copy of the request, which has been printed in the form of a small leaflet, will be placed in the hands of every individual employee. Requests in similar form are being sent to employees by the chief transportation officers of other portions of the Pennsylvania system, both east and west of Pittsburgh.

The leaflet is not intended as an order, but merely a reminder of a duty which already exists. It says in part: "Under war conditions trains will, at times, unavoidably be crowded. It may not always be possible to give every passenger a seat, but certainly none should stand while railroad men, holding passes, are seated."

"The obligation of an employee, in such a case, is plain and rests upon the principles of courtesy and right. It may be performed without embarrassment to anyone, and without attracting needless attention, by simply arising and moving quietly to another part of the car or train."

An innovation in the methods of travel by high officials over the Pennsylvania was noticeable this week when General Manager D. F. Crawford, General Superintendent W. C. Downing and General Motive Power Superintendent P. F. Smith, Jr., made a trip over the lines. Instead of traveling by special train, as heretofore, Mr. Crawford rode in his private car attached to a regular train and Messrs. Downing and Smith came here in a Pullman car of one of the regular trains.

NO MEETING THIS YEAR.
Nickel Plate Veterans Will Pass Up the Gathering.

With a handsomely printed pamphlet giving the secretary's report of the last meeting of the Veteran Association of the Nickel Plate, which was held in Buffalo last fall, came a circular from John H. Nichols, the secretary, stating that there will be no meeting this year. Mr. Nichols offers three reasons, as follows: President Wilson's wish that all unnecessary conventions and meetings be postponed; the need of every available man and car for the business of the road and for use by the United States government; and the probability of not being able, if a meeting is held, of obtaining Pullman cars for the transportation of the veterans. Last year the veteran meeting was attended by over 300 members and several Pullman cars were necessary to carry those from a distance.

Agent C. P. Porter Fills Vacancies in Ranks.

The appointment of Herman C. Miller at Napoleon, of the Wabash, and the advancement of A. E. Klotz to cashier to succeed Mr. Miller in the local Wabash freight offices has been followed by other changes which are promotions to the men affected. Agent Porter has advanced L. Rao to assistant cashier, succeeding Mr. Klotz, and Ed Hilker to day bill clerk to succeed Mr. Rao. Mr. Hilker was formerly expense clerk and that position has been filled by the employment of Ed Woenke, formerly with the Pennsylvania. As stated, these changes are promotions for the men affected and they were won by faithful and efficient service during the years they worked for Mr. Porter.

A. W. SARGENT COMING HOME.

A harbinger of the coming in a few days of A. W. Sargent, of Blair, Texas, was the arrival by express of his pet dog, "Rowdy," which was delivered at the home of Mr. Sargent's mother, Mrs. Sargent, No. 810 Holmes street, last night. It has been the custom of A. W. Sargent to ship his dog a day or two in advance of himself, when coming home on a visit or when returning to Texas. Mr. Sargent will visit with his folks in Fort Wayne until August 1, when he will go to Coldwater lake to remain until September 15. On that date he will leave for his home in Texas. Mr. Sargent is a yardmaster at Blair for the Texas & Pacific company. Before leaving Fort Wayne he was employed on the Pennsylvania, first as brakeman and later as conductor.

SELLING MANY TICKETS.

It was stated yesterday by one of the men interested in the benefit ice cream social at Swinney park tonight, given under the auspices of the International Association of Electrical Workers for the striking employees of the Duglio Manufacturing company, that over 5,000 tickets had been sold and that this sum would not represent more than half of the total sales. The labor unions, it is said, are contributing liberally, the results not being fully known at present. The Electrical Workers, which is directing affairs for the strikers, is receiving many new members. Monday night twenty-seven applicants were initiated.

WILL BUILD A HOME.

The Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, one of the strongest and best financed labor unions in the city, will have a home of its own, if plans arranged recently are carried out. The union has set aside $7,000 as a nucleus to the building fund and it is predicted that this fund will reach $10,000 by next spring, when preparations for securing a site and building will be made. It is proposed to have a building with offices for committee rooms and an up to date assembly hall. The Carpenters' union has a membership of over 650 and is increasing it weekly.

SOME TOMATOES, THESE.

Jim Sivets, one of the tenants in the General Electric farm, is entitled to the prize as a ruler of tomatoes. In his patch is one tomato plant which has forty-eight big tomatoes. Those who have seen the plant declare it is the most wonderful in a productive way they ever saw. W. H. Fell, a foreman of one of the departments of the Electric works, who has had a sort of supervision over the farm from its origin, takes even more pride in Mr. Sivets' achievements as a gardener than does that gentleman himself. Nearly all of the gardens in the farm are doing well.

PALMBEARERS FOR TRAILER FUNERAL.

The palmbearers for the funeral of Gerald Traxler, which will be held at a clock tomorrow afternoon, are men who worked a number of years with the deceased in the shops. They are W. H. Hosterman, Charles Holman, G. F. VanHusik, W. F. Sprandel, L. J. Woenker and Ross LaMar. The employees of the Pennsylvania power plant, in which the deceased had worked, sent a magnificent floral piece to the house to be placed on the casket of their departed associate.

FRANK COUSAR PROMOTED.

Frank C. Cousar, material inspector for the New York Central, with headquarters in Chicago, has been transferred to the lines east of Pittsburgh, with headquarters in Albany, N. Y. This transfer is considered in the light of a promotion. Mr. Cousar is the son of Charles A. Cousar, metallurgist at the Bass foundry, and in the performance of his duties as material inspector, he made frequent visits to Fort Wayne and saw his friends often.

GAVE FRIENDS FISH SUPPER.

The fish were caught by Mr. Rhein, who is an expert with the hook and line. Among his guests were J. R. Aldy, H. Phillips, M. O. Shookman, D. Tegtmeyer, E. Wehmeyer, J. Mohrman, J. H. Deek, L. Carpenter, H. Rohrbach, J. Richhart and W. McGrath.

LOOKING-OVER ELEVATION.

W. S. Danes, superintendent of bridges and buildings, and N. Johnson, engineer of maintenance of way of the Wabash, were in the city today on business connected with the proposed elevation of the tracks at Lafayette street. This work will be taken up by the Pennsylvania and the Wabash simultaneously when both are ready for it.

PICNIC POSTPONED.

Because of the very disagreeable weather and for possibly other reasons the annual picnic which was to have been held Thursday in Weiser park under the auspices of Hyacinth lodge, No. 38, Ladies' Society of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, has been postponed. It will be given at a later date, which will be announced in due time.

TO COOMBS STREET NEXT.

ON THE TRAIL

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The pressure is relatively low in northern and western sections and it is high off the Atlantic coast. During the last 24 hours showers occurred quite generally in the districts to the eastward of the Mississippi and in Oklahoma and northwestern Texas. The weather is generally cooler than the seasonal average in north-central and southern sections, but in the northwest and from the Rockies westward to the coast the temperature is generally above the normal.

BOWSER CLUB PICNIC.

At the regular meeting Monday evening, after drill, the Bowser Military club voted to have a band concert and ice cream social at Swinney park, the evening of August 9th. This social will be in the nature of a "Pete Dink" affair, as far as finding the mysterious party is concerned. This, together with good eats and music, backed by the enthusiasm of the Bowser Military club, promises to be a good sized and very enjoyable affair.

Milk from Intelligent and Clean Little Pets of Great Value in Cure of Tuberculosis.

IN the office of a prominent St. Louis physician the following animated conversation took place: "I don't know what we are coming to. This morning I got notice that the price of milk has taken another jump. I have a healthy family of hearty eaters. I have a sick baby that needs sterilized milk, and I have a sister with incipient tuberculosis, who has to drink milk by the quart. You just have to have a few clothes and some fuel in the winter and some ice in the summer. You can't spend your whole income for milk."

"Why don't you try the canned stuff," another lady in the waiting room suggested. "I find it much better for making cream sauces, and after you get used to it you don't mind it, even in coffee. As for the baby—"

"For heaven's sake don't give it to your baby!" a third cried, with a note of real distress in her voice. "I was betrayed into that fatal blunder by a doctor who didn't know his business. When my second daughter was a baby, she had stomach trouble and we put her on condensed milk. She got fat and rosy for a while, and then she developed the most terrible case of rickets. We took her to a specialist, and he said the condensed milk lacked some of the essentials of body-building, and we had a terrific struggle to save her life and prevent her from being an invalid all her days."

"As far as the canned milk is concerned," the fourth lady put in, "I have another objection to offer—the cost! It's just like everything else. I used to get three big cans for a quart. The last I bought, they asked me 15 cents a can. I almost fainted."

"Why not buy a goat?"

None of the animated ones had observed that the doctor had entered the room and was enjoying to the full their evident distress. "A goat!" The cry of consternation came from all four.

"Oh, I felt the same way about it before I learned the difference between goats and goats," the doctor laughed.

There Are Goats and Goats.

"But you couldn't keep a goat in the city," one of them interrupted; "and, besides, the milk is strong, and we all know what a goat can do with its horns."

"I wasn't thinking about the kind with horns and strong milk," the doctor interrupted, not laughing now, but in deadly earnest. "As I said before, I went through the same set of protests when I happened to run into a goat convention at Rochester, N. Y., several years ago, where all the baby specialists in the country seemed to have congregated to exchange experiences and buy goats. I found, to my astonishment, that the finest lot of goats there belonged to a doctor up at Hannibal, in my own state, who had saved the lives of 200 babies and no end of anemic grown-ups, by putting them on a diet of goat's milk."

"I don't think I would like to drink the milk that is produced by an animal that eats rusty tomato cans," another of the ladies exploded. "Poor goat!" the doctor sighed. "Give a dog a bad name, and he might as well go out into the street and watch for the first automobile to run over him. The fact is, that the goat is the cleanliest eater there is. That is one reason why goat's milk is so much more healthful than cow's milk."

"The goat cannot be compared to cows and chickens in cleanliness. It is perfectly true that goats can exist on next to nothing, but if you buy a pedigreed Swiss milk goat and pay a good price for it, you are not likely to feed it on tin cans. I keep three goats in a little pen that is only 8 feet wide, across the back end of my lot, between the garage and the side fence. Their little house is built against the side of the garage, and just to make the thing picturesque, we had the garage and goathouse designed in the style of the Swiss chalet; but you don't need anything so fancy. My friend, Dr. Schmidt, who let me into the secrets of goat raising, when I visited him in Hannibal, began his experiment with little sheds made out of piano boxes, in the yard back of his house."

"And you actually have goats, right here in St. Louis?" the mother of the delicate baby demanded.

"Yes, and I could name seven other physicians who keep goats for their own use and for their patients, especially for those that have had typhoid or any other wasting disease."

"For heaven's sake don't give it to your baby!" a third cried, with a note of real distress in her voice. "I was betrayed into that fatal blunder by a doctor who didn't know his business. Makes Butter and Cheese.

"I have my own family so trained that they don't like any other kind of milk. And we make all our own butter and cheese, too. It is a general impression that you can't make butter out of goat cream; but that is because the cream doesn't rise, as it does on cow's milk. We have a small hand-power separator, and we churn just enough to last us two or three days at a time. We add a little coloring matter, the same as is used in the best creamery butter, and the kind that the government permits the oleo man to supply their customers with, when they buy white oleo."

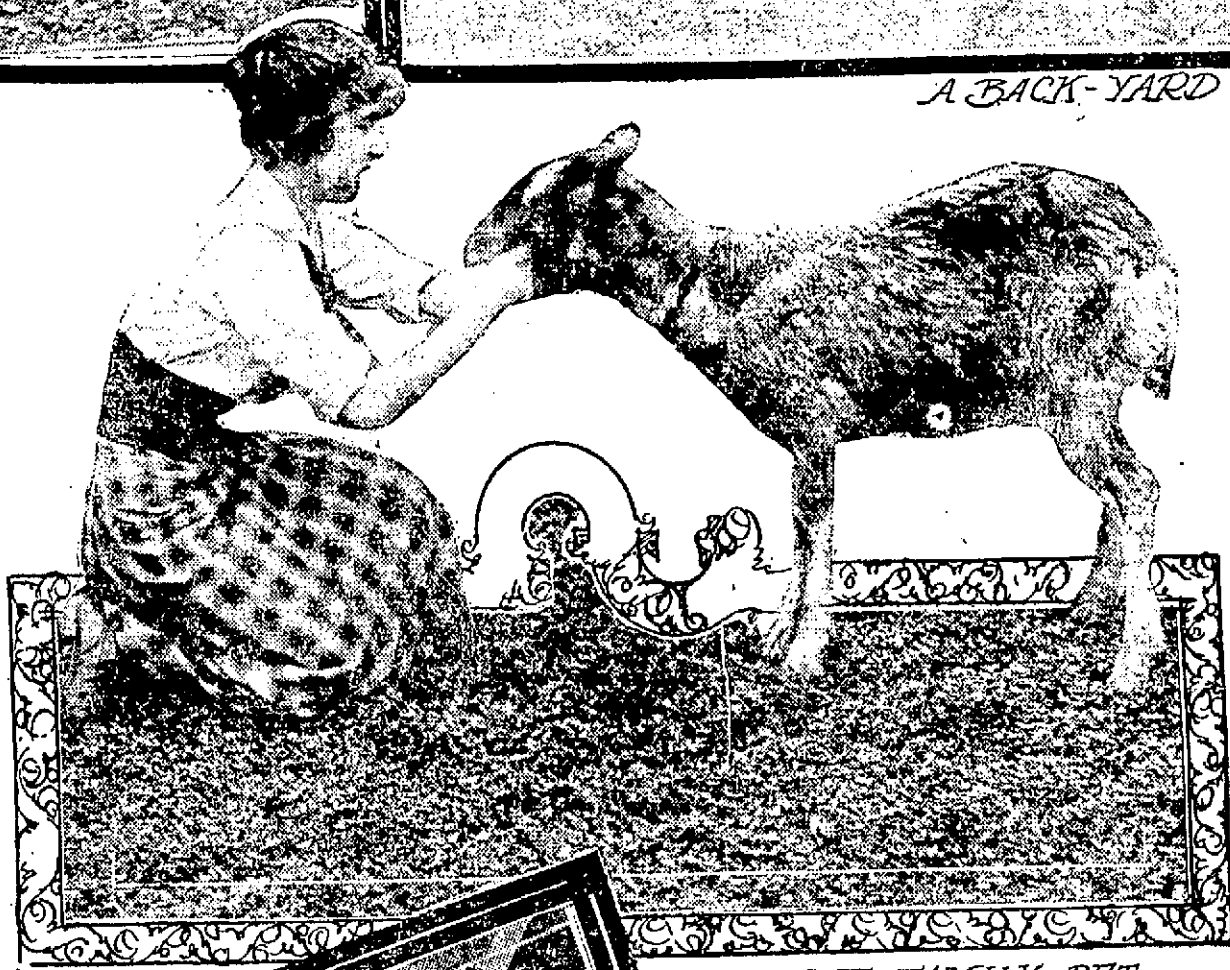

"I don't keep goats for the sake of getting back at Mr. High Cost of Living, although it works out that way. I have them so my family won't need the services of a doctor."

Whereat one of his patients ejaculated:

"And that's why you haven't been preaching goat sermons to us poor wretches who have to pay you our good money to keep us well."

The physician had to admit that if every family in the city kept goats, not only the dairymen but a large percentage of the doctors would be forced to seek other means of earning a livelihood. That contingency is a long way off, chiefly because of the old prejudice against the clean little animal that has been designated "the poor man's cow."

For the last ten years the department of animal industry in Washington has been making experiments and sending out bulletins, urging the American people to raise goats for both milk and meat; but still the prejudice stands. It is the same prejudice that exists in England. In spite of the ardent pleadings of the duchess of Hamilton, who has long been an enthusiastic and the French chef never thinks of apologizing for it.

We think of Switzerland as the home of the goat, and it is true that our best stock comes from that country. The most popular breed, with American physicians, is the Toggenburg, because of the character and quantity of its milk. "It is a fawn-colored animal, which, at some remote point in its ancestry, was probably crossed with the wild chamois of the Swiss mountains. It has no horns and is very gentle in disposition."

It is derived from the Toggenburg Valley in the canton of St. Gallen, close to the southern shores of Lake Constance, and its characteristics were not developed by the aid of professors of animal husbandry. They are the result of the native thrift and shrewdness of the Swiss people. A goat that had a mean disposition or that did not give a sufficient quantity of milk was promptly turned into "mutton"—which does not necessarily mean sheep meat—and another nannie was raised in its place. Thus, in the course of a couple of centuries, all the bad-tempered goats and all the poor milkers were eliminated and a strain of prolific and amiable goats was established.

The chief reason for the importing of these animals into the United States is to be found in a chemical analysis of their milk, and their popularity has been materially on the increase since the discovery was made, ten years ago, that a large proportion of our regular milk supply is tainted with tuberculosis germs. One dairymen in Jefferson County, who sent his entire output of milk to St. Louis, was forced to kill all but eleven of his cows when the inspectors found that the major part of his herd was supplying the most seriously germ-laden milk to the unsuspecting public. Of the eleven that were left, three others had to be sacrificed when they had been in quarantine two months.

Quits Producing Milk.

That farmer gave up trying to produce milk, and what he has to say about the slaughtering of his cows would not look well in print. To his way of thinking he was robbed of his means of earning a livelihood. He is not alone in his feeling of injury, for hundreds of milk shippers had the same experience, and the killing of so many tubercular cows has much to do with the advanced cost of milk and beef.

Goats are not subject to tuberculosis. The most rigorous tests have failed to find the bacillus of this dread disease in goat's milk. The animal can acquire the disease when the germs are introduced directly into its blood by means of a hypodermic needle; but it never contracts tuberculosis naturally, as the cow does. This is advantage enough, but it is by no means the only advantage the milk possesses, as shown by the chemist's analysis. It has a higher percentage of butter fat than cow's milk.

FEEDING TIME

goat raiser, and insists that all her children were brought up on goat's milk, and the finest meat that is served on her table is roast kid. On the Continent there is no prejudice against either the milk or the meat of goats. In the south of France the milkman does not bring your supply in a cart, but delivers it "on foot" in the most picturesque manner possible. He drives his herd of milk goats through the streets, stopping at the gate in the high stone wall of his customer's residence and ringing the bell. When the mistress or the serving maid comes out, he milks a measureful from the goat which that family happens to prefer, and drives on to the house of the next customer. There is no question of adulteration or unsanitary handling of the milk when it is produced before your very eyes.

"Leg of Kid" a Delicacy.

In Paris, where they surely know good things to eat, the average number of goats and kids slaughtered annually, in times of peace, is 140,000. This meat is not called "mutton" and is palmed off on the public as the flesh of sheep. The "leg of kid" is quite able to travel on its own feet and under its own name. It is sweeter and more delicious than leg of spring lamb,

In fact, the general run of goats and cows, from the poorest to the best in breed, will show an average of double the percentage of butter fat from goat's milk. Cow's milk averages 4 per cent more of water, and the casein and ash which are so valuable to body building are practically absent from the milk of the cow. However, the greatest advantage of the goat's milk lies in the fact that its fat globules and its solid particles are so finely divided that even the most delicate stomach can easily assimilate them.

Because the fat is too perfectly emulsified the cream does not readily rise to the surface as it does in cow's milk. Hence the need of a separator if one wishes very rich cream for table use or for butter making. The milk that has not been run through the separator is as rich as ordinary dairy cream, yet it does not derange the weakest stomach, as cow's cream does, because of the minute division of the fat particles.

In Cranbury, N. J., there is a tuberculosis sanitarium under the direction of Dr. E. S. Gordon, who shows a far greater percentage of cures than are reported from the health resorts of Colorado and Arizona. In the grounds behind the hospital there is a great herd of Swiss milk goats, and the patients are never permitted to touch cow's milk.

The specialists make no claim that goat's milk will "cure" tuberculosis. There is no cure for that dread disease except the cure which nature effects, when she is properly assisted. Fresh air and nourishment are the two requisites, and the milk of the goat gives the maximum of nourishment without the danger of introducing a fresh supply of tuberculosis germs every morning and evening.

Makes Intelligent Pet.

When the public has been properly enlightened the goat will take the place of the dog as the children's pet. It is as intelligent as a dog, and, if taken in hand when it is young, it can be taught no end of interesting tricks. Its housing problem is not serious, for it likes to sleep on a wooden bench which it likes to bedding, except in winter, when it must be protected from the cold. When it comes to food, that is quite another matter. The goat's little to keep, but its feed must be handled properly.

It seems to delight in throwing its dinner on the ground and walking on it. Then it tosses its head in contempt and refuses to touch what its feet have contaminated. The hay may be ever so carefully picked up and shaken, it may even be put away and brought out at the next feeding; but the goat will detect the odor at once and give unmistakable evidence that it is on to your trick. When once the feed has been on the ground you might as well burn it or feed it to the indiscriminating cow.

A goat, to be healthy and in prime milking condition, should have a morning feed of a pint of oats and a pint of bran. The rest of the feed should be as far as possible a thoroughly mixed diet, consisting of corn, barley, acorns, scalded meal, the refuse from the kitchen, especially such greens as cabbage leaves, pods, potato and apple parings; wisps of hay, given along with the soft food, not to mention grass, weeds, the trimmings of fruit and shade trees, and almost anything else that a goat can chew.

In the Eastern States, where the value of goat milk for babies, convalescents and tubercular patients is well known, goat's milk has been known to command as much as 80 cents a quart. Usually it sells for the same price as cow's milk, and is far more valuable. Any surplus that the family may have can readily be disposed of to the neighbor with a family of children when once the situation is understood. But there need be no surplus, if the goat is to perform its task of reducing the cost of living.

One goat enthusiast sniffs at the idea of using a separator for preparing his cream to be churned. His method is one which he learned in England years ago, and it is simple and easy. He takes all the milk that is left over after it has stood for twelve hours, sets the pan on the stove and heats it almost to the boiling point, or until a ring may be seen on the wrinkly surface of the cream. It is then set aside in a cool place for another twelve hours and the cream is skimmed off and churned.

The milk that remains after skimming is as rich as ordinary whole milk from the dairy and can be used for drinking or for cooking. His method of churning the cream is to put it into a bowl and beat it with an egg whip after it has soured. The butter comes in a few minutes, but is as white as snow and requires a few drops of vegetable coloring fluid to give it the golden tint that suggests butter to the dwellers in the city.

The Greatest Time and Money Saver

We think of railroads, telephones, the telegraph, the wireless,—but how about WANT ADS?

They are in the same class. It used to be when a man wanted help he had to ask among his friends where he could get a good stenographer, bookkeeper, etc. Today he puts in a WANT AD and tomorrow he has only to choose from a dozen or more.

He has furniture to sell—a WANT AD brings many buyers.

He has a house to rent—a WANT AD rents it—he has a house to sell—a WANT AD sells it.

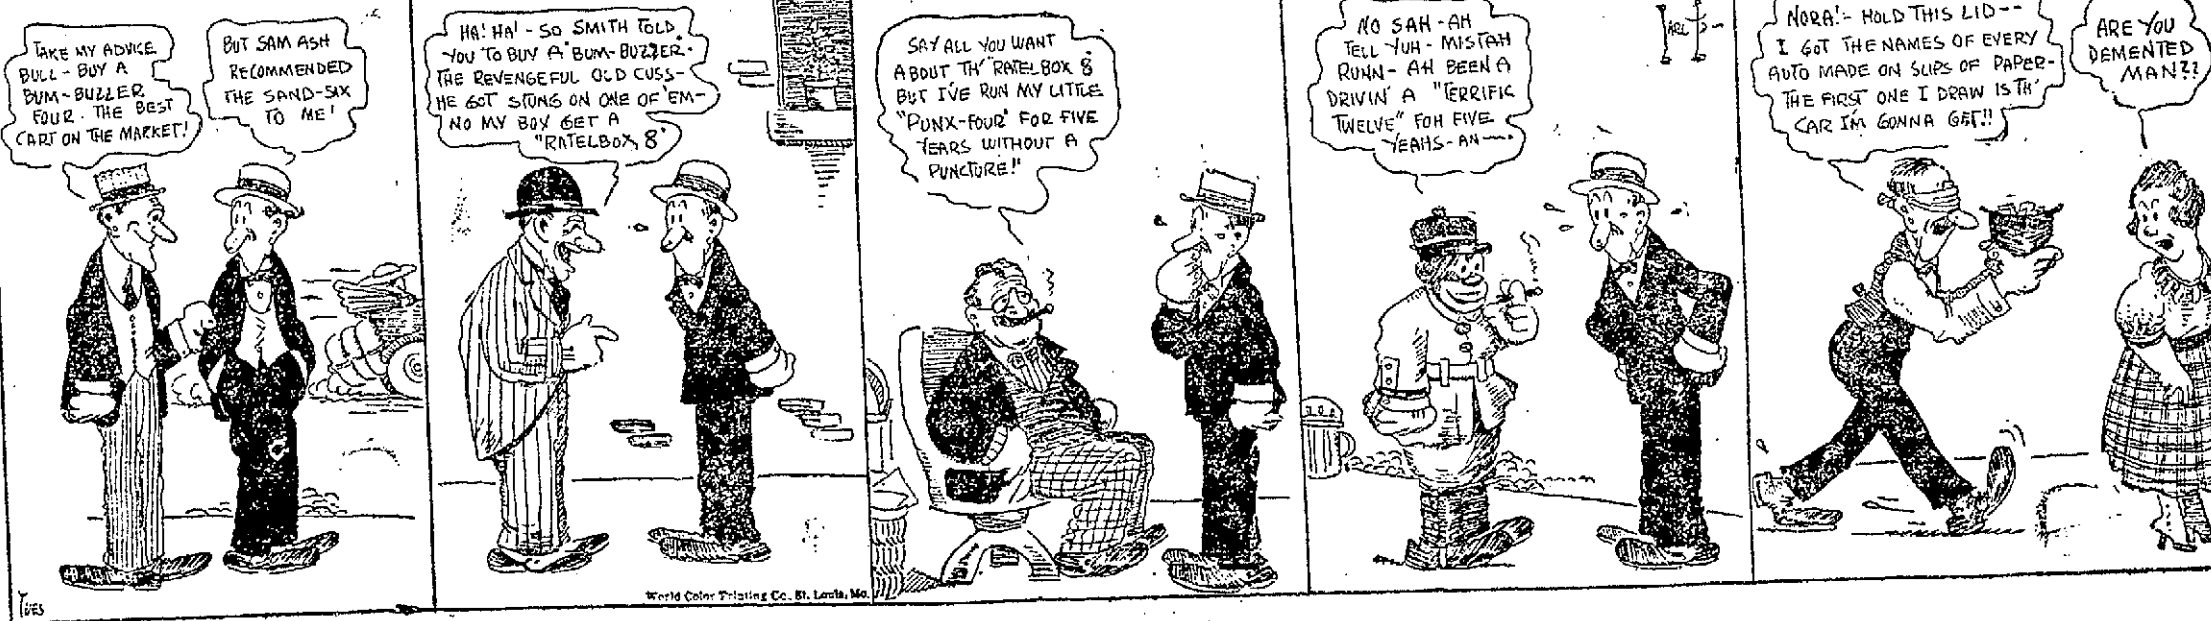

They're a great convenience, aren't they?

MAKE FINE SHOWING
Indianapolis Man Says Food Effort Here is Example for State.

Fort Wayne gardens are the best in Indiana, states Joseph Huxley, of Indianapolis, traveling man and interested in the food effort of the state, who was in Fort Wayne Tuesday afternoon. Huxley was taken on a tour of inspection over the city Tuesday.
"Indianapolis is making a great effort, but their garden results will not compare with Fort Wayne," said Huxley at the conclusion of his forty mile ride. "The gardens in Fort Wayne show that the folks here have kept right after them. This city is setting a fine example for Indiana."
Huxley has visited cities in every part of the state. He has taken special interest in their gardening effort. He is actively engaged in the food production effort in Indianapolis. He knew of the work of F. W. Gray, Purdue expert, who was in the capital city before he came to Fort Wayne.
"Fort Wayne should produce more potatoes than Indianapolis," says Huxley. "The potato crop in Fort Wayne is the best I have seen. I am indeed surprised at the general fine showing."
The visitor was somewhat disappointed in the appearance of the city. A part of the city seems to be sadly neglected, Huxley comments. A part of the rows which show least attention belong to men who started out with much zeal and who have not left the city, Huxley was told.
"I suppose their wives could not get out to tend the patches," said the visitor. "I must give the women much credit for the success of all city gardens. It is the women who have stayed by the job."

Before closing the meeting of national officers of the Walther league, held here Monday and Tuesday, it was decided to hold the 1918 convention in Buffalo, N. Y. The first Walther league was formed in Buffalo.

TALKS ON IMMORTALITY.
Evangelist Allen Says It Is a Gift of God.
Evangelist Allen spoke Tuesday night at the tent on West Main street on the subject, "Is Man Immortal?" Contrary to the general teaching of the Christian world he took the position that man was not immortal, but that he would never receive immortality or that he would not have eternal life, but that by nature he is subject to death and immortality is a gift of God.

VIC SAIER TO PIRATES.
Pittsburg, July 18.—With the Cincinnati National league club having waived its claim to the services of Vic Saier, the former Chicago National's first baseman today became the property of the Pittsburgh club, according to announcement here. Saier sustained a broken leg early in the season and after Chicago club had obtained Fred Merkle from Brooklyn, Saier was given his release. Both Pittsburgh and Cincinnati entered claims for the infielder. The Cincinnati club notified President Dreyfuss, of the Pittsburgh team, last night that it had waived claim.

PROHIBITION CAUSE NOT HURT BY RULING

Decision on Case of the Constitution Harmless on Dry Law.

Indianapolis, July 18.—Anti-Saloon league officials, in a public statement, express the belief that the cause of prohibition has not been greatly injured by the recent decision of the supreme court invalidating the constitutional convention law. This decision simply closes the door to constitutional prohibition, but does not in any way affect the bone dry statute which will go into force April 3, next year, according to the league statement.

The practical effect of the decision is to make the election of a legislature next year the storm center of interest from the prohibition point of view. The league will immediately begin to lay its plans to draw the wet and dry line in the primaries next spring. Dry candidates will be supported against wet candidates in all the parties. Later in the fall election support will be given to dry candidates as against wet candidates, irrespective of party lines. The league expresses confidence that as a result of this sort of campaign, they will be as successful next year as they were last year in getting a dry legislature. It is expected that the liquor interests will attempt to control the next legislature in the hope of repealing the prohibition law, but dry leaders profess not to be greatly concerned regarding the matter. It is pointed out that many hold-over senators are recorded in favor of prohibition by the vote in the last session. Furthermore, the drys will need to muster only twenty-five votes in the senate to prevent the repeal of the law. It is up to the liquor interests to get a clear majority in both houses of the legislature, a thing dry leaders point out as highly improbable.

League leaders were planning to make a fight for the control of the next legislature even though a constitutional convention were held. It is pointed out that a national constitutional amendment is expected soon to be submitted by congress. In such an event, the drys would need to control the legislature in order to ratify the amendment.

Announcement has been made also that the league will take an active part in city and municipal elections this fall, looking toward the election of city officials who can be depended upon to enforce the bone dry law after April 2 next year.

RICHMOND MAGNATE RUNS INTO TROUBLE

Indiana Financier Taken on Charge of an Attempt to Bribe.

Piqua, O., July 18.—Arrested last night on charges of having offered bribes to members of the city council of Bradford, O., to get a power and light franchise and contract through the council, R. F. Ash, a traction and light financier, of Richmond, Ind., and Timothy E. Glenn, mayor of New Paris, O., today were released on bond of $5,000 each. Their preliminary hearing will be held tomorrow.

According to Sheriff Burnett and Prosecutor Kerr, of Miami county, who made the arrests, they have information showing that Ash and Glenn offered bribes of from $100 to $300 to the councilmen. Prosecutor Kerr announced today that none of the councilmen probably will be arrested. The Bradford council Monday night granted a twenty-five year franchise and a ten-year contract to the Bradford & Gettysburg Light and Power company, of which Mayor Glenn and Mr. Ash are stockholders.

FELL ANCIENT TREE IN NEW YORK CENTER

New York, July 18.—Workmen today put the axe to the largest of the seven giant sycamore trees that have stood guard for a century or more over the graves in the north side of Trinity church yard. The tree had become decayed and was in danger of falling. The exact age of the tree is not on record but an official of the church said it dated back more than 200 years, and had been in existence as a sapling when the first house of worship was built. At that time there were deer in the forests of Manhattan and Indians were common. At any rate the tree was in full strength in 1776 when Trinity's first church was destroyed by fire.
